CANADA DISCOVERS QUICK-GROWING WHEAT

Canada has a new wheat ... being given its final tests by ... dominion experimental farms ... great advantage is its short ... ing season. It is mature and ... for reaping within 100 days ... sowing, ten to twenty days ... of the famous Marquis wheat.

The experiments with ... wheat have been going on for a number of years. As the station at Ottawa had increasing success with it, seeds were sent further out to experimental farms in other parts of Canada, to test its ripening qualities under widely varying climatic conditions. In ... Garnet wheat was grown on farms in Western Canada, and the record was generally excellent. In Southern Alberta ... wheat had ripened and was threshed before the early frost and rainstorms of this season came, while Marquis wheat was not ready. On a farm between Medicine Hat and Gleichen, in neighbouring fields, Marquis and Garnet wheat was ready for the binder, the Marquis still had ten days or more to go before harvesting. Ten days makes a big difference in the safety of a crop on the Canadian prairies.

This year a crop of 13,000,000 bushels of the new wheat was harvested. It will be available in large quantities for seed. If all goes well the next harvest will give an increase of seed supply and make it possible long the crop may be measured in millions of bushels. The area growing wheat will be greatly increased, and another north and an important food product will be made more certainly available for those who eat it.—(Kokomo Dispatch.

COURT FOES DESPERATE

See Little Hope in Senate

Tribunal of Nations Comes Up Today With Chances All in Its Favor

Forensic Forces Mustered in Final Attempt to Fight Approval of Plan

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Virtually conceding that a vote in the Senate at this time would favor entrance by the United States into the World Court under proposed reservations, those opposed to such entry will begin tomorrow the experiment of determining whether the persuasive power of oratory can change the anticipated result.

It is almost an axiom of debate that results are seldom determined thereby, and that legislation ordinarily is settled by conference or in committee, but in this instance a major effort is to be made, with Senator Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, leading the forensic attack.

QUESTION UP TODAY

The Senate will meet tomorrow in open executive session to take up the Swanson resolution providing for adhesion to the World Court with reservations laid down by Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

Under the rules the World Court proposal will remain the unfinished business of the Senate unless superseded by a vote of a majority. Consideration of the regular order of business will proceed either in legislative session or in closed executive session.

Debate on the World Court issue will be opened by Senator Swanson of Virginia, author of the resolution and ranking Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

He is prepared to emphasize the independence of the court from the League of Nations in anticipation of a charge from the opposition that once a member of the court the United States will be strongly pressed to become a member of the League.

BORAH TO ANSWER

It is understood that Senator Borah will be the first to answer Senator Swanson.

TWENTY-SIX LOSE RIGHTS AS DRIVERS

Revocation of Licenses for Law Violations Now Stands at 274

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 16.—Twenty-six California motorists lost their drivers' licenses last month for various violations of the motor-vehicle law, making the total revocations for the year 274, according to an announcement made today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the State Motor-Vehicle Department.

Nine of the November revocations were for driving while intoxicated, eleven for speeding and reckless driving, three because of mental or physical infirmity and three at the request of parents.

The list of those whose licenses were taken away follows:

Driving while intoxicated—Loy J. Clark, Berlen; ... Phillipi and Pellegrino Valenzi, Oakland; Paul P. Cypher, Del Mar; Orel F. Hall, Santa Cruz; Ed Meinecke, Modesto; Stanley Mills, Pasadena; M. E. Halcom, Watts, and Guy T. Swain, Cayucos.

Speeding and reckless driving—L. N. Arnoldi, Peter Pinoni and H. H. Tochini, San Francisco; B. U. Rose, Los Angeles; William V. Kelley, Jr., Beverly Hills; Everett Dickson, Glendale; Anton Johnson, Kingsburg; C. F. Parker, Fresno; William P. Orendorff, Vallejo, and Melvin Jarvis, Susanville.

Canceled at request of parents or guardians—Henry Beam, Stockton; Walter A. Bethurum, Redlands; Edward Preston, San Francisco.

Physical disability—Emmett L. Lemon, Hollywood; Frank S. Mellen, San Francisco, and Manuel Valine, Sacramento.

Taken up by court for speeding—Robert Pagel, Long Beach.

BONUS AND DIVIDENDS LIST GAINS

More New York Concerns Join for Payments After Prosperous Year

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Christmas dividends and bonuses again appeared in large volume today to gladden the hearts of stockholders throughout the country and employees of the financial district.

Harriman and Company, investment bankers, have authorized a 20 per cent cash bonus to their employees and the Textile Banking Company, 10 per cent. The Guaranty Trust Company will pay 3 to 5 per cent of salaries received for the last half year, a similar declaration for the first half having been made on July 1. Hornblower and Weeks, brokers, will give their employees a bonus of eight weeks' salary.

The National Fuel Company has declared an extra dividend of $2 per share.

The Greenwich Bank has declared an extra dividend of 2 per cent on its common stock.

WAR OVER MOSUL SCOUTED

Neither League Nor Britain Expects Conflict on Issue; Turkey, However, Remains Defiant

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Dec. 16.—Neither the League of Nations nor Great Britain expects war in the Near East because of the decision of the League Council in the Mosul conflict, Col. L. C. M. Amery, British Colonial Secretary, said tonight in commenting on the Council's finding, which gives Mosul virtually in its entirety to Great Britain in the form of a mandate.

The decision was announced today in the Assembly Hall, packed with people, as the last act of the thirty-seventh session of the Council. It was marked by three notable declarations.

PLACE URGED

The first, read by Vittorio Sciaiola, former Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, in the name of every member of the Council, was deemed significant because it admitted that a state of tension had been created between Great Britain and Turkey over the possession of Mosul.

Signor Sciaiola urgently recommended that these two nations reach an amicable arrangement of the difficulty so as to solidify that peace which is essential to the aims of the League of Nations.

The second was voiced by Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs, who declared that the British government does not wish to adopt a rigid and uncompromising attitude. Great Britain desires to live on terms of peace and amity with Turkey and will gladly lend itself to conversations to determine whether it would be possible to improve relations between the two countries, he added.

The third declaration came in a documentary form from the Turks, who declined an invitation to attend the meeting. It was a vigorous protest against the Council's action as well as warning that Turkey absolutely refuses to abandon its sovereignty over Mosul "until you give your assent that our rights in totality in Mosul remain intact."

The Council's decision is contingent on Great Britain's acceptance of a twenty-five-year mandate over Irak, which includes Mosul,

INHERITANCE TAX CUT WINS

Nonpartisan Bill Carries Amid Oratory Display; Amendments Lose and Leaders Get Flaying

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Amid a display of oratorical fire works, the House today accepted the modified inheritance tax rates provided in the nonpartisan revenue bill.

The seventh consecutive legislative day of consideration of the measure was devoted entirely to this tax but as amendments continued to be mowed down with overwhelming majorities, tired members gave vent to their feelings in sharp remarks on several subjects.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, a Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, which framed the bill, after submitting several amendments, conceded he was "beaten" and took occasion to chastise leaders, speaking some of the time to the Democratic side.

"You think you can perpetrate this outrage," Mr. Rainey shouted, "which you would not have dared to attempt while Bryan and Wilson were living. Oh, other leaders will rise. These puny and little leaders who now control will not control always."

RAPS FLORIDA LAW

Chairman Green, of the committee, paid his respects to Florida, which has barred the inheritance tax through amendment of its constitution declaring to the people of Florida, "you never can make a really great State through colonies of tax dodgers and money grabbers, parasites and coupon cutters, jazz trippers and booze hunters."

Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, announced to the representatives of the Texas tax clubs seeking repeal of the Federal inheritance levy that he would not heed their suggestion that he resign. He declared Frank W. Mondell, former Republican leader in the House, was "lobbying" for the clubs. Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, who was presiding, attempted to rap for order. The head of the gavel flew off and just missed striking the head of Representative Mills, Republican, New York. This incident served

Italian Senate Passes Control Law for Press

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, Dec. 16.—The press law and the royal decrees which give the government absolute authority over the newspapers were adopted by the Senate today by a vote of 150 against 46. The law now only lacks the signature of the King, which is a matter of a few hours, before the government has authority to prohibit individuals from practicing journalism if it is considered they do not possess sufficient moral qualities. And the censor may suppress a paper at will.

Before the vote, Senator Tamassia complained that if the law was adopted Italy would risk being boycotted by the world. He said he would vote for the law if it was temporary, but he was against it if it was of a permanent character.

Preacher Case Loses Move to 'Defend Honor'

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Dec. 16.—Dr. Carl Case, former Oak Park Baptist preacher, lost his attempt to "defend his honor" when the Supreme Court today refused to annul the divorce of Albert and Charlotte Leland.

Mrs. Leland, who confessed intimacy with Dr. Case, which he denied, appeared before the Supreme Court last term to affirm her confession, choosing to leave her children "a heritage of adultery" rather than one of "insanity."

ITALY STIRS SENATE IRE

Storm Breaks on Debt Terms

Bills Go Over After Brief Debate When Reed Blocks Progress

New Difficulty Arises With Demand for Action First by House

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. — A storm of protest against the Italian debt settlement broke in the Senate today as Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee sought to obtain consideration of debt agreements negotiated during the Congressional recess.

Finally, Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, objected to a unanimous-consent agreement to take up the settlements, and the bills of ratification went over. Meanwhile notice had been served by a number of Senators that considerable discussion would precede a vote.

While the debate was in progress in the Senate, Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee informed the House that since the debt settlements were avenue legislation they must originate in the House, and that if the Senate acted first, he would ask the House to ignore such action.

SMOOT UNDER FIRE

Senator Smoot, who is a member of the debt commission, which negotiated the agreements, bore the brunt of the Senate fire, but Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, frequently came to his assistance. The Utah Senator insisted that the Italian agreement was the best that could be obtained and that he had doubt of the ability of Italy to carry it out.

That raised the question of the $100,000,000 loan, which New York bankers made to Italy immediately after the agreement was signed. Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, called attention to the fact that the interest rate on this loan was 7 per cent.

Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska, asserted that Italy would pay none of the principal of its debt; that all it agreed to pay is 1.8 per cent interest on the principal over a period of sixty-two years, and that this arrangement ultimately would cost American taxpayers $5,000,000,000.

"WHITE-WASHING" CHARGED

The Italian settlement, as well as the British settlement, was characterized by Senator Reed of Missouri as a process of "whitewashing" to enable international bankers to make loans at 6 and 7 per cent.

The French debt was brought into the discussion and Senator Smoot warned that unless the French government settled with this country and England, the franc would follow the same course the German mark did. He also disclosed that when the French commission came here it bluntly told the American commission that France did not owe this country anything.

Senator Reed, Missouri, contrasted France's failure to settle its debt with its military operations, declaring it was conducting a war in Northern Africa in an effort to "steal" land and the liberties of a free people.

Before the debate had ended Senators Johnson, Republican, California; Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, had joined in giving notice that there must be full and free discussion of the debt settlements.

HOUSE GIVES NOTICE OF INFRINGEMENT BY SENATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The House of Representatives today served notice on the Senate that it intended to demand strict observance of its rights of prior consideration in legislation affecting the settlement of America's foreign debts. Administering a decided rebuke to the upper body because of its action in opening discussion on the foreign debt questions today, Representative Green, chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, rose to a question of the "highest privileges of the House" and served notice that passage of the debt settlement legislation by the Senate in advance of the House will result in a repudiation of such legislation by the lower body.

Kin of Czar at Monterey Lost in Boat on Bay

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MONTEREY, Dec. 16.—Nicholas Romanoff, San Francisco exporter and importer, former Russian army officer, and reported to be a distant relative of the late Czar Nicholas, and a companion, J. Remmiff, have been missing since late last Saturday night, when they put out from here in a launch for a cruise around Monterey Bay. Both men reside in Berkeley.

Lights of the launch were suddenly blotted out when it was opposite the Salinas River, it was reported by Alexis Romanoff, 17-year-old son of Nicholas Romanoff, and George Kammiff, who were in another launch. At the same time their own launch engine failed and was not started for several hours.

Search since Saturday for the two men has been unavailing.

CALIFORNIA HELD GUILTY OF KILLING RIVER PACT

Premonitory Rumblings of Senate Storm Soon to Break Seen in Inquiry Friction

BY KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Some of the premonitory rumblings of the storm breaking in the Senate irrigation and reclamation committee on the subject of Colorado River development occurred today as Delph E. Carpenter, River Commissioner of the State of Colorado, neared the end of his truly great narrative of the river, its potentialities, problems, and place in the future of the Southwest.

For six or seven weeks the members of the committee have heard various aspects of the river situation and have in a more or less diplomatic manner indicated the possibility of differences of opinion and policy when the committee gets down to the actual business of deciding the fate of the matter immediately before it—the Swing-Johnson bill.

A little of the diplomacy is wearing away under the stress of contrary opinion, opposite judgment and divergent interest.

SENATORS SQUABBLE

Chairman McNary of Oregon today for the first time was forced to pound his gavel for order among the Senators themselves as their own arguments interrupted the testimony of Mr. Carpenter.

An assertion by Mr. Carpenter that the California Legislature had made it impossible for a solution of the Colorado River problem at this session of Congress precipitated the interruption.

"Had California adopted the six-State compact," Mr. Carpenter said, "as the other States did, the compact would be before you now and the whole question could now be settled."

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who had listened a considerable criticism of his own State for refusing ratification of the seven-State compact, seized the occasion to ask Mr. Carpenter if Arizona could also be blamed for nullifying the six-State pact.

Mr. Carpenter replied that California alone is responsible for killing the second compact.

JOHNSON TAKES FLOOR

This remark proved too great a strain on the composure of Senator Johnson, who is generally credited with responsibility for engineering the California Legislature's conditional ratification of the State proposal.

"And California has destroyed no six-State compact, either," he said, with asperity, his further remarks being interrupted by Senator King of Utah, not a member of the committee, who shouted:

"Some of us think the contrary, Senator, and feel that California did destroy the compact. We feel that no action can be taken by Congress until California withdraws her reservations."

Mr. Johnson in a conciliatory tone then assured the committee that he hoped to show at the proper time that the conditional ratification by California does not impair the compact.

ASHURST SUBSIDES

Senator Ashurst, obviously determined to open up the subject of responsibility as between California and Arizona for retarding Colorado development, prepared to address a remark to Senator Shortridge, but subsided when Chairman McNary demanded that the witness be allowed to proceed.

"Pardon by interruption," said Senator Johnson.

"Pardon me for being so direct," said Mr. Carpenter, who added:

"I can find no time more opportune than this to call attention to the fact that the upper basin States can not permit legislation on his matter while it is so involved in doubt and confusion."

There was further by-play, but the air of constraint, apparent for the first time, was not dissipated.

Later, Senator Pittman of Nevada, considered a supporter of the Swing-Johnson bill and an active proponent of a high dam in the Colorado at Black Canyon, said developments indicate that the chance of favorable action by Congress on the Colorado situation at this session is very remote.

Calling attention to the fact that he protested through Gov.

SWING QUITS COMMITTEE TO AID BILL

California Left Without Naval Affairs Voice by River Strategy Move

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—California lost its place on the important House Committee on Naval Affairs today when, in a last-minute switch of committee assignments, Representative Swing of Imperial Valley relinquished his membership on that committee and accepted in lieu thereof four minor committee assignments.

The printed pamphlet of committees issued last night for the use of members showed Mr. Swing as a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, which is of such importance that any Representative assigned to it is barred from membership on any other committee.

Obviously making the change for the purpose of aiding the Swing-Johnson bill, Representative Swing accepted the chairmanship of the relatively unimportant Committee on Expenditures in the Postoffice Department and membership on the Irrigation and Reclamation Committees, the Flood Control Committee and the Public Lands Committee.

All are listed as minor committees by the House and a check of the membership indicates that a majority of the membership of each committee is unsympathetic toward Mr. Swing's principal legislative proposal. The vacancy created by his retirement from the Naval Affairs Committee has not been filled.

Irish Boundary Bill Indorsed by Free State

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—The Free-State Senate today indorsed the resolution adopted by the Dail Eireann last night declaring the bill ratifying the London Irish boundary.

By this action possibility of a popular referendum on the issue is excluded and the bill becomes operative immediately.

The objections to the referendum as stated by the government were that it would cost a large amount of money and would delay for several days a measure upon which all the people except the Republican and official Laborites were engaged.

PHOENIX MAYOR TO QUIT LAST OF MONTH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. 16.—The Phoenix City Commission has accepted the resignation of Mayor L. B. Whitney, effective on the 31st inst., or at such time thereafter as a successor shall have been selected. Chairman W. G. Hartranft of the City Planning Commission is reported to have refused proffer of the position, and L. M. Laney, former County Attorney, is said to be under consideration.

FORTY YEARS OF PROGRESS!

Amazing Drama of Community Achievement Unfolded in Los Angeles Times' Fortieth Anniversary Edition of Annual Midwinter Number

How an impoverished, semiarid land, practically devoid of fuel or minerals, isolated from its mud harbor by a day's journey, surrounded by mountains and desert, almost totally without manufacturing, a spot laughed at and scorned as a habitat for invalids—

How this community in a period of forty years became the greatest population center on the Pacific Coast; the producer of more oil than any equal area on earth; the eighth largest industrial point in America—

How it dug a harbor, installed gigantic hydroelectric power plants, impounded vast stores of water, erected mansions, churches, schools and colleges, laid out parks, threw around itself the world's finest boulevard system—

This drama of titanic achievements is the amazing story unfolded in the seven magazines comprising the Los Angeles Times' fortieth anniversary edition of the Annual Midwinter Number.

Illustrated as never before, two all-picture sections in rotogravure; articles by foremost men of the country; maps, charts, tables of authentic figures.

Out January 1, 1926, the seven magazines will be sold at 15 cents, or, when names and addresses are furnished The Times, copies will be mailed anywhere in United States, Canada or Mexico at 25 cents, postage prepaid; (to other countries, 35 cents.)

Postage on copies sent by individuals will be based on the new zone postal rates. Do not mail copies without having them weighed.

STATE BLAMED IN PACT DEATH

Witness Avers California Holts River Solution

Barrage of Contrary Views Wears Away Diplomacy

Richardson at the time the California Legislature voted reservations to the six-State compact, Senator Pittman said he feels further conferences between the States must be undertaken before the matter can be successfully disposed of here.

He suggested the advisability of extending the life of the original Colorado compact commission and conferring upon that body the authority to negotiate another treaty to be submitted to Congress at its next session.

An aspect of Mr. Carpenter's testimony of particular interest to Southern California concerns the Imperial Valley and protection afforded the valley by the seven-State and six-State compacts with regard to an existing and future supply of water.

The views of Imperial Valley farmers were fully considered when the first compact was drafted, he said, and in response for demands for greater protection of the water rights of the valley Article VIII of the compact, which also occurs in the six-State compact, was adopted.

ARTICLE LAUDED

"There has been a tendency to sneer at this article of the compact," he said, "but it provides a minimum storage of 5,000,000 acre feet, a capacity twice as great as the Elephant Butte Dam, one of the greatest artificial reservoirs in the world. "It would require 250 days to empty such a reservoir as Article VIII provides, even if the water flowed out at a rate of 10,000 second feet a day. This provision in the compact would have made possible the full development of all lands in the valley by gravity flow and a reasonable amount of pumping.

"The compact does not take away from Imperial Valley one single right whatever it may be or what it may be imagined to be. Statements that the compact gives away any rights is based on a misconception of the compact."

Mr. Carpenter, as a representative of one of the Upper Basin States said that the upper river region is willing for the lower basin to proceed with any development, provided all question as to water rights is removed.

He said Arizona is not to be blamed for reluctance to immediately enter the river compact, and asserted that those who drew up the agreement between the States anticipated delay. "But," he said, "all reasonable considerations are against delay; there are the demands and the need for flood control, for the protection of life and property; for the elimination of waste."

The Colorado River Commissioner informed the committee that, regardless of a dam, either high or low, in the Colorado, necessity will always exist for maintaining levees and revetments in Lower California for the protection of Imperial Valley.

Development of the Gila River, he said, will diminish the danger, but the occasional flood will constitute a menace in perpetuity. He spoke strongly against permitting the Federal Power Commission to exercise authority as to projects in the river prior to ratification of a seven-State compact, asserting that action by the commission "might not only be dangerous, but disastrous."

Gov. Dern and River Commissioner Wallace of Utah will address the committee tomorrow, the conclusion of Mr. Carpenter's testimony being deferred in order that the Utah officials may present the views and return at once to Salt Lake City.

It is the purpose of Gov. Dern and Mr. Wallace to present Utah as a factor concerned with and interested in development both in the upper and lower basins, as the territory of that State falls both in the upper and lower areas.

AVIATION BILL PASSED

Commercial Flying Placed Under Supervision of Commerce Department by Measure

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Conclusions reached by the President's air board came to early fruition in the Senate today when it passed, without record vote, a bill by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, designed to affect the board's findings with respect to commercial aviation.

Senator Bingham was a member of the board and his bill was the first passed at the present session of the Senate. It would authorize appointment of an additional Assistant Secretary of Commerce, charged with general supervision of the government's activities in connection with commercial aviation.

The measure also would provide for licensing of civilian pilots; inspection of commercial air routes lighted under direction of the lighthouse service, and installation of radio-finding devices at frequent intervals along the approved traffic lanes. Only a few minor amendments were made by the Senate in acting on the bill.

ASSAILS DEMOTING OF INSURGENTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The tax-reduction bill was put aside for a while in the House today while that body discussed the action of the Republican majority in placing the insurgents at the bottom of the committee lists.

After approving the action without prior debate, the membership decided to talk it over, and Representative Garrett, the Democratic leader, asserted the Republican leaders were punishing some of the insurgents for "standing for the principles of Abraham Lincoln."

When Mr. Garrett declared he could offer no comfort to the "punished Republicans," Representative Frear of Wisconsin, one of the insurgents, hastened to declare the group would be "able to take care of itself in future."

Mr. Garrett asserted the amendment to the rules regulating discharge of committees from considering legislation, a vote on which was made a test of party regularity, was framed in reality to block a vote on tariff revision.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican leader, replied the majority had organized the House so the majority could direct the work for which it was held responsible. The insurgents, he said, "left us in the time of our need in election."

"We have not placed these men in key positions where party politics are determined," he said. "That would be an injustice to the people of the country who placed the Republicans in power."

Representative Tincher, Republican, Kansas, said the action on the discharge rule was justified if the Democrats were to have taken advantage of it to force a tariff cut.

The House after threshing out the questions to its own satisfaction, turned back to the tax bill, with the insurgents demotion officially standing as approved.

JOINT HEARING ON WET BILLS SOUGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Wet leaders in Congress are considering a proposal for hearings before a joint Senate and House committee in various pending proposals for modification of the Volstead Act.

Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, who has presented a 2.75 beer bill, said today no decision had been reached.

The Edge bill is before the Senate Judiciary Committee and hearings will be conducted by a subcommittee if Senator Edge requests it.

BILL WIDENS RADIO BUREAU'S POWER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—A bill widening the powers of the Commerce Department in dealing with radio broadcasting, was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington. It would strike at eliminating interference between stations and is similar in many respects to a measure already introduced in the House by Representative White, Republican, Maine.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF BUSSES PROPOSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Federal regulation of interstate bus lines in a manner similar to that now exercised over railroads, was sought in a bill introduced today by Senator Cummins of Iowa, ranking Republican on the Interstate Commerce Committee.

The measure was worked out at recent conferences of the National Association of State Railway and Utilities Commissioners.

MOSUL STRIFE FEAR SCOUTED

within six months. This Great Britain has promised to do.

One point in the decision is the recommendation that Great Britain accord the Kurds desirable local administrational rights. The Kurdish problem in Mosul is regarded as important. The Turkish spokesman said tonight: "The Council's decision is bad. Do not forget that if half the Kurds in Mosul favor England, the other half are strongly for Turkey."

The Mosul report was adopted unanimously by the Council, which based its decision on the report of the special Mosul commission and "other information of a political and legal nature."

TURKISH SPOKESMAN ASSAILS MOSUL AWARD

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Dec. 16.—There can be no question of Turkey making economic arrangements favorable to an Irak which includes Mosul, said a Turkish spokesman today in discussing the award in the Turco-British dispute over Mosul.

"It means that Turkey gets worse treatment and less Mosul than she received under the Treaty of Sevres," the spokesman said. "In other words we have gone backward and the Turkish government and people can scarcely be pleased.

"By the sworn act of our national assembly we are ready to waive our rights to Syria, Damascus and what has been known as Irak, but we cling to Mosul as a natural and necessary part of the new Turkey.

"Even the League of Nations commission of investigation on which the Council based its decision, recognizes that Mosul is juridically ours and remains ours until we renounce it."

Turkey, he continued, was ready to help Irak by removing the customs barriers, but it was fantastic to assume that Turkey would be so generous as to favor the British mandated state with Mosul which was really under Turkish sovereignty and included in Turkish territory.

The Angora government was also ready to conclude a mutual security pact of guarantees with Irak, but he insisted that these and other concessions had been ignored by Great Britain and the League Council.

Asked if the Council's decision would bring about military operations by Turkey to keep Mosul, the spokesman declined to answer, merely repeating his assertion that the national assembly at Angora now must speak.

MITCHELL CASE COMES TO END

administrative policies. These latter officers are among those distinguished men who conducted operations on the other side which resulted in everlasting glory to American arms and the winning of the war.

HELD UNCONSCIONABLE

"No more unconscionable attack could have been made than the one that these officers are in any way impeding the progress of the Air Service or that they are not insistent on its development to the highest efficiency."

Mr. Weeks's letter gave for the first time the War Department's side of the story of Mitchell's transfer last spring from Washington to an army post in Texas.

"Gen. Mitchell's whose course has been so lawless, so contrary to the building up of an efficient organization, so lacking in teamwork, so indicative of a desire for publicity at the expense of everyone with whom he is associated," wrote Mr. Weeks, "that his actions make him unfit for high administrative position such as he now holds."

The Secretary said he wrote the letter "with great regret, because he is a gallant officer with an excellent war record," but he added:

"His record since the war has been such that he has forfeited the good opinion of those who are familiar with the facts and who desire to promote the best interests of national defense."

STATEMENT ATTACKED

Mr. Weeks continued that Mitchell had testified before the House Aircraft Committee early this year that "we had but nineteen airplanes fit for war service" when there were, "as a matter of fact," 329 airplanes actually in use and 763 in storage.

"All this," the letter said, "was well known to Gen. Mitchell when he apparently endeavored to startle the country by testifying that we had but nineteen planes fit for war service, at the same time making no reasonable explanation of the number of planes on hand and their condition."

The War Secretary told the President that Mitchell knew that the goal of the War Department was to seek an appropriation of $60,000,000 a year for ten years for air construction and pay for 4000 officers, including reserves, and 25,000 enlisted men.

"I think I ought to add," Mr. Weeks said, "that in my judgment the organization of the Air Service as provided in War Department plans, and policies, is sound."

After saying that the air officer had "given the country the impression that officers of the Army are muzzled," the Secretary cited his instructions in this connection as follows:

"Recognizing the undetermined value of aviation in warfare and wishing to obtain the judgment of anybody and everybody whose judgment is entitled to consideration, the best interest of the nation will be served by encouraging officers in an unrestricted and full discussion of all points relating to aviation. In testifying before Congressional committees, if their views are contrary to the views of the War Department, they will state to the committee that they are not speaking for the department policy, but are expressing their own personal views and should do so without reservation."

CHARGES DENIED

Many of Mitchell's charges against those in charge of the nation's air defenses, were denied directly by Gen. Nolan from the witness stand. He read several reports prepared by Gen. Pershing as Chief of Staff, including the following:

"The Air Service on land should remain an auxiliary arm and a very important one in our service, available as now for independent use in mass or otherwise wherever necessary, but always under the orders of the commander-in-chief of the armies.

"Our Air Service should be developed to every necessary extent, both as to personnel and material, and it is especially necessary that aircraft production be established and maintained on such a basis as to be easily expanded in time of emergency."

The Weeks letter, Gen. Nolan said, was dictated by the Secretary himself, and the General Staff had no responsibility for it. Defense counsel then pointed out that the letter had the symbols "O. C. S." and "D. E. N." Those, the general said, were his initials and the initials of the "office of the Chief of Staff," but he insisted they did not mean that either he or the staff had written it.

ROWS IN COURT

Several flare-ups marked the cross-examination of Gens. Drum and Nolan by Representative Reid of Illinois, chief defense counsel. Neither would give "yes" or "no" answers. Finally Mr. Reid refused to examine Gen. Drum further, declaring he insisted upon making orations when direct answers could be given.

When the prosecution rested, Mr. Reid sought to have the court determine the question of evidence.

The court took up the motion in closed session and announced upon returning to the bench that it had voted to postpone a decision. Mr. Reid then told the court the defense had no further evidence to offer, and Maj.-Gen. Robert L. Howze, president, ordered the prosecution counsel to proceed with arguments.

Maj. Gullion, however, appealed for a postponement until tomorrow on the ground that it would be impossible to conclude his arguments tonight. The court was closed for the second time and when it reopened, Gen. Howze granted the request.

to relieve some of the tension with laughter.

The section approved today provides for a cut in the maximum inheritance tax from 40 to 20 per cent, applying on amounts in excess of $10,000,000, with corresponding reductions in the lower brackets which graduate downward to 1 per cent on the second $50,000 of an inheritance. It also increases from 25 to 80 per cent the credit to be allowed in Federal inheritance-tax settlements for amounts paid on similar State taxes.

An amendment proposed by Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, to increase rates in the bill to a maximum of 30 per cent was rejected, 54 to 179. Record votes were not even necessary to defeat amendments seeking to decrease the amount of the State tax credit to 50 per cent and to 45 per cent.

Defending the inheritance - tax provisions, Chairman Green said the 80 per cent credit was a real offer to farmers and home-owners of the States. By taking advantage of this provision, he declared, the States could gain sufficient revenue to cut down materially the property taxes.

AMENDMENT LOSES

An amendment proposed by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, a Republican member of the committee, to exempt personal tangible property, not to be used for business purposes, from the inheritance tax, was thrown out without a record vote.

Urging support of the proposal to increase the inheritance rates to a 30 per cent maximum, Representative Ramseyer declared the same reasons prevailed today for a higher levy as existed two years ago when the House increased inheritance taxes to a maximum of 40 per cent.

WORLD COURT'S FOES PREPARED

Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, who will have charge of the resolution on the floor, has announced that there is no intention at this time to seek cloture on the resolution, which might be invoked, however, he said, if it appears that the opposition is seeking to establish a filibuster or adopt dilatory tactics.

WOMEN GATHER TO SUPPORT COURT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Republican women from several Eastern States, members of the National Affairs Committee, were gathering here today as a demonstration to Congress in support of proposed American adherence to the World Court.

The demonstration will take the form of receptions, addresses by members of Congress, a visit to Mrs. Coolidge and to the Senate to hear discussion of the court. Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, president of the Women's National Republican Club of New York, and Miss Alice Hill Chittenden, chairman of the National Affairs Committee, will head the delegation.

RADIO BLESSES DEAF CHILD

AKRON (O.) Dec. 16.—Wanderabandoned all hope that the child ever would hear again.

Santa stopped broadcasting and directed this special appeal to the child:

"Pauline, Pauline Fenton! Old Santa is glad to know you can hear him speak and I'm going to have a great big doll for you Christmas."

There was a short silence in the Fenton home as Santa finished his promise. Then with eyes radiant and a happy smile spread over her face, Pauline turned to her mother and said:

"Santa is going to bring me a doll!"

ing in a soundless world for more than seven years, Pauline Fenton, 12 years of age, heard last night the distinguishable sounds of human voices.

This was the result of a radio test made by a mythical Santa Claus from station WADC here. Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Fenton, the child's parents, placed the earphones of a radio set to the child's ears while a program was being broadcast.

"Santa," the child murmured, astonishing her parents who had

WOMEN TO OPPOSE 'MA' FERGUSON

Texas Club Members Will Fight Against Re-election of Governor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DALLAS (Tex.) Dec. 16.—Women of Texas will oppose the re-election of Gov. Ferguson, Mrs. J. D. Claybrook of Austin, president of the State Democratic Women's Association, declared today in an address before the Democratic women of Dallas county.

Mrs. Claybrook said the women of Texas, regardless of party, are not behind Mrs. Ferguson, and will not re-elect her.

Other women's organizations have taken a stand against Mrs. Ferguson.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union in annual convention denounced her administration in relation to law enforcement, and officials of the organization individually said they will oppose Mrs. Ferguson.

Miss Mary E. Jagoe of Denton, president of the League of Women Voters said that she understoo. Mrs. Ferguson herself did not claim to be a leader of the women's movement.

SWISS PRESIDENT TAKES OVER OFFICE

Henri Haeberlin

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERNE, Dec. 16.—Switzerland today is under a new President, inducted into office without the accompaniment of campaign orators and election excitement. The new executive is Henri Haeberlin.

The President of Switzerland serves but one year in that office. He arrives at it by an automatic system which advances the president of the Senate to the vice-presidency and thence to the Presidency, and he is restricted to a single term of one year in each office.

TWO COURTS TRY MEN AT SAME TIME

One in United States and Other in Mexico Hear Case Simultaneously

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Dec. 16.—Douglas has just had an international court of justice of a very unusual sort. Four Mexicans had been arrested, all ex-convicts from the Arizona penitentiary, two charged in Arizona with burglary and the others charged with bringing stolen property into Mexico.

Two were arraigned on either side of the international line, marked by a wire fence. On the north side was an American justice of the peace and on the south a Mexican judge of the Municipal Court of Agua Prieta. The same testimony was presented in each case, translated into Spanish or English. The defendants were held on the American side to answer before the Superior Court at Tombstone, while on the south there was immediate commitment to the State penitentiary of Sonora for two-year terms.

Justice W. P. Craig later went to Naco, a port of entry to the westward, where, with a Mexican judge, he held a similar court on two Mexicans charged with burglary in Bisbee and a third, also implicated, who had crossed the international line. The same disposition was made of the prisoners as had been known at Douglas and Agua Prieta.

CHILLY BLASTS STILL POUND AT WINDY CITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Temperatures as low as 15 or 20 deg. above zero for tonight in the Chicago district, and possibly tomorrow, are the official weather forecast. More or less unsettled weather will prevail in the eastern half of the United States, the forecast issued at Washington stated, while in the western sections the weather will be fair, but with some cloudiness, especially in the Northwest. Rather cold weather will be the rule, except in the Northern Rocky Mountain region.

DOUMER TAKES CABINET POST

French Senator Accepts as Finance Minister

Premier's Action Noted as Defiance of Left

Radical-Socialist Group Indicates Opposition

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Dec. 16.—Paul Doumer, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate, accepted this afternoon the weighty responsibility of the Finance Ministry in the Cabinet of Premier Briand.

M. Doumer, who succeeds Louis Loucheur, forced out because of the rejection of his financial measures, was not the candidate of the leaders of the parliamentary majority on which M. Briand depends for the support of his government. Hence difficulties seemed likely to prevent the Premier from putting the man he wanted in this important post.

Delegations of the radical-socialist coalition, which were in conference when M. Doumer called on the Premier at the Quai d'Orsay to receive the definite offer of the porfolio, showed a disposition to propose impossible conditions to their approval of his nomination. This was sufficient to explain the deep sigh with which the new Minister said when he left M. Briand: "Alas, yet I have accepted the task and will do my best."

The fact that the Premier forestalled final action by the Left coalition by nominating M. Doumer over their objections is taken as indicating that he finally has determined to accept no further dictation and has decided to go ahead with a safe man, who, though generally recognised as possessing no remarkable competence in financial matters, is expected to push resolutely sane measures prepared by capable technical authorities for the restoration of the nation's finances.

M. Boumer's plans for the solution of France's financial difficulties are based principally on increases in indirect taxation rather than on any form of capital levy or increases in the income taxes.

OPERATORS ACCEPT NEW PEACE PLAN

Miners, However, Refuse to Take Legislators' Offer to End Coal Strike

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16.—The anthracite operators announced today they will accept the plan of settlement of the strike proposed by the Luzerne county members of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

The operators said they approved the scheme on the ground that it contained the most essential features of any plan for settlement by proposing a long-term contract, provision to avoid strikes and setting up machinery for the settlement of differences where the two sides disagree.

Earlier in the day John L. Lewis, president of the miners, rejected the Luzerne county proposition as an "operators' plan wrapped in a new package."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Dec. 16. The conference of Mayors and Burgesses from the anthracite coal fields with Gov. Pinchot here today adopted a resolution inviting operators and miners to meet at Scranton a week from today or at some other time or place convenient to both sides to resume negotiations where broken off in Atlantic City last August.

Negotiations are to be resumed with the understanding that either side may be at liberty to bring up for discussion its own plan, Gov. Pinchot's peace proposal or any other that may be offered.

FLYER FLAYS MITCHELL

Surviving Senior Officer of Shenandoah Disaster Refers to Colonel as Sensationalist

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Lieutenant-Commander C. E. Rosendahl, U.S.N., senior surviving officer of the ill-fated Shenandoah, today at a luncheon of 300 members of Advertising Club, No. 23 Park avenue, launched a severe attack against "self-considered oracles" and "selfishly impelled sensationalists" who have criticised naval officials for sending the Shenandoah on its tragic trip.

It was understood by his audience that the attack was directed particularly against Col. Mitchell, now being court-martialed by army authorities, though Rosendahl did not mention him by name. Members of the club also gathered the impression Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the commander of the airship, was included in his censure.

Lieutenant Commanded Richard E. Byrd, U.S.N., air pilot of the last McMillan Arctic expedition, and Commander John Rodgers, U.S.N., of San Francisco-Hawaii flight fame, also spoke.

"Since the very day of the loss of the Shenandoah," Rosendahl said, "the country has had forced upon it a number of sensational and absurd declarations from self-considered oracles, who not only were hundreds of miles from the disaster at the time of its occurrence, but whose utterances as well have proven to be equally as far from the truth and the facts in the case."

Dispassionate and unprejudiced judgment, he declared, is "at last forcing out of the picture these selfishly-impelled sensationalists and common sense once more gets a chance."

Rosendahl asserted that the wreck was in no way caused by valve changes, as charged by Col. Mitchell, but that it was a "work of fate" and that parachutes could not have been employed to save any of the fourteen lives lost. Better meteorological aviation data, he said, might have prevented the disaster, but he does not believe it could have been averted through the present knowledge of the subject.

"Fortunately for civilization," he added, "all of the aeronautical brains of this country are being found not concentrated in a few individuals as we might be led to believe, and we shall progress regardless of the calamity howlers in our midst."

He said it was his opinion the development and operation of rigid type airships should be continued, adding that aviators "are not asking for a privilege but for a necessity."

USE OF FOREIGN SHIPS DECRIED

Chairman O'Connor Hits American Exporters

Board Head Declares for Disposal of Vessels

Cargo and Passengers Held Merchant Fleet Need

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, speaking today at a luncheon of the American Manufacturers' Export Association, said responsibility for the unprofitable operation of an American merchant marine by the government rested largely upon American exporters.

"American ships in 1925," he said, "carried from New York to South Africa less than 400 tons of United States Steel Corporation products, while foreign vessels carried more than 6000 tons."

"We are not in competition with any American in the shipping business, unless that American owns stock in a foreign shipping company," he asserted.

He said the Shipping Board is "heartily in accord" with the resolution to sell the ships as soon as possible.

"It might interest you to know," he continued, "that since 1921 this board has sold more than 1300 ships, 800 of which are sailing the oceans under the American flag. Bids have been asked for on other important lines."

FILM CAMERA CLOAKS HOLD-UP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—A robber stood in the doorway and turned the crank of a motion-picture camera in the pretense of making a film while his four companions, posing as actors in a film thriller, held up a dozen members of the Nittoly Republican Club in Brooklyn last night and robbed them of $550 in cash and jewelry. Scores of persons who passed, believed that a film melodrama was being enacted. When the robbers disappeared after herding their victims into a back room, passers-by realized that the bills the club members had lost were not stage money. The hold-up men escaped in an automobile, taking their camera with them.

NAVY SUING TO RECOVER LEASE

Will Call Roosevelt and Daniels in Action

Charge Fraud in Grant to $500,000 Land

Plot Worth $200 Declared Given in Exchange

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Dec. 16.—Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy; Theodore Roosevelt, acting Secretary of the Navy in 1921, and several officers of the Navy who were stationed in Porto Rico or the Virgin Islands during the World War will be summoned as witnesses, or required to make depositions, in a suit brought by the United States government against Lieutenant-Commander Virgil Baker, U.S.N., retired. The suit is brought to recover Porto Rico land now held by Commander Baker under a 999-year lease from the Navy, which the government claims was obtained by fraud.

Plans to examine these witnesses were announced today by O. B. Frazier, counsel for Commander Baker.

The suit is an equity action to cancel the lease of ten acres of the San Geronimo reservation, an old Spanish fortification in San Juan. The lease was signed July 15, 1921, by Theodore Roosevelt, then acting Secretary of the Navy, after Congress had passed an act authorizing it.

The government's complaint alleges that the San Geronimo land in question is worth more than $500,000 and that in exchange for it and in part consideration for the making of the lease Commander Baker transferred to the Navy Department land purchased by him for $200 to be used as a distant-control radio station. The establishment of a station was recommended to the Navy by Commander Baker, the complaint charges, and the acceptance of the tract he obtained for it was "through inadvertence and mistake." It is also charged that Baker was the agent of the United States and was "precluded from obtaining any personal interest in the property which was proposed to be acquired by the Navy Department."

OREGON NEEDS CARS

California Grape Shipments Cause Dearth of Freight Stock

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEDFORD (Or.) Dec. 16.—Assertion that shipment of wine grapes from California had caused a fruit-car shortage in Oregon was made by B. W. Johnson, pear-grower of Monroe, Or., at a meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural Society here today.

"The Volstead Act," said Johnson, "has so increased the shipments of wine grapes from California that the railroads cannot keep up with the demand for cars, and therefore a car shortage in Oregon is almost inevitable.

"In 1923 California shipped 44,000 cars of grapes, and this year the State shipped 80,000 cars."

TAKING DRINK OF WATER THEFT

Quenching Thirst at Stream in British Columbia Law Violation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Dec. 16.—Whosoever so much as takes a drink of water from a stream in the Province of British Columbia is lawbreaker, a thief and a criminal.

This condition of affairs was revealed when the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Agriculture, placed his Water Act Amendents before the Legislature. Pattullo proposed an amendment making it no offense to take water from an unrecorded stream for domestic purposes. Heretofore that has been an offense. A member suggested that insofar as mere personal use is concerned, such as taking a drink or filling the radiator of a car, it be no offense to take water even from a recorded stream. Pattullo was not sure this was wise, but the clause was allowed to stand over for mature consideration.

STATE FILM CENSORSHIP ADVOCATED

Washington Senate Gets Measure Placing Ban on Certain Types of Film

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Dec. 16.—State censorship of all motion picture films in this State is proposed in a bill introduced in the State Senate today.

A board of five members named by the Governor, including a member of the faculty of the University of Washington, of Washington State College, two women and one other member, is provided. A fee would be charged for reviewing films.

Sanction of the commission would be withheld from all films which tended to glorify crime; displayed the actual or completed commission of murder; were based on such exhibitions of violence, obscenity or other forms of lewdness which might incite minors to crime or moral delinquency; which might inflame prejudice or hatred against a country with which the United States is at peace; tend to breed disrespect in the minds of minors toward parents, parenthood or the home, or which engender race or religious intolerance.

City in Germany Votes Election on Local Option

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—The local option movement is gaining ground in Germany if the communal elections in the Ruhr industrial city of Hagencan be taken as a criterion. A total of 85 per cent of the voters favored allowing the community to decide whether they wish to have local option. Of this number 52 per cent are women.

Only a few days ago the Hamburg Chamber of Commerce took a stand against the dry movement's proposals that a local option bill be placed before the Reichstag on the ground that such a law is superfluous since the nation has laws for fighting misuse of alcohol. The chamber cites America as an example of prohibition, saying the country is demoralized by it and that prohbition there is the result of local option.

DECISION HITS SUNDAY DANCES IN MONTANA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HELENA (Mont.) Dec. 16.—Sunday dancing in Montana's dance halls is declared illegal by the State Supreme Court. The opinion was rendered here today, affirming a decision of the Silver Bow county District Court in the State's action against Ernest Loomis of Butte. A State law prohibits Sunday dancing.

Amendment to Reclamation Act Decided On

Proposed Law Would Relieve Settlers Who Fail

Roads Offer to Resell Farms for Government

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Submission to Congress of an amendment to the Reclamation Act, permitting the reclamation service to purchase the land of delinquent settlers and giving to the railroads affected by the success of projects the selling agency for land so acquired was agreed upon at a conference of railway and reclamation bureau officials at the Interior Department today.

Details of the proposed legislation are still in a formative stage, but in general the suggestions agreed upon provide that the reclamation service may "recapture" land on which settlers are delinquent in payment of dues and taxes.

ROADS OFFER TO SELL

Railway representatives agreed that if the right to sell such land were given them they would undertake work without any commission or other charge to the government.

The proposed legislation was characterized by Reclamation Commissioner Elwood Mead as the most constructive result of the reclamation conference of which the meeting today was an informal sequel. It is intended to be of general application in the reclamation service but at present such authority, if given by Congress, will be applied principally in those projects where the percentage of delinquent settlers is greatest.

There was general agreement on a suggestion, embodied in this year's appropriation bill, that men be placed on reclamation projects to advise and assist new settlers until they have become used to their new surroundings and have brought their land to a profitable state of cultivation.

PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Representatives of great railway systems traversing or adjacent to reclamation projects attended the conference and problems of each project were discussed in turn, particular attention being paid to those at present not on a profitable basis.

Mead said latest advices from some of these "sick kittens," as he termed them, showed a marked turn for the better during the present season. He received during the session a telegram from the Sun River project in Montana stating that final returns from the entire project showed a per acre return of more than double that of 1924.

MOSS GROWS OVER WRECK OF AIRPLANE

Hunter's Find in Wilds of Massachusetts May Explain Fate of Canadian Flyer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSFIELD (Mass.) Dec. 16. The Moss-grown wreckage of a plane found by a hunter in a thicket in a lonely section of the township of Tyringham may solve the unexplained disappearance of Capt. Mansell R. James, a Canadian aviator in the early summer of 1919. A searching party will leave here tomorrow to seek the body of the lost flyer.

Warran Campbell of Brooklyn, N. Y., a member of a hunting party, became lost and wandered upon the plane wreckage miles away from a human habitation.

Capt. James, who had served in the World War, with the Royal Air Force, won late in May, 1919, a competitive flight from Atlantic City to Boston for a cup offered by the Boston Globe and a purse of $1000. He left Boston June 1 to return to Atlantic City and lost his bearings in the western part of Massachusetts. He came down at Tyringham and next morning set out under ideal conditions to resume the flight. He never was seen or heard of again.

Collector Says Girl Used Gun to 'Cancel' Bill

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 16. — A felony complaint of assault with a deadly weapon, preferred by L. McGinnis, yesterday caused the arrest of Miss Daisy Gillick, whom McGinnis accuses of having forced him at the point of a gun to mark an unpaid bill of $51 "paid in full."

McGinnis told the police that when he went to Miss Gillick's home to collect the money she invited him inside the house and there threatened his life at the point of a pistol if he did not furnish her a properly receipted bill.

Shipments Start After Holiday With Extra Help On

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 16.—Final preparations are being made by the State Division of Motor Vehicles for the opening of the 1926 registration season.

Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the division, expects to begin shipping plates soon after Christmas, starting with orders already received, and the counters for direct delivery will be open beginning January 2.

Within the next few weeks about 250 extra employees, including clerks and typists, will be added to the regular force by Marsh to help handle the rush of registration.

The high price of potatoes has increased the demand for substitute foods.

Billy Montgomery, former College football star, at- the doubtful honor of be- ing the next opponent for George Godfrey when he knocked out Ralph Smith, the fighting fireman, in the sixth round of their scheduled ten-round main event at the Olympic Auditorium last night. The finale came after six hectic rounds, wherein Montgomery and Smith with every punch in the ring game, in the ten-round engagements, Lamar took a Santa Claus from Billy Wallace, while Roper surprised to defeat Owens.

Montgomery displayed a tre- dously effective right hand, had much well-nigh out in the and third and fourth chapters, he latter managed to weather directed storm of blows, in the sixth. TROJAN ALL-OPPONENTS TEAM NAMES FIVE STANFORD STARS

The annual all-opponents team, a feature which winds up every U.S.C. football season, made its appearance in the Daily Trojan on the campus yesterday morning, selected through votes by coaches, players, managers, Trojan sports writers and others interested. The team contains the names of five Stanford men, and one each from St. Mary's Oregon Aggies, Iowa, Idaho, Washington State and Montana.

The team is picked through the showings of various opponents of the Trojan team on their efforts in the game against the Trojans. Past records and future showings have no bearing on the selection. If a star performer experiences an off day against U.S.C. it is simply his hard luck.

Nevers, Shipkey, Swan, Meeker and Kelly were unanimous choices. The team, as it appeared in the Trojan:

Ends—Frankian (St. Mary's) and Shipkey (Stanford.)

Guards—Rodawig (Iowa) and Swan (Stanford.)

Center—Stevens (Idaho)

Quarterback—Meeker (Washington State.)

Halfbacks—Kelly (Montana) and Murphy (Stanford.)

Fullback—Nevers (Stanford.)

PHANTOM HOME FROM JOURNEY

Grange Entirely Rested from Strenuous Duties

Over $100,000 Ahead of Game in Three Weeks

Fewer "Pro" Fans Witness Tilts Than When Amateur

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—The strain of eight football games in two weeks was missing from the brow of Red Grange as he returned home today from the first leg of his country-wide barnstorming tour. He came to Chicago from Danville, where he had been taking treatment for an injury that put him on the sidelines for the ninth and tenth games of his team's barnstorming venture. Baking treatments will be continued until Grange and his teammates leave Monday for their Florida tour.

RED GRANGE

The end of Grange's first road trip after eight games finds him more than $100,000 ahead for three weeks' work.

As far as football statistics are concerned, Grange's eight games as a professional show results somewhat below his seven games as the star of the Big Ten for 1925.

While performing for glory and the University of Illinois, Red traveled 1213 yards and scored six touchdowns in seven games this fall.

From Thanksgiving to December 10, at Pittsburgh, just two weeks, Grange in eight games gained 656 yards and made seven touchdowns. The first goal kick he ever achieved in a game was his only score against Washington.

While the crowds drawn by Grange's fame ranged from 5000 in Pittsburgh to 65,000 at New York, the total for eight games was only little more than half his collegiate season total. Estimates of attendance at the eight professional games total 223,000.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT, SO AL DEMAREE BREAKS OUT WITH HIS "ALL-AMERICAN"

It's an open season for sport critics. Everyone is picking an All-American, so here is mine.

No living sport writer can cover the entire country. I have been forced to depend on the aid and assistance of prominent coaches, officials and scouts. As a result, the two mythical elevens shown above are the consensus of opinions received from over sixty prominent figures of the gridiron.

Scores of players are deserving of honorable mention. Many others are equally deserving, but have played on small college teams or weak elevens and have failed to attract as much attention as players on championship contenders. All glory to them! It's the spirit and loyalty that counts.

PYLE'S DEMAND BLOCKS CLASH

George Cline Represents Red's Manager Here

Farmer Denies Asking Huge Sum for Coliseum

BY BRAVEN DYER

The "Red" Grange game, which has occupied the attention of some footballically-inclined persons for the last four days, just about passed into the fairy books yesterday. By today the grid clash will, in all probability, be nothing more than a vague hope in the mind of C. C. Pyle, Grange's shekel - shagging manager, who beat it for San Francisco late Tuesday night after some time spent in trying to arrange details for his employer's visit here next month. Those with an ear to the ground predict that the game will never be held.

C.C. PYLE

Soon after Pyle went north word leaked out here that George T. Cline, local sporting gods man and a member of the firm of Cline-Cline, had "landed" the game following spirited competition with other local promoters. Last night Cline stated that he was merely Pyle's representative here and that nothing definite on the game had been outlined, other than that Grange would play here January 16. Cline at present, has no team or field.

However, from authentic sources it was learned that Pyle's terms were still prohibitive and that Cline had not signed to take over the game here. Reports that the Coliseum management had demanded 25 per cent of the gate for such a game were emphatically denied by Zack Farmer, manager of the big bowl, last night. However, nobody would blame the management for asking that much in case the game did go on. Pyle and company would be weighted down with something like 50 or 60 per cent of the gate and the Coliseum management would be perfectly within its rights in seeing that some of the money

Salinas Eleven Practicing Hard and Expects to Defeat Bakersfield in Northern Title Game

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SALINAS, Dec. 16.—Confident that they can defeat the powerful Bakersfield Drillers next Saturday when they clash at Ewing Field, San Francisco, for the Northern California prep grid crown, Coach Jack Patrick's Salinas Cowboys are practicing hard here every day in order that they might be at their strongest when they face the Kern county eleven.

Next Saturday's game will be the Cowboys' second appearance in the Bay section in two weeks, the locals having disposed of the Berkeley Yellowjackets, 13 to 3, last week. Salinas has its best team in history this year and local fans feel certain that the Cowboys will be able to trim the Drillers.

A victory for the locals will give them the right to meet the Covina Colts, Southern California champions, for the State title at Los Angeles on the 26th inst. Covina won the Southern championship by upsetting San Diego last week and draws a bye Saturday.

The Cowboys will depend on their speedy and well-drilled backfield, composed of Chris Machado, Ed Storm, Tubbs and Church, and their powerful line on which Thor-

KID KAPLAN MAKES WEIGHT

Featherweight Champion Gets Under Limit for His Title Bout With Babe Herman Tomorrow Night

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Deputy Boxing Commissioner Edward Curry of New York dropped into Louis "Kid" Kaplan's training camp at Meriden, Ct., somewhat unexpectedly this afternoon and requested the featherweight champion to step on the scales. The result was as surprising to Curry as the commissioner's visit was to Kaplan and his handlers.

The Kid balanced the beam at 126 pounds, exactly the featherweight limit, before he did his work. After stepping three fast rounds with Eddie Lord, a junior lightweight, smacking the bag for three rounds and doing six rounds of rope-skipping and shadow boxing, the Menden mauler tipped the beam at 125½ pounds.

Kid Kaplan

This would seem to definitely discredit the persistent rumors that the featherweight limit was impossible for Kaplan. Reports to this effect have been more or less in circulation ever since his titular match with Babe Herman last summer when the peculiar circumstances surrounding the weighing-in lent color to the belief that Kaplan was no longer a featherweight.

COLUMBIA STILL HUNTING FOR NEW GRIDIRON COACH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—According to the "dope" from the inside, Columbia's quest of a new football coach has narrowed down to two candidates.

They are Maj. Frank Cavanaugh of Dartmouth, who has refused to sign a new contract with Boston College, and Larry Bankart, another Dartmouth man, who won his coaching spurs at Colgate several years ago and this fall was assistant to Jess Hawley in the closing month of the Dartmouth campaign.

Both Cavanaugh and Bankart are free agents. The major was offered a new contract by Boston College last week and turned it down with the statement that it was not likely he would be back with the Eagles next year. Cavanaugh took hold at Boston after he had gone from Dartmouth following many years of distinctive service both as a player and head coach. He put Boston College on the football map, his achievements including victories over Yale in two successive seasons.

CHICAGO STAR LEADS WITH 73

Tarrant and Hunter Medal 74s at Caballero

MacDonald Smith to Arrive for Open Event Soon

Kirkwood Trims Pressler in Hacienda Exhibition

BY BILL WISE

Wee Willie Hunter, Brentwood, and Jack Tarrant, El Caballero, trimmed Wild Bill Melhorn and Big Ed Gayer, 1 up, in a feature best-ball foursome over Tarrant's difficult rolling course, yesterday.

Despite the fact that the Caballero greens clipped several strokes from Melhorn's medal, the Chicago ace managed to remain even par through sixteen holes, before punching a long tee shot out of bounds and slipping home with an approximate 73, one stroke over par. Tarrant and Hunter had 71s and Gayer checked in with 75, remarkable scoring for the course.

Hunter and Tarrant play great team golf and while Melhorn and Gayer managed to hold them even going out, the large gallery following the match was rewarded with some fast golf coming home, before Wee Willie slipped in with the hole that defeated the hard-hitting stars, 1 up.

FAST FOURSOME AT GIRARD COURSE

Jack Neville and Victor Girard defeated W. W. Campbell and Phil Forve, Jr., Los Angeles club stars, 2 and 1, over the nine-hole Girard course yesterday. Charlie Guest, good looking course professional, refereeing the high-powered foursome, collected a 68.

MAC SMITH GOLFING SOUTH

MacDonald Smith, California open champion, now professional at the Lakeville Country Club, Great Neck, L. I., is on his way south and will leave San Francisco this week for Los Angeles, the $2500 Long Beach open, the $10,000 Los Angeles open, and, later still, the California open championship, according to word received here yesterday.

Mac won the State open title at the Hillcrest club last year and plans to defend his title this year.

Smith has chalked up a wonderful professional record and will be a prime favorite in the open event at the Los Angeles club next month.

John Black, famous veteran Scotsman of the black briar-pipe fame, new mentor at the Wichita (Kan.) Country club and Al Espinosa of the Illinois Golf Club, Glencoe (Ill.,) are also in San Francisco and will leave for this city within the next few days.

More than fifty members of the hard-hitting fraternity have already signed for both the Long Beach and Los Angeles events, and the field that will start play in the former, January 2, next, will be visibly enlarged when the internationally famous stars start after the $10,000 open melon over the Berth course of the Los Angeles club January 7, next.

SNIDER COPS SENIORS' CUP AT LOS ANGELES

Harry M. Snyder defeated John A. Rush, 4 and 2, for title honors in the semiannual seniors' tournament at Los Angeles, yesterday. The event, that drew a record entry, was limited to Beverly members, 65 years old, or older.

FOREMAN CRACKS MEADOWS MARK

Earl Foresman, Mountain Meadows professional, clipped three strokes from his home-course record with a 68 yesterday, Carleton Wright of Pasadena, with 71, held the Mountain Meadows record for a number of months.

DENTISTS PLAY RANCHO TODAY

Golfing members of the Los Angeles Dental Society will discard molar tools for golf utensils today and play in a regular association tournament at Arthur Clarkson's Rancho club. More than three-score members of the toothpullers' society will be on hand and promise to stimulate competition for the many prizes that will be awarded in the event.

Speaking of Clarkson—the popular Scotsman shot a sizzling 67 to defeat George Von Elm over his home course last week, broke 70 at Los Angeles Tuesday and is shaping up as one of the best local bets in the $10,000 open tourney here next month.

CLUB TOURNEY AT LAKESIDE

Members of the Hollywood Round Table will play in an association golf event, at Lakeside, tomorrow. President Ingield has arranged an attractive program for the course that George Cornes, Neal Burns, Chief Soldani, Max Behr and others are making famous.

KIRKWOOD WINS AT HACIENDA

Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick-shot wizard, holed two approach shots for birdies, and teaming with Earl Bowler, contributed a 73 to defeat E. R. Canterbury and Harry Pressler, club professional, 1 up, in a fast exhibition that drew a gallery of 200 fans to Hacienda yesterday. Pressler was home in 73, Bowler 77 and Canterbury, 78. Following the exhibition match, Kirkwood demonstrated all of his famous trick shots.

JOE STECHER ON WAY EAST

Joe Stecher, heavyweight wrestling champion, left for the East last night. He was accompanied by his brother-manager, Antone. The two were somewhat annoyed at Jim Dondos, who in dispatches from San Diego, where he wrestled Tuesday night, claims the title because he got the better of a draw bout with Stecher here Monday evening. Joe wrestles in Chicago Saturday night.

GRANGE GAME BEGINS TO FADE

paid by local fans stayed in Los Angeles.

If those promoting the game should secure the Coliseum they would have to put a team in the field which would not include any of the Los Angeles Athletic Club players. In addition, none of the athletes now in college would be allowed to play. That's the word from the Coliseum management and is a pretty fair demand inasmuch as the Los Angeles Athletic Club has gone to much expense to put a good amateur team in the field, and said team would be broken up if it took part in the Grange tilt. Protection of college players is also to be lauded.

Difficulties in arranging the game hinge mainly on Pyle's prohibitive demands. In the words of one promoter, who has tried to get the game, "Pyle came here with what he thought was a national attraction (meaning Red Grange.) Maybe he did have when he got here, but in the four days he has been here public interest has dwindled. It's going to take an awfully optimistic chap to meet Pyle's demands and put on the game with the lack of interest that is being manifested."

Pyle, according to reports, has or will confer with Ernie Nevers. Getting the ex-Stanford captain to lead an outside team and putting the game on at Wrigley Park here seems to be the only way out of the difficulty for Pyle.

Nevers's contract with Florida capitalists runs until March 15, but so far no money has been deposited to Ernie's credit. Pyle, or some one else, may get Nevers in the meantime.

PYLE COMPLETES PLANS FOR BAY CITY GAME

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—The Chicago Bears, professional football team, captained by Harold (Red) Grange, will meet a San Francisco eleven here January 24. This was announced today by Orin Hollingberry, coach of the Olympic Club team, who signed a contract with C. C. Pyle, manager for Grange.

The confuress declined to give out the terms of the agreement. It is understood that Hollingberry will organize the local professional team.

CRIMSON TIDE SQUAD NAMED

Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama; Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the University of Georgia and head of the Southern Intercollegiate Conference; Hugh Friedman, graduate manager of athletics; Champ Pickens, Howard E. Hill, sports editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald; Zepp Newman, sports editor of the Birmingham News, and one or two others—a total of thirty-odd.

Wade is expected to start the eleven which he has put on the field practically every major game of the season. This would show Hubert at quarter, Mack Brown and Barnes at the halves, Caldwell at full, Holmes at center, Jones and Buckler at the guards, Camp and Perry at tackles and Hudson and Winslett on the flanks. There is a possibility that Grant Gillis will start at full in place of Caldwell. With this exception the above line-up should take the field at Pasadena.

Such a line-up would represent the best that Alabama affords and the aggregation that has swept down the trail unchecked to a second conference championship. Pete Camp, 200-pound tackle, who was the only ailing Crimson at the close of the regular season, is scampering about like a young colt which believes any reports that his injured leg has not yet healed.

TITLE GRID GAME OFFICIALS NAMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—officials for the football game between high schools of Salinas and Bakersfield which will determine the championship of the Northern California section of the California Interscholastic Federation, were announced today as follows:

Referee—H. P. Braddock (Pennsylvania;) umpire, Dr. Albert Boles (Minnesota;) field judge, J. R. Klawans (Chicago;) head linesman, A. B. Worbel (Washington.)

The contest will be played at Ewing Field, San Francisco, Saturday.

PAIR QUIT ARMY FOR FOOTBALL CAREERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Football has caused two resignations from the army. Capt. J. J. McEwan cabled yesterday from Porto Rico that he would leave the service to coach the University of Oregon for five years, and Ed Garbisch for four years center at West Point, has decided to cast his lot with professional football.

NORTHWESTERN GETS BOWL

Permission Obtained to Erect $1,000,000 Grid Stadium; Cut Seating Capacity to 50,000

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Northwestern University has obtained permission from the Evanston City Council to erect its proposed $1,000,000 football stadium, but the stand will not be the triple-decked 126-foot high structure that it had been planned.

The university had asked for permission to erect the 126-foot high stadium, which would have been the highest in the country. But the City Council instead passed amendments to the building code permitting a start on the preliminary work on the stands with an 80-foot limit. So instead of a 75,000 capacity oval, the concrete stands will seat 50,000 in double decks.

MR. McELWYN TRIES AGAIN FOR RECORD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX, Dec. 16.—Thursday afternoon on the State Fair mile track, another effort to take the 4-year-old stallion trotting record is to be made by Mr. McElwyn, president holder of the 3-year-old record. He will be driven by Ben White, his chief trainer, with the running mate handled by Vic Fleming, who drove the trotter last week in an effort that fell a second short of the present record, 1:59 1-2, made by Arion Guy in 1921. The track is said to be better than last week and the horse is in better shape, while the driver weighs thirty pounds less than Fleming. W. H. L. McCourtle, of Dallas, owner of the horse, with the assent of the fair commission, has turned the handling of the crowd over to the Phoenix Lions' Club, the proceeds to go to the Community Chest.

NOTES FROM THE HOLLYWOOD A.C.

Betty and Clarence Pinkston, world's champion divers, are now members of the club. Four champions are now competing for the H.A.C. They where are Bud Mosser and Lee Ramos.

Mal. Handby, well-known game room athlete, won the bridge tournament last night. Bob Ryan finished second, Wallace MacDonald third and Larry McGrath fourth.

Several hundred members of the club will journey out to Lakeside Friday afternoon to witness the annual round table golf tournament. It's about time to hold that annual indoor baseball game.

George L. Eastman is getting back in shape again if his two victories over Frank Bourque in squash mean anything. The scores were 21-19, 21-18. Bourque is the highest ranking player in the club at the present time.

HOLLYWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB TO TACKLE CASA DEL MAR SEXTET

One of the outstanding and crucial games of the ice hockey season will be staged tonight when the Club Casa del Mar clashes with the Hollywood Athletic Club team at the Palais de Glace.

Defeat for either team practically means elimination from the race for the championship of the first half of the season, which ends January 11. The Casa del Mar Club is now in second place, with Hollywood just one game below it. A Hollywood victory will create a tie for the position, but thereafter, the advantage will be with the Foothill squad. If Casa del Mar wins, it will put the beach team within striking distance of the top again, and give it a chance to tie the Auto Club of Southern California, the league leaders, whom they meet next week. A Casa del Mar win will also eliminate Hollywood as a prospective title winner for the first half.

At goal, Broadfoot has the edge on Castillion in all-'round ability. Lloyd Cook and Cresswell, who is back in the game, after his injury ten days ago, on paper are a bit superior as a combination at defense to Lee Cook. Lloyd's brother, and Bill Phipps of Casa del Mar. In the forward positions, Wilson and McCusker of Hollywood are fairly equal at the wings to Shaver and Mooney or Huffman. In center, Herrick of Hollywood and Jacobs of the beach club play much the same type of game, both being consistent puck chasers and excellent checkers.

Oxy Trackmen Face U.S.C. in Coliseum Meet

The rumor that the Occidental College track squad will meet Coach Dean Cromwell's cinderpath men on February 28 in the Coliseum was confirmed yesterday by Graduate Manager Phil Ellsworth of the Tiger institution.

Occidental and Southern California have met many times on the track during the last few years, and the meet has always attracted as much interest as any track argument in the south. The two squads met the last year with such stars as Argue, Spangler, Powers, Ellsworth, Goodenough, Carter and Bradshaw taking seven out of the fifteen first places.

The meet will be the first one of the season for Coach Pipal's men, and will give Oxy enthusiasts the first opportunity to see just what chances they have of wresting the championship from Pomona College.

Holland Takes Decision in H.A.C. Main Piela Knocks Out Harrison

Sailor Holland, being a boxer of some repute from the Keystone state of Pennsylvania, took a three-round decision from Tony Rose in the main event of the Hollywood Athletic Club's program last night, but he was a slugger and unable to cope with his opponent's ability.

The main fireworks of the evening were furnished by Jimmy Piela, the runner-up in the 126-pound class in the recent A.A.U. championship tournament, who kicked out James Harrison, also of the Pennsylvania in two rounds. Piela dropped his rival for counts of nine, eight and nine in the first round and stopped him with a straight left in the second.

John Montgomery of the Pennsylvania, was another knockout victim, submerging the second round before Jack Marascal. Tom Piela, brother of Jimmy, defeated Pet Markham. Max Cherry won from Angeleno Sumini by virtue of three knockdowns in the first round of their bout.

POMONA QUINTET WINS FROM SOUTHWESTERN

Pomona had no trouble in winning from Southwestern last night on the Sagehen court. Both teams used a flock of subs, and there was no high individual scoring. Osborne led the Pomona outfit with seven digits, while Waite and Gish scored five each for the losers.

HIS BIRTHDAY

BY FEG MURRAY

Thirty-nine years ago today the stork deposited a baby boy at the Cobb home in Banks county, Georgia. The neighbors, gathering around to see the little newcomer and offer congratulations to the proud parents, were given the information that young Tyrus Raymond batted left-handed and threw right-handed, and that he would be known as the "Georgia Peach."

"Isn't he a little cutie!" gurgled Aunt Emma, as she tickled the infant in the ribs. Bam! Baby Raymond socked Aunt Emma in the nose. That was his first hit. Since then he has made 3823 others, all in major league competition.

The child grew big and strong in the Georgia atmosphere, and had a flock of tiger cubs as playmates. He joined the Detroit Tigers in 1905, and played his first game on August 30. At that time Roosevelt was President of the United States, Jim Jeffries was heavyweight champion of the world, Helen Wills was not yet born, Jack Dempsey was 9 years old, and Bobby Jones was 3! And now Ty Cobb is still going strong.

As an example of his pep in the year 1925, his twenty-first major league season, I call your attention to his five home runs in two days. Also, 1925 was the twentieth consecutive year that Ty had batted over .300! In 1926, if he plays in sixty-one games, he will have surpassed Hans Wagner's record of 2785 major league appearances. And only seventy-five more times at bat will break that other mark of Wagner's which Cobb has hot yet equaled—that of 10,427 times at the plate.

Happy Birthday, Ty!

FREAK DELIVERIES

CHAPTER XVIII

There are no really good spit-ball pitchers today, and by that I mean pitchers that depend solely on the spit ball. During the era of freak deliveries there was a flock of men who depended on the spitter or their success. When the freak deliveries were ruled out, it was decided to permit all pitchers that had been using the spit ball to continue using it but to prevent any newcomer in the league from using the spitter and also to prevent any man pitching in the majors when the rule was passed from developing one. The pitchers that were listed as spit-ball pitchers at that time had other stuff besides the spitter, so the rule did not bother them. In fact, nearly all of them could have gotten along without this delivery and a few of them did, while the others used it rarely.

Elimination of the spit ball was a good thing for the pitchers and a good thing for baseball. The freak deliveries were killing the science of pitching and enabling mediocre men to rank high. Men like Russel Ford, who had failed to win by using the methods that are now regarded as legitimate, became leading pitchers by developing some freak ball. Ford used an emery ball.

No delivery ever so taxed a pitching arm as the spit ball. It was like throwing a tennis ball. Try that for half an hour and see how your arm feels, but be sure that you throw the tennis ball as hard as possible. By eliminating the spit ball the major leagues saved several careers that would have been sharply and suddenly terminated by the delivery. No genuine spit-ball pitcher ever lasted long.

Considered purely as a spit ball pitcher the best of all time was "Big Ed" Walsh of the Chicago White Sox. He had a powerful physique and he mixed his spitter with his fast ball. It was the spitter that made him the terror of batsmen. As a starting pitcher and as a relief pitcher he was the best of his day but he did not last long. The spit ball killed his arm and forced him into retirement.

Urban Shocker, listed as a spit-ball pitcher, uses the spitter only for variety. Shocker is one of the best pitchers the American League has produced. He is an intelligent hurler and he always had a good curve ball and a change of pace. His strongest point was knowing where to pitch and pitching to that spot.

Mordecai Brown, Grover Cleveland Alexander, "Chief" Bender and Bill Donovan can all be grouped together when discussing pitching stuff. All had good fast balls and good curves. All of them had fairly good slow balls and all of them had nerve and courage. They were equal to the test when it came. "Dazzy" Vance, in more recent years, went along much the same way. Vance had an exceptional fast ball and a fine curve. How Vance differed from the others I mentioned at the beginning of this paragraph was in a slow-ball delivery. Vance seldom threw a slow ball and it was not of much use to him when he did try it, for his slow ball was a poor one.

In my opinion "Rube" Waddell was the greatest left-hand pitcher that ever lived. He was eccentric and in a later chapter I shall tell more of Waddell and his eccentricities, but with all the odd twists in his nature Waddell was a wonderful pitcher. There have been better right-handers in the pitching line but there was never a portsider who topped Waddell in pitching stuff or cunning.

In discussing the spit ball I forget to mention Jack Chesbro. While Strickland is credited with discovering the spitter and introducing this delivery, it was Chesbro who perfected it. He was the first pitcher really to master the delivery and use it to its limit. He discovered all its possibilities and made it popular, and when others saw how well it worked they adopted it. Ed Walsh was a much better spit-ball pitcher than Chesbro, but Walsh took his cue from him. Chesbro was an unusual spit-ball pitcher in that he became one of the iron men of baseball.

Jack Fairman Cops Feature at Tia Juana

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Dec. 16.—Jack Fairman accounted for the Eureka claiming handicap feature on today's racing card here in easy fashion. Queen Catherine was second, with Brother John getting the show.

It was another victory for Irwin, the big Wyoming turfman training the horse for C. Sawyer, his brother-in-law. Results:

First race, one mile: St. Angelina (Pendergrass) won; Smiling (Wallis) second; Kwakunas (McHugh) third. Time 1:41 3-5.

Second race, six furlongs: Old Sinnow (Brock) won; Cuba (Sylvia) second; Dumfounder (Romasser) third. Time 1:15 1-5.

Third race, six furlongs: Archie Alexander (Burns) won; Black Sand (Minden) second; Miss Omond (Wallis) third. Time 1:13 3-5.

Fourth race, mile and one-sixteenth: Sun Boy (Minden) won; Praiseworthy (Brotham) second; Kesia (White) third. Time 1:49 1-5.

Fifth race five and one-half furlongs: Boone Boyer (K. Jones) won; Star Dust (Harward) second; Cockrill (Kelley) third. Time 1:07 3-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs: Jack Fairman (Minden) won; Queen Catherine (D. Neal) second; Brother John (L. Schaefer) third. Time 1:13 3-5.

Seventh race, mile and seventy yards: Chive (Minden) won; Brokaw Love (Sylvia) second; Darius (Wallis) third. Time 1:43 4-5.

Eighth race, four and one-half furlongs: Quanah (Collins) won; Little Shasta (Edwards) second; Pienie (West) third. Time :54.

CALIFORNIA IS WINNER OF CUP

California Civilian Rifle Team Scores

Famous Herrick Rifle Trophy Received Here

Marine Squad, Picked to Win, is Defeated

One of the most famous of our national rifle shooting trophies, the Herrick Cup, emblematic of the long-range team championship of the United States, and won this year by the California Civilian Rifle Team under Ned Cutting, has just been received by the Rifle Club, and will be put on exhibition at the B. H. Dyas Co.

The Herrick Cup was presented to the National Rifle Association twenty years ago by Governor Myron Herrick of Ohio, and is shot for each year at the national matches by teams of eight, men from each State, the regular services, the R.O.T.C. camps, and the civilians, the course being fifteen shots per man at 800, fifteen shots at 900 and fifteen shots at 1000 yards, total forty-five shots per man. The California sharks of this year scored 223 out of 225 per man, which means but two shots out of each forty-five shots striking outside of the three-foot bullseye.

The California boys had but one heavy barrel, special match rifle, such as is used in this contest. The United States Marines, picked to win the match out of forty-eight teams entered, had twelve specially selected match rifles for their team and were betting that they would win the Herrick.

The California team defeated the Marines 9 points at their own pet long range of 1000 yards—their one rifle going out of commission during the match and having to borrow one from another team to finish up.

MONTGOMERY STOPS SMITH

side the ropes. He was out for some ten minutes.

It was Montgomery's fight from the start, Smith not having a chance with the former "praying colonel." Sully quite apparently is a tremendous hitter. He had Smith on the verge of a knockout on several occasions early in the fight, the fireman lasting only through a stout fighting heart. Montgomery will give Godfrey a whale of a fight when the two tangle. Both are smashing punchers.

EARLY CHRISTMAS GIFT

The venerable Abe Roth donated one of "those" decisions to the customers at large when he gave Johnny Lamar the verdict over Billy Wallace, and as a result, Mons. Roth is probably more or less at large himself this morning. His surprising rendering of judgment, after the visiting Mr. Wallace had annexed no less than five of the ten rounds, with three to Lamar and two even, drew down upon himself the combined "boos" of the house.

Wallace, in excellent condition, and boxing in clean, clever fashion, thrice rocked his opponent with terrific rights, and donated a completely closed left eye to the festivities. A sharp right cross to the face closed Lamar's eye. The sixth and seventh rounds were fairly even, with Wallace annexing the eighth and ninth by considerable margin due to his smashing work at close quarters. Lamar might have been awarded a shade in the final canto, due to his aggressiveness, but Wallace managed to get out of the way of any serious damage that his opponent's wild swings might have occasioned.

Wallace was quite clearly the master of the situation throughout and won the bout in undeniable fashion. There should have been no doubt as to the outcome, and Roth's verdict will probably go down in the book along with other similar verdicts that have been so prevalent of late.

ROPER TRIUMPS

The celebrated Jack Roper-Ernie Owens rematch resulted most unhappily for the party of the second part, for that worthy young man, the victor in the previous engagement, emerged on the none-too-glorious small end of the decision.

The pair provided fistic action in good quantities for ten rounds, with Roper taking the upper hand in five chapters, Owens in four with one even. Owens had one good round, the fifth, but for the most part he nullified any effective attempts with a distinct inclination to hang onto his opponent. In the fifth he landed snappy right crosses to the head and rights to the heart, but on the sixth Roper switched to a southpaw style and had Owens rather weary and ill at ease at the bell.

Roper was badly beaten in the previous encounter and his victory last night was more than a little bit of a surprise. He had a 15-pound weight advantage.

YANKEES PURCHASE THOMAS OF TORONTO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BASKETBALL LEAGUE FORMS

A.A.U. Sponsors Local Organization of Casaba Teams; Play in Olympic Auditorium

Prospects for a good season in the local basketball league which is sponsored annually by the Southern Pacific Division of the A.A.U. are exceedingly bright according to Jack Pierce, who has been again appointed manager of the league.

Arrangements to secure the spacious Olympic Auditorium for the more important games have been practically completed, Pierce said last night. A larger entry list than ever is expected with quintets from the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the Hollywood Athletic Club and the Alhambra A. C. looming up as favorites. William Lane, A. C., the Geodyear Friars, U.S.C. Frosh, Pacific Coast A. C. of Long Beach and two Hollywood teams are among the other aggregations which will probably be league members.

Other managers of teams are arranging with Pierce to enter the league.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

BILL HENRY

"LOOK out for Alabama!" That's the glad tidings received from Mr. Walter Bowers, perennial winner of the Carpinteria tennis championship, attorney and astute follower of sports. Bro. Bowers apparently has been touring the effete East, winding up with a journey to Florida so as to fully appreciate Southern California when he gets back home. He has been taking in the big football games, including the Yale-Havard fracas, Syracuse-Columbia and Army-Navy battles, not to mention a few others. He says any one of our leading Coast teams could take any of the above-mentioned elevens and spot them a couple of touchdowns, and that in the matter of rooting, bands and that sort of stuff they are even farther behind the Pacific Coast colleges.

Walter says: "Don't make any mistake in underrating Alabama. She is far and away ahead of any eastern team, with the exception of Dartmouth and Princeton when the latter is having one of its good days. They are fast and strong and well coached, and in the game I saw them play they worked together with the precision of a watch. Hubert runs the team with real generalship and they have a good forward-pass attack. Brown is not as spectacular a back as Flournoy of Tulane nor as good a punter, but in the long run gains as much ground and is better on defense. I hope Washington draws the Coast assignment, for we will need our best, and unless U.S.C. should have one of its good days I'm afraid we'd be in for a trimming."

Among other letters we received one from Dr. Floyd L. Hanes of South Pasadena, who expresses a pious wish for some first-class professional football in Southern California. "Personally, I'd like to see them come out in the open," he says, "and run, in a cracking good professional football team to beat this Red Grange crowd. And then they ought to start a complete revision of the rules governing the amateur standing of men in the various branches of sport." Out-and-out professionalism would unquestionably be the best thing for amateur athletics, because it would knock off the fence the men who are now professionals in spirit and in fact, but are still able some way or another to maintain amateur standing."

There is no doubt in the world but that our definition of an amateur has been stretched far beyond reasonable limits in this country. We note that over in England two tennis players have been barred because they are instructors in other branches of athletics and have, therefore, commercialized their athletic ability to some degree. If we were to enforce that same ruling in this country there wouldn't be half a dozen amateurs left. Amateurs are "getting away with murder" in this land of the free, and the dilly-dallying with the rules in order to avoid professionalizing certain stars is decidedly disgusting to those who really are amateurs in every sense of the word.

It would not be the least bit surprising to us if this next year should see a sudden and definite establishment of professional athletics in many branches or sports now scarcely touched. Football, tennis and one or two other good-sized sports would be much better off if out-and-out professionalism were encouraged.

WELTERS TO TOP BILL

Billy Alger Not Forced to Make Weight Against Spug Myers at Hollywood Tomorrow Night

Billy Alger and Spug Myers will enter the Hollywood American Legion Stadium ring tomorrow night as welterweights and not lightweights.

When Billy Alger fought Tommy O'Brien two weeks ago he had to make weight for Tommy. Before Alger could sign articles for the O'Brien bout he had to agree to make 140 pounds on the day of the fight.

In arranging this match Tom Gallery got Spug Myers as Alger's opponent, so Billy could come in heavier and have more strength. They will make 143 pounds at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Legion stadium, where they weigh in.

The Alger-Myers fight brings together two of the best junior welterweights in California. They have been through a tough campaign this year and this fight will be their last before the new year. There are three exceptionally fast fights on the card. The main event is one that sells itself for action: Algers and Myers have fought so many times in California that their styles are well known to all fight followers.

Billy Hart has proved himself a very tough flyweight. When George Blake was tendered a contract to have Fidel La Barba meet Hart, Blake turned it down. He evidently thought that there is softer game in Los Angeles for Fidel than the tough Mr. Hart.

Frankie Grandetta has arrived and is now at the peak of his fighting form. He is stronger and hitting harder. Grandetta was always a fast, clever boxer, but he couldn't break an egg and his opponents knew it. They also took advantage of this fact by wading into Frankie and letting him have both guns. Just last week Grandetta floored Ernie Hood at Pasadena and it was the first time in his professional career that Grandetta had knocked down a fighter.

Everett Strong, a new middleweight from the Middle West is being put on parade. Fight men claim that he will be a main-eventer before many weeks have elapsed. He fights Charlie Weir. This is the special event and is expected to be a very sweet fight.

LION CAGERS TO BE BUSY

Loyola College Quintet Lines up Tough Schedule; Opens Season Against Oregon on 26th Inst.

Johnny McLaughlin, newly appointed graduate manager at Loyola College, last night announced the basketball schedule as far as completed for the Lion varsity. The Loyola season officially opens on December 26 with a game with the husky Oregon University quintet in the new Loyola pavilion.

Other important games already lined up include a tilt with the Montana State five, two contests with the St. Ignatius College team from San Francisco and an exchange of games with Redlands University.

McLaughlin will attend the conference meeting at Claremont tomorrow in company with Bill Hess, head of the coaching staff at Loyola, to line up more games with the conference fives as well as to secure football games for next season.

The Loyola schedule follows:

December 18.—Oregon U. at Loyola.
December 26.—Montana State at Loyola.
January 30.—Southwestern U. at Loyola.
January 15.—San Diego State at Loyola.
January 27.—Christian College at Loyola.
January 29.—Santa Barbara State at Loyola.
February 6.—San Diego State at San Diego.
February 10.—Southwestern U. at Palo Alto.
February 12.—Redlands U. at Loyola.
February 20.—Christian College at Christian College.
February 22.—St. Ignatius at Loyola.
February 24.—St. Ignatius at Loyola.
February 27.—Redlands U. at Redlands.

THIS WEEK'S FIGHT CARD

TONIGHT

Pasadena—Sammy Waltz vs. Battling Chedi, ten rounds; Young Hinds vs. Joe Skinner, six rounds; Johnny Lauderback vs. Ernie Boles, four rounds; Ed Jones vs. Jack O'Brien, four rounds; Johnny Varela vs. Lee Bassett, four rounds.

TOMORROW

Hollywood—Spug Myers vs. Billy Alger, ten rounds; Billy Hart vs. Frankie Grandetta, six rounds; Charley Weir vs. Everett Strong, six rounds; Jackie Sherman vs. Merrit Grandberg, four rounds; Patsy McGraw vs. Louis Cohen, four rounds.

CHURCHILL OFF FOR TRIP TO PHILIPPINES

Frank Churchill, fight manager de luxe, leaves today for San Francisco, there to board a steamer for the Philippines, where he has business interests that require his attention. His wife will accompany him. He will leave his boxing stable, including Pete Sarmiento, Sully Montgomery, Clever Sencio, Tod Morgan, the new world's junior lightweight champion, in charge of Bill Miller, his partner. Churchill expects to be gone two or three months, but may return with a couple of sensational Filipino fighters he says are rounding into sensational form.

HIGH-POWERED GRID GAME HANDLERS HERE

The annual New Year's game is bound to be a complete success now. Three Stanford men who helped put over the Notre Dame-Stanford struggle last New Year's arrived yesterday to devote their time and attention to several important details. L. H. Anderson, who handled the traffic situation so successfully, will be on the job, along with Don Liebendorfer, who will take care of the program end, and Will Fredericks, who will look after the publicity.

ALL-STARS IN FIRST SCRIMMAGE

Score Three Touchdowns on Hoosier Eleven in Work-out Before Trip West

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BLOOMINGTON (Ind.) Dec. 16. Three touchdowns were the net results of the first afternoon scrimmage of Coach Bill Ingram's all-stars against the Indiana University Big Ten outfit today.

Wyckoff, Georgia Tech star, smashed through the Hoosiers on the second play for the first touchdown. Martineau, Minnesota, was responsible for another marker against the Indiana eleven shortly afterward. Powell, of Davis Elkins College, made the third score at the close of scrimmage, when he leaped in the air and snagged a pass hurled 30 yards by Ingram, who worked all afternoon calling signals for the eleven he will take west next Sunday for a benefit game against the pick of the West at San Francisco on the 26th inst.

Cougar Eleven is on Way for Hawaii Games

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Dec. 16.—The Washington State College Cougar football team was on its way today to the Hawaiian Islands, where games have been scheduled with the University of Hawaii and the Hawaiian all-star football teams on Christmas and New Year's days.

The two island games are expected to be Coach A. A. Exendine's last for Washington State College, as his contract expires this year, and has not been renewed.

VANCOUVER B. C.) Dec. 16. The football squad of Washington State College arrived here today on the steamship Princess Louise en route to Honolulu to play the Athletic club of Honolulu on the 25th inst. and the University of Hawaii January 1.

Butcher Meeker, star quarterback on the eleven, ran a mile on the decks of the Louise at dawn today. Departure from here was set for today on the steamer Niagara.

ATHLETES WILL DINE AT BREAKFAST CLUB

World's champion athletes of every class and description will be the guests of the Breakfast Club at the organization's regular meeting tomorrow morning at the Riverside Drive quarters.

With Jack Dempsey, a club member, as host, more than fifty Pacific Coast, national, international and Olympic champions will attend. The gathering of these champions, according to Maurice DeMond, chairman of the club, is to promote more interest in Southern California in all forms of physical prowess.

CHIEF REPORTS NAVY IMPROVED

Eberle Says Lack of Funds Delays Alterations

Upkeep Confined Chiefly to Needed Repairs

Advance in High-Frequency Radio Gets Comment

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Although the material condition of naval ships was somewhat improved during the last fiscal year, Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations, declared in his annual report today that because of inadequacy of funds "many alterations of military value have been held in abeyance."

Due to lack of sufficient funds, he explained, the upkeep of the fleet has been confined chiefly to repairs.

"Every effort continues to be directed toward expenditures for upkeep only," he said. "The only purpose of any alteration is to effect improvements. Naval science, in which the United States has so long led, constantly demands improvements, but the funds available do not permit making the improvements desired.

"It is obvious that the maintenance of the industrial shore establishments in excess of the material needs of the fleet makes heavy inroads on funds. This condition will always result from the operation of any plant at other than maximum capacity.

YARDS AT HALF CAPACITY

"The work loads at none of the industrial yards during the past year have approximated more than one-half of the physical capacity of the plant. The same is true of the maintenance of purely military stations in reduced operations."

Operations of the Navy were reviewed broadly in the report, mention being especially made of the beneficial results of the tactical exercises carried out in the various units of the fleet as well as of "the decided benefit" obtained from the tactical and strategical maneuvers of the fleet in Hawaiian waters.

"The usual forms of gunnery exercises," the report continued, "have been carried out together with a number of exercises designed to stimulate advanced gunnery methods. The need of a radio-controlled target for certain gunnery problems has again been emphasized."

Mentioning the Asiatic fleet as progressing "in both tactical and strategical training for its special employment," the report recounted how that unit with other fleets in September and October, 1924, kept open Shanghai and prevented fighting in the city.

COMMENTS ON RADIO

Dealing with naval communications, Admiral Eberle described the progress made in high-frequency radio transmissions as "phenomenal."

"The outstanding progress made during the past year," he said, "has been the development of high-frequency circuits and the handling of considerable traffic by that means. The increase in traffic handled by high frequency during the last half of the year has been phenomenal. Almost every naval station and a large number of naval vessels, including some assigned to the Naval Reserve, have constructed high-frequency sets which have been used advantageously in procuring data and conducting tests in high-frequency communications.

"Regular traffic has been exchanged on high frequencies between Washington, D. C.; Balboa, Canal Zone; San Francisco, Cal.; San Diego, Cal.; Honolulu, Hawaii; Tutuila, Samoa, and the United States fleet. Although the work has been experimental and is as yet by no means fully reliable, it has effected a considerable saving in power through no use for long periods of the high-power transmitters. In addition to this, traffic has been moved on high frequencies at times when, owing to static conditions, the normal frequencies were impossible of use, thus effecting savings on land-line tolls."

MRS. ATWILL DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE

Play Producer Files Charge of Infidelity in Action Against Elsie Mackay

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Lionel Atwill, play producer, and Elsie Mackay, his actress wife, have come to the parting of the ways.

It was learned today that Mrs. Atwill sailed for Europe Saturday on the same ship with Max Montesole, English actor, who was to have opened in a play being produced by Atwill.

Atwill has sued for divorce, naming Montesole as co-respondent.

Mrs. Atwill has replied and asks $350 a week alimony and $7500 counsel fees. Atwill today asserted that Montesole had won Mrs. Atwill's affections while a guest at their home.

The papers in Atwill's divorce suit were served Friday shortly after he and three detectives had raided an apartment in West Sixty-eighth street and found his wife with Montesole there. In her answer Mrs. Atwill denies the assertions and insists that he refused to separate by agreement and kept her at his home by threats of disgraceful charges.

BANCROFT MEMORIAL FUND NEARS GOAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—With an anonymous donation of $25,000, the Edgar A. Bancroft Memorial fund reached the $250,000 mark today in a campaign to raise $300,000 to create a memorial to the former American Ambassador to Japan. When the total has been reached, the trustees of the Tuskegee Institute, negro school in Alabama, where the memorial is to be created, will contribute another $300,000 to the fund.

LAD ADMITS MURDER ORGY

Killing Three After Week of Lawlessness Confessed by Arkansas Boy, Found Heavily Armed

YELLVILLE (Ark.) Dec. 16.—A small boy sat in the Marion County Jail here today brooding over a week of desperate adventure, while residents of Buffalo community, east of here, gave thanks for the end of a series of violent deeds. The boy, Arnold Comer, who says he is "about 13 or 14," has admitted he is the author of a succession of lawless acts, culminating Sunday in the slaying of three persons. He was asleep when a Sheriff's posse seized him. Near him lay four pistols, a shotgun and a peck of ammunition.

Arnold's story, told to Sheriff Willingham, was a thriller to match any outlaw's tale. This is the gist of it:

The boy, discontented with home conditions, fled from the Comer home Wednesday night, taking a pistol with which he is a practiced shot. Thursday he entered a rural home and took $17.50 and a shotgun. That night he plundered a store, increasing his armament. Friday night, seeking food he came to another mountain home but became afraid when a man opened the door. He fired his shotgun, wounding the man, his wife and child and retreated into the darkness.

Becoming hungry Sunday, the boy approached the house where Mrs. Tom Boyd lived with her infant granddaughter, shot and beat the aged woman to death—he didn't seem to know why—and then killed the baby because it cried.

A quarter of a mile away, as he ran from this scene he met Charles Moore, dealer in pelts, and shot him.

Newspaper Man Granted $5000 Lusitania Claim

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Dec. 16.—Ernest Cowper, widely known newspaper man of the Coast, and now a resident of Seattle, has been advised that the German reparations committee has awarded him $5000 for losses sustained in the sinking of the Lusitania in May, 1916.

Mr. Cowper was a passenger on the liner and swam for three hours after the torpedoed vessel sank. He also saved the life of Helen Smythe, 6 years of age, of Rhode Island, who was the only survivor of her family. The claim was for loss of manuscripts and valuables.

CITY WORKERS' PLEA ANSWERED

Fredericks Believes Tax Burden Cared For

Declares Average Wage Earner Already Exempt

Higher Salaried Should Pay Share, He Replies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Congressman Fredericks of Los Angeles today responded to the request of more than 2500 public service employees of that city that an effort be made to relieve them of income tax obligations.

He points out that the average employee receiving a monthly salary of $300 or less is exempt under the law and infers that those receiving more than $300 a month should not feel disinclined to contribute to the support of government.

His statement follows:

"The public service employees, City of Los Angeles:

"I have received between 2500 and 3000 letters from employees of the municipal departments of public service requesting me to interest myself in their behalf in the tax bill now under consideration by the House in order that they might be relieved from the payment of the income tax. Manifestly, it is impossible for me to reply to this correspondence. I am taking this opportunity to reply through the courtesy of The Times.

"The public employees who have written me in regard to the matter have been taken care of quite completely in the bill in another way. We may assume that the average man is married and has at least one child. This would give an exemption from all income tax to every man receiving a salary of $300 a month and less; that is, a man so situated with an income of $300 a month pays no income tax. I take it that a great majority of the men and women who have written me in regard to the matter are receiving less than $300 a month and therefore will not be required to pay an income tax. I am sure those receiving above this amount will not feel that there is any reason why they should be denied the privilege of contributing to the support of their government.

SPUDS PAY DEBT ON NEW CHURCH

Contributions of Potatoes Wipes Out Incumbrance on House of Worship

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

IDAHO FALLS (Idaho), Dec. 16.—Contributions of potatoes have lifted the mortgage from the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, one of the finest in the Helena conference district, which includes Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. The edifice, which cost $90,000, was freed of incumbrance yesterday.

For three years committees have canvassed country districts, collecting sacks of potatoes which were sold and the money turned into the mortgage fund.

OPPOSITION OF JOHNSON OVERRIDDEN

Senate Favors McCamant for Judgeship in Face of Objections

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Over the objection of Senator Johnson, Republican, of California, a Senate judiciary subcommittee today at an executive session agreed to favorably report the nomination of Wallace McCamant of Oregon, to be circuit judge of the Ninth United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

McCamant has been credited with being partly responsible for getting President Coolidge into national politics by insisting upon his nomination for Vice-President at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1920. At that time Senator Johnson accused McCamant of violating instructions from his State to support him on the national ticket.

The subcommittee will report to a full committee Monday. If the committee accepts the report of the subcommittee, the California Senator probably will oppose confirmation of the nomination at an executive session of the Senate.

Senator Johnson appeared today before the subcommittee in executive session and is reported to have objected to the confirmation of McCamant's nomination.

Human Race in Infancy Still, Lodge Believes

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The human race still is in its infancy and may have millions of years before it on this planet, Sir Oliver Lodge, the eminent scientist, declared today in a lecture on evolution at Christ Church, Westminster.

While reiterating the contention he made recently in a similar lecture that man is descended from other animal forms, he said that human beings were immortal and had a great destiny before them.

He indicated his belief in communion with an unseen world when he said, "We are surrounded by a host of helpers with whom indeed I know that it is possible to have communion."

FASCISTS JAILED FOR DEATH PLOT

Conspiracy to Assassinate Stresemann Uncovered in Berlin

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Dec. 16. — A plot against the life of Gustav Stresemann, Foreign Minister, has been unearthed. The police have arrested two German Fascists named Kaltdorff and Lorenz, who will be charged with plotting the assassination of the Minister.

Kaltdorff and Lorenz sought an accomplice in a Munich attorney, whom they believed to be in sympathy with their plan, but he led them into a police trap. The examining judge expressed the belief that the plot was seriously premeditated.

The Vossische Zeitung asserts that Kaltdorff confessed himself an active adherent of Adolph Hitler, who was leader of the memorable "beer-garden revolt" at Munich, while Lorenz asserted that he was a member of the Nationalist party.

The Vossische Zeitung also charges that the "jingo press and political parties of the Right inspired the plot by repeated references to Stresemann as a criminal and a traitor, who by means of the Locarno Pact was about to immortalize the disgrace of Versailles."

The Foreign Office minimizes the seriousness of the plot, designating it as a brainstorm of irresponsible youths.

Ford's Fiddler to Edify Boston in Stage Debut

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Dec. 16.—Mellie Dunham, fiddler extraordinary, who has maintained his amateur standing for seventy-two years, will make his professional debut here Monday. It was decided that the aged fiddler, who signed a contract last night with the Keith-Albee interests, would make his first stage appearance on that day.

Maine's champion fiddler and snowshoe-maker, who became known nationally when Henry Ford invited him to Michigan to play his old-fashioned dance tunes, reached Boston on an early-morning train.

The background for the fiddler's act had not been decided upon, but it was believed he would appear in a scene representing an old-fashioned New England interior. He will play some of the waltzes and hornpipes which delighted Henry Ford when the manufacturer entertained the maine fiddler and his wife at Dearborn, Mich.

FORESTERS CITE NEED OF TIMBER PRACTICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MADISON (Wis.) Dec. 16.—Actual forest practice by timber owners is needed to solve the forestry problem, the executive committee of the Society of American Foresters reported at the annual convention here today. The Clarke-McNary Act, authorizing Federal co-operation in protection against fires and other aid, is insufficient, the report presented by Samuel T. Dana, president, stated.

MISTLETOE TOO PREVALENT

State Forester Urges Use More Promiscuously For Holidays

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 16.—Use more mistletoe, is the timely advice of State Forester Pratt to Californians about to decorate their homes for Christmas.

While not exactly prepared to go the length of promoting a mistletoe week to compete with bread week, raisin week and be-kind-to-animals week, State forestry officials recognize the fact that mistletoe is a menace in the forest.

The mistletoe used in California is a parasite, the seeds of which are carried about by birds and squirrels from tree to tree, and the presence of which hampers the tree's growth. Hence every kiss under the mistletoe this year will be a blow for forest conservation.

Speaker at Pan-American Congress Says U. S. Would Prefer Ban on Immigration

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The United States was praised today by Canadian delegates to the Pan-American Congress.

George Wilson, vice-president of the Toronto Board of Trade and an official of the Royal Bankers of Canada, said Canadians regard Canadian exemption from quota provisions of the United States immigration law as a "left-handed compliment." At the same time he criticised the United States tariff.

"I think I can summarize Canadian sentiment by saying that we would much prefer bars against our population than against our products," Mr. Wilson said.

Case R. Howard of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the other delegate, speaking on "Brotherhood Between Nations," said he believed that fraternity is possible.

"It does work and has been working successfully for some time," he asserted. "This is a pretty broad statement to make, but in looking back over the years it seems to me that the United States and Canada with their invisible border line have made it go."

Although there has been distrust of the United States among the Latin-American countries this

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—More than seventy persons were arrested here late today in raids on assumed horse race-track betting. Those raided were charged with registering bets on horse races. Evidence found in the places was used on charges of maintaining a place where gambling. Most of the places were pool rooms, police said. The arrests were made by the first blow in the drive against bookmaking in the city.

A Tremendous Price Reduction

On January 7, 1926, Dodge Brothers, Incorporated, will announce a tremendous reduction in the prices of their complete line of motor cars.

These reductions will apply on all cars bought after midnight December 15, 1925.

When the new prices are made known on January 7th the full amount of the reductions will be immediately refunded to all purchasers since December 15th.

These revolutionary reductions are made possible by a recently completed ten million dollar expansion program—new buildings and equipment that will nearly double the capacity of Dodge Brothers factories in 1926.

There is no change in the policy upon which Dodge Brothers established their leadership eleven years ago—the policy of constant improvement without yearly models.

GOULD FORTUNE IN TWO ACTIONS

Seven Children Win Splits of $4,000,000

Appeal by Three Denied Shares Likely

Accounting on $200,000,000 Rail Loss Sought

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The Gould millions, accumulated by the late Jay Gould, figured in two court actions today.

In one, the New York Supreme Court returned a judgment in favor of the seven children of the late George Jay Gould, son of the founder of the fortune, whereby they are to receive his share of $4,000,000 from his father's estate, while the other was a continuation of the suit brought by 6000 minority stockholders of the Gould Denver and Rio Grande Railroad for an accounting of $200,000,000 alleged to have been lost by the directors.

An appeal from the $4,000,000 judgment is considered likely since, in effect, it denied the claims of the three children of George J. Gould by his second wife, Miss Guinerve Sinclair Gould, to a share in the estate. A special expense fund of $2,800,000 was reserved under the Supreme Court's decision for taxes, attorneys' fees and other expenses. The court will pass later in a separate judgment on the alleged mismanagement of his father's estate by George Jay Gould.

Finley J. Shepard, husband of Helen Gould, who was a sister of the late George J. Gould, was a witness today in the railway suit. Mr. Shepard was examined in regard to the financial relations between the Denver and Rio Grande and the Western Pacific railways. He will be cross-examined tomorrow. The suit hinges on an alleged first mortgage on the Western Pacific for a $50,000,000 bond issue of which the Denver and Rio Grande, by a trackage arrangement, was obligated to pay the interest.

Mr. Shepard testified that United States Senator Elihu Root had prepared a written agreement for the bankers involved about December 16, 1916, in an effort to settle the controversy over the liability of the Denver and Rio Grande.

NATION SEEN AS ARMS ARBITER

Success of Conference Put Up to America

Paul Boncour Holds Yankee Help Indispensable

Expert Says Study Must Include All Branches

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Dec 15.—The success of international disarmament depends in great measure on whether the United States collaborates, Paul Boncour declared tonight to the Associated Press correspondent, when asked his opinion regarding the prospects of disarmament.

M. Boncour, like Lord Cecil, has played a predominant role in the League of Nations disarmament plans. His draft program of study was his basis of the program approved by the League Council and he expressed tonight extreme gratification that even German newspapers praised this program as the first positive plan elaborated as a basis for disarmament negotiations.

"The fact that we have fixed a definite program on such a complicated and perplexing subject," he said, "is the first guarantee of our success."

M. Boncour speaks with authority. He is a member of the League of Nations disarmament council, replaces M. Briand on the main Council of the League and is president of the French Council for the Study of National Defense.

AMERICAN ACTION VITAL

Developing his declaration concerning the United States he said he believed that the participation of the United States is indispensable.

"England," he went on "for reasons which are quite comprehensible, is not disposed to treat on naval disarmament in the absence of America. Also, France cannot discuss land armaments if at the same time problems touching naval air armaments are not considered, because naval and aerial questions are closely linked with the land problems of countries like France, which are simultaneously continental and maritime and cannot admit disassociation of the two questions as easily as England, whose defense rests particularly on a powerful fleet.

"In the case of France a big proportion of our land forces is stationed, even recruited in North Africa; therefore, the possibility of France reducing her armaments in France proper depends mainly on the security of the French naval communications in the Mediterranean."

URGES FULL DISCUSSION

He questioned whether naval powers like Great Britain and the United States can themselves reasonably disassociate the study of naval and aerial armaments when every day it is more and more evident that aircraft are becoming a more important element in the actual strength of navies. Any attempt, therefore, to study land disarmament separately from naval disarmament and naval from air, seems quite impossible.

"France cannot deal with these three problems separately at different conferences," he said. "If England refuses to discuss naval disarmament in the absence of the United States, then the success of the great undertaking of the disarmament conference almost entirely at the present moment depends on the American attitude."

COOLIDGE CONFERS ON BID TO PARLEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg conferred at length today on the invitation from the League of Nations asking the United States to participate in a limitation of armaments conference. No decision regarding the reply which will be made to the invitation was made public, but it is believed the whole matter will be referred to Congress for decision. While the President is sympathetic to any movement which will hurry disarmament, administration leaders say he will not approve American participation without giving careful study to all the circumstances surrounding the proposed conference.

BRITAIN TO DELAY AIR DEFENSE PROGRAM

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Sir Samuel Hoare, head of the Air Ministry, announced in a speech in the Chelsea Townhall tonight that Great Britain will postpone fulfillment of her present air defense program in view of the clearer and more peaceful European skies resulting from the Locarno agreements. "If other nations will follow this example," he said, "all the governments will be enabled to avoid in the years to come a race in armaments far more disastrous than the word has ever endured."

London and Berlin Sway to Strains Broadcast from America

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Thousands of persons in Europe danced early this morning (European time) to the strains of jazz broadcast from the United States.

Associated Press dispatches from London and Berlin tell of men and women in hotels and supper clubs of English and continental cities tripping the light fantastic to syncopated strains from 3000 miles away.

Dance numbers were carried from the Waldorf-Astoria in New York to WGY in Schenectady, and re-broadcast. KDKA, Pittsburgh, broadcast a program of its own at the request of the British Broadcasting Company which conducted the European end of the test.

The dispatches from Europe did not mention receipt of the music from WGY but did report excellent results from KDKA.

The music was picked up at the British company's station at Daventry, England, and then re-broadcast throughout Europe.

As London is five hours ahead of New York time, special permission was obtained for the Hotel Savoy there to remain open long enough to hear the American music. Then for 15 minutes, they, and thousands of others in Europe, danced to the music from across the Atlantic.

Slight Increase in Employment During Month

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—A slight increase in employment during November, amounting to two-tenths of one per cent, was indicated today by the Labor Department monthly survey of the nation's leading industries. The index of employment was placed at 92.5 against 92.3 during October.

The figures were compiled from reports from 9405 employing establishments, in 53 different industries, which employ 2,937,884 workers. Practically all lines of employment showed slight gains, except for the seasonal industries whose operations are normally curtailed during the late fall months.

RAILWAY MAN STRICKEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—Frank L. Chapin, general manager of the San Jose Railroads and the Peninsula Electric Railroads, subsidiaries of the Southern Pacific Company, was stricken with paralysis in a restaurant here today and taken to a hospital, where he is reported to be in a critical condition.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, Diciembre 16.—Se discutió en el senado el asunto de las deudas extranjeras.

La cámara aprobó ya las cuotas sobre herencias, del proyecto de ley de ingresos.

Ambas partes han dado ya por terminadas sus diligencias en el consejo de guerra del coronel Mitchell.

La destitución de los republicanos insurgentes fué aprobada por la cámara.

Ha votado el senado el proyecto de ley de Bingham sobre aviación comercial.

Nuevo Ministro de Hacienda Francés

PARIS, Diciembre 16.—Paul Doumer, presidente de comisión de Hacienda del senado, aceptó esta noche la cartera de Hacienda en el gabinete de Briand. Al salir del Qual d'Orsay dijo el señor Doumer lo siguiente:

"Después de haber conferenciado con los líderes de partidos del senado y de la cámara, y con los presidentes de las respectivas comisiones hacendarias, creo poder presentar proyectos fiscales para reformas de impuestos, que resulten aceptables para ambas cámaras. No tengo pensado hacer reformas radicales, sino adoptar tan sólo las más severas medidas para asegurar la recaudación de las contribuciones votadas hasta la fecha, multando fuertemente a quienes las eludan.

"Creo podrán obtenerse los suficientes ingresos adicionales mediante el funcionamiento eficaz de las actuales tarifas de impuestos, y de las nuevas medidas que han de adoptárse para vencer las dificultades, y juzgo que, con la reducción de ciertas partidas de egresos, podremos asegurar el equilibrio."

Reaccionó favorablemente el franco esta mañana con la dimisión del señor Loucheur; pero se debilitó de nuevo está tarde, cerrando a 28 francos, 50 céntimos por dólar. Anoche había cerrado a 28 francos, 38 céntimos.

Un Mozalbete de 15 Años Tiene Aterrorizado a un Pueblo

YELLVILLE (Arkansas), Diciembre 16.—En la cárcel del condado de Marion, ubicada en está población, se hallaba hoy sentado un muchachillo, repasando en la mente sus aventuras de la noche más de una semana, en tanto que los residentes del pueblecito de Buffalo, al Este de aquí, daban gracias al cielo por haber terminado toda una serie de actos de violencia. El muchacho, que se llama Arnold Comer, y que dice tener "como 13 a 14 años", ha confesado ser autor de una serie de actos delictivos, que culminó el domingo con los asesinatos de tres personas. El criminal rapaz se hallaba dormido cuando una brigada del sheriff lo aprehendió. Tenía a su lado cuatro pistolas, una escopeta y un montón de municiones.

La noche del miércoles, dinque por no estar contento en su casa, se salió de esta Comer, llevándose una pistola, con la que tira muy bien. El jueves entró en un cortijo y se apoderó de $17.50 y de una escopeta. La noche de ese mismo día, saqueó una tienda y aumentó su armamento. La noche del viernes, en busca de alimentos, se llegó a una casa de la montaña: pero amedrentado al ver que un hombre abría la puerta, no entró, sino que se contentó con disparar su escopeta, hiriendo al hombre, a la esposa de éste, y a su criatura. El herido desapareció en la oscuridad.

El domingo, urgido por el hambre, se aproximó el muchacho de la casa donde vivía la señora Tom Boyd con su nietecita, mató a la anciana a tiros y golpes—no sabe él mismo por qué—y luego mató al bebé porque lloraba.

NOTAS LOCALES

Phylis Haver Demandada por Daños y Perjuicios

Phylis Haver, actriz de cine, ha sido demandada por $80,000 de daños y perjuicios, en juicio entablado ayer en Omaha (Nebraska), por Nels H. Nelson, comisionista de fruta en la citada ciudad. En la demanda se acusa a la señorita Haver de falsedad en lo que respecta a la renta que aseguró dejaba un inmueble que vendió a Nelson por conducto de un agente. Se trata de una casa de apartamientos en Glendale, que, al decir del escrito de demanda, ha estado produciendo nada más $600 de renta mensual desde que la adquirió Nelson, en tanto que se le había asegurado al comprador que produciría $1130 al mes.

La señora Mollie Malone, madre de la actriz, fué la primera en saber por "The Times" lo del juicio. Dijo que ella es socia de su hija en sus operaciones sobre propiedad raíz, y que no puede comprender como ha podido ser demandada la señorita Haver en este juicio; que a su modo de ver ha habido un error.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

NUMERO 119

A mi ver, debe de haber sido el estruendo y fiebre del tráfico, y las movedizas masas de niebla, lo que hizo pensar a Sam en una antigua historia que había leído de Leandro (I think it must have been the roar and rush of traffic and the rolling clouds of fog that made Sam think of an old story he had read of Leander)—un héroe que cruzó a nado una gran masa de agua impetuosa y salvaje llamada el Hellesponto (a hero who swam a great, rushing, wild mass of water called the Hellespont), para llegar hasta una hermosa señora de nombre Hero, que vivía en una torre del otro lado (to reach a fair lady named Hero, who lived in a tower on the other side).

Al desembocar Sam en el Strand, que era entonces y es todavía una de las calles de Londres más llenas de gente, y de tráfico más ensordecedor (as Sam came out upon the Strand, that was then and is now one of the most crowded, rumbling, rushing streets of London), comenzó a relatarse el cuento a sí mismo en voz muy baja y a hacer que nadaba (he began to tell the story to himself under his breath and to pretend to swim).

WATCHES WORN AS ORNAMENTS

Corsage Timepiece Takes Place of Popular Wristlets

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Corsage watches have displaced wristlets in the fashionable shops of New Bond street. They are shown in rainbow effects worked out in all sorts of precious and semi-precious stones.

The watches are decorations first and timekeeping is a secondary consideration. Tiny watches are set in brilliant animals and flowers crusted with emeralds and rubies.

Others are concealed in pendants of rock crystal set with onyx, diamonds and emeralds.

Wedding Called Off Without Explanation While Fashionable Set Gathers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 16.—Society from all sections of the United States still was "waiting at the church" tonight while seeking in vain for an explanation of the cancellation this morning of the wedding of Miss Mildred Dern, Salt Lake City, and Harold Nester, Geneva, N. Y., both socially prominent, one hour before the ceremony was to have begun.

Neither the intended bride nor bridegroom appeared at the St. Francis Chapel, Balboa Park, where the marriage had been set for this morning. The only attendants at the chapel were social leaders from San Diego, Coronado, New York, Boston, Chicago, Utah, San Francisco, Hollywood, Los Angeles and Long Beach. They had started for the chapel from their homes or hotels before the dispatch of telephone messages to them that the wedding was not to be.

The only explanation available to the mystified and waiting representatives of society was contained in the statement of Mrs Fred C. Dern, mother of the bride that was to have been, that "the wedding has been cancelled definitely. The young people themselves agreed this morning to disagree. The wedding will not be held at any time in the future. Further than this there is nothing to be said."

Miss Dern, niece of Gov. Dern of Utah, and Nester, met two years ago while they were on a trip around the world.

Stock Issue of Bay City Store on Sale Today

An issue of 72,000 shares of no par value capital stock of the Emporium Corporation, San Francisco, will be offered today by a syndicate headed by Lehman Brothers, Mercantile Securities Company of California and Strassburger & Co. of San Francisco, at $34 a share.

The Emporium Corporation owns, through a subsidiary, The Emporium, a leading department store of San Francisco. Net earnings of The Emporium, after dividends on preferred stock and provision for Federal income taxes, were $1,134,814 for the year ended January 31, last.

For the current year net earnings are estimated at $1,250,000. Sales for the current year are estimated at approximately $15,000,000. It is the intention of the directors of the company to place the stock of the Emporium Corporation upon a $2 dividend basis.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR CITY SEEN BY GIRARD

"The greatest business project in the world is the development of Los Angeles county," said Victor Girard, community builder, to a group of 150 salesmen and women in discussing the future of Southern California. "Everything we have here is marketable and worth full value, and it bears potentials for large profits.

"There is no part of this great country which is not a good investment and salable to the world. All we need do is keep going straight ahead, as we have all the qualifications which go to make up a metropolitan community, and in addition we have some which no other community has in the right combination—climate, raw materials, year-around seasons, proximity to new trade lanes and a large supply of cheap hydroelectric power, among the most important."

Mr. Girard told his audience that, despite many pessimistic beliefs to the contrary, Los Angeles business has been normal, even in the real estate line, and that as a whole production and bank clearings have increased. He cited Chamber of Commerce figures to show that production of manufacturers would be $50,000,000 greater than last year, and that the value of export shipping is considerably greater and of higher quality, and that bank clearings in the first eleven months surpassed in totals the amount for all of last year.

"Money has been flowing freely in Los Angeles this year which means that people have been buying as well as selling and thereby circulating the cash upon which we all live," he said. "Credit may be the backbone of business but cash keeps the wheels rolling."

COAST HOTEL MAN DIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN JOSE, Dec. 16.—Fred W. Tegeler, owner of the Vendome Hotel here and the Tegeler Hotel at Bakersfield, died here today. Tegeler was one of the well-known hotel men on the Pacific Coast. He was 57 years of age.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

SAN JUAN HERE FOR EARLY RUN

Arrival Announced by White Flyer Agent

Vessel to Ply in Freight and Passenger Trade

Sister Ship Humboldt to Lay Up for Overhaul

The passenger and freight streamer San Juan, bought from Panama Mail last week by the White Flyer line, will enter the latter's coastwise service at once, arriving at Los Angeles Harbor from San Francisco via Santa Barbara Monday, it was announced yesterday by J. H. Fay, district agent. The liner Humboldt, now maintaining the service, will go to San Francisco for overhaul following the entry of the San Juan, returning early in January when both vessels will ply in this trade, affording three trips weekly. At present the Humboldt has been arriving and departing every four days.

The San Juan was built in Pennsylvania in 1882. She is 283 feet long, 37 feet beam and 21 feet depth; has a freight carrying capacity of 1600 tons and passenger capacity of 98 first-class and 27 third-class travelers.

She operated in the Pacific Mail trade since built until the line vanished, and the Panama Mail came into being this summer.

TANKER TOWING BARGE HITS DREDGE

The Richfield Oil Company tanker Richfield, towing the barge Rioco I, collided with the San Pedro Dredging Company's dredge Mariposa while proceeding up Cerritos Channel yesterday in the loading station at Long Beach. The tanker struck the dredge a glancing blow, but pulled off and apparently was uninjured. The dredge was slightly damaged. The latter is engaged in deepening and widening the channel at that point to 300 feet wide and thirty-three feet deep.

Local officers of the Standard Oil Company of California were without information on reports from Victoria that the little tanker H. F. Harper had lost her rudder and was wandering in a heavy sea 2000 miles from San Francisco, en route there from Australia. The tanker is due in the Bay City the 22nd inst., and will probably be commanded by H. F. Sullivan and has a crew of thirty-three men aboard. This is her second round trip with 30,000 barrels of refined products to the Antipodes from Los Angeles Harbor.

Reports were current at the harbor yesterday that the tanker Dayton had sunk in North Pacific waters, but officials of the Olympic Tanker Company, owners, denied knowledge of any accident to the vessel and declared that the vessel left here several days ago and should be in Seattle.

Winfield Thompson, director of publicity for the International Mercantile Marine Company, passed through Los Angeles Harbor yesterday from San Francisco, en route to San Diego, whence he will return to his New York home. Mr. Fay and Thompson came around from Gotham on the Belgenland, which he left in San Francisco, returning here to visit a number of old friends. He has the responsibility of keeping the names of more than 100 ships in the minds of the traveling public, at a cost, including advertising and printing, of almost $1,000,000 yearly.

The shipping fraternity, which has taken to golf at the harbor, is expanding by the "Philly" route. Ed Richfield, who has been recognized as the champion marathon devotee of the links Confessing his golfing woes last-a-field clubs Tuesday night at the San Pedro Golf and Country Club recently established its 18-hole seaside course.

Richfield shot 43 here. His estimate he chased the pill thirty miles, incidentally taking the scalps of W. P. Tanner, G. H. Heaphy, F. D. Foote and Tracy Gaffey.

Two more Christmas ships, the last to bring in such holiday goods are due in port today from far distant sources. The German steamer Hamlet is from Honduras, via Central America, where she picked up bananas while the Hague Maru is from the Orient, bound for New York, after dropping 700 tons here.

According to the Shipping Register, four steamers of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, operating to this port from British Columbia, are to be converted from coal to oil-burners. The Canadian Farmer is at Prince Rupert undergoing alterations, and will be followed by the Canadian Coaster, Canadian Observer and the Canadian Rover.

FINANCIAL

PERRIN TO QUIT POST, IS RUMOR

Federal Reserve Agent to Retire from Office

Expect Announcement When Successor is Chosen

Los Angeles Man May Get Position Vacated

John Perrin, chairman of the board and Federal reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, has handed his resignation to the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, D. C., according to reports reaching Los Angeles yesterday. It is believed that the formal announcement will not be made by the board in Washington until a successor to Mr. Perrin can be appointed.

Rumors current in the financial district here suggest that the Federal Reserve Board is considering the appointment of a Los Angeles man to succeed Mr. Perrin. This supposition is given credence through the fact that, with Mr. Perrin's resignation, Los Angeles will be left without representation on the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

Mr. Perrin was appointed chairman of the board and Federal Reserve agent of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District at the time the Federal Reserve System became operative in 1914, and has successfully handled the administrative affairs of the institution since that time. Mr. Perrin's plans for the future are not known.

MANY YEARS BANKER

Before becoming associated with the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, Mr. Perrin was a member of the investment banking firm of Drake, Riley and Thomas, serving with that organization from the time of its inception in the fall of 1912. Prior to coming to the Pacific Coast, Mr. Perrin was president of the American National Bank of Indianapolis, Ind., now known as the Fletcher American National Bank. His home is in Pasadena.

In accordance with provisions of the Federal Reserve Act, nomination of candidates for the position of Class A and Class B director of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco to fill terms expiring on the 31st inst., has been completed by the member banks of the district, the polls having closed on the 7th inst. Announcement of the successful directors is expected shortly from the Federal Reserve Board.

Of the nine directors of this district, three terms of three expire on the 31st inst., one in each of the three classes A, B and C. The Class A directors elected by the member banks with a capital and surplus of $600,000 and over, are usually bankers. The Class B directors, elected by the member banks of less than $600,000 capital and surplus, must be engaged in commerce, agriculture or some other industrial pursuit. The Class C directors are designated by the Federal Reserve Board in Washington and cannot be an officer, director, employee or stockholder of any bank.

ELECT NEW DIRECTORS

C. K. McIntosh, of the Bank of California of San Francisco, is the retiring director of Class A; E. H. Cox, agriculturist of Madera, is the retiring director of Class B, and William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific, is the retiring director of Class C. Mr. Cox was re-elected and in all probability Mr. Sproule will be designated by the board in Washington to succeed himself. It is possible that Mr. McIntosh will also be re-elected.

The Los Angeles branch directors, consisting of seven, are chosen each year, four by the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco and the other three by the board in Washington. It was stated here that local directors probably will be reappointed.

Other directors of the Twelfth Reserve District and the date of term expirations are as follows: Class A—J. S. MacDonnell, president of the First National Bank of Pasadena, December 31, 1926; Howard Whipple, president of First National Bank, Turlock, December 31, 1927. Class B—A. B. C. Dohrmann, Dohrmann Commercial Company, San Francisco, December 31, 1926; William T. Sesnon, San Francisco, December 31, 1927. Class C—John Perrin, chairman of board, December 31, 1926; Walton N. Moore of Walton N. Moore Dry Goods Company, San Francisco, December 31, 1927.

M'FADDEN TILT FORECAST

Branch Bankers May Leave Federal Reserve if Expansion Restricted; Georgia Threatens

BY EARLE E. CROWE

When the McFadden banking bill comes up for consideration in the lower house in the present session of Congress, the promise is for a thorough airing of the entire question of branch banking. In the last session the branch bankers preferred to withhold the full strength of their arguments until the bill came up before the Senate, when they were successful in killing it in committee. This time, so it is intimated, the proponents of the measure will not have such an easy time in the House.

In the front rank of the opposition is found the branch bankers of California, several of whom recently traveled to Washington to present their views to Secretary Mellon. The delegation included Henry M. Robinson, president First National Bank and chairman Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank; J. F. Sartori, president, and Edward Elliott, vice-president Security Trust and Savings Bank, and John S. Drum, vice-president Mercantile Trust Company of California.

PROTEST SUPPORT

In their audience with Secretary Mellon, Mr. Elliot said yesterday that the California bankers explained their views concerning the provisions in the bill to restrict branch banking and protested against the apparent support of the bill by the administration. Such an impression is given, they pointed out, by the active sponsorship of the McFadden proposals on the part of the Comptroller of Currency.

From some of the other States permitting State-wide branch banking is coming opposition of a determined nature. It is understood that one bank in Georgia, which is State-wide in scope, has flatly announced its intention to withdraw from the Federal reserve system if the McFadden bill passes in its present form. Heretofore this course of action has been more of a veiled threat, but now it seems that some of the branch bankers are ready to take this decisive step, if necessary.

Throughout the controversy on the McFadden bill, the State bankers have protested against the clauses that seek to restrict the establishment of branches by members of the Federal reserve system. They contend that their charter rights were guaranteed when they joined the Federal reserve, and that the McFadden clauses are in direct violation of this agreement. Because they believe in the Federal reserve system, the State banks have retained their memberships, even at a large cost, but some of them are now seriously considering withdrawal if the right to expand is denied.

SYSTEM THREATENED

If this threat is actually made in the Congressional hearings, it undoubtedly will give the McFadden party cause for serious thought. State banks represent an important proportion of the Federal reserve membership, and the withdrawal of a substantial number might signal the gradual decline of the system as the backbone of the nation's banking structure.

Since its establishment, the large branch-bank systems operating under State charter have remained loyal members of the Federal reserve at a heavy cost. No interest is allowed on reserves kept on deposit, which means a loss of several hundred thousand dollars annually to these banks. None of the large California branch systems is using the rediscount facilities of the Federal reserve to any extent, but at the same time they feel it is their duty to support what they regard as an admirable banking system. But it is a different matter when it is proposed to use membership in the system to curtail the right to establish branches throughout the State.

MERGER IS EXAMPLE

What can be done outside of the Federal reserve and what may occur is glimpsed in the recently announced consolidation of the Liberty Bank of San Francisco and the Bank of America of Los Angeles. Neither of these banks is a member of the Federal reserve, and presumably the consolidated bank will not seek entrance. Operating outside of the Federal reserve, this State-wide bank is in a position to continue its expansion program, subject only to the supervision of the Superintendent of Banking.

The consolidated Bank of America-Liberty Bank is an institution with $58,000,000 in resources and $52,000,000 in deposits. The operation of many banks of this size outside of the Federal reserve indicates how seriously the prestige and importance of the Federal reserve system would be threatened.

Whether this weapon will be used by the California branch bankers has not been announced, but it is certain that it will appear somewhere in the arguments when the bill comes before the House. Nine States permit State-wide branch systems and there are bankers in each State who are closely identified with the McFadden opposition. Undoubtedly some of them will have something to say on this point and the probabilities are that the statements will profoundly affect consideration of the McFadden bill.

REALTY BONDS OFFERED TODAY

Financing for Apartment and Office Building Out

Sun Realty Company Building Liens on Market Here

Straus Announces Securities for "Haddon Hall"

New real estate financing, scheduled for public offering in Los Angeles today, includes an issue of $1,000,000 new Sun Realty Company Building first mortgage leasehold 6½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds, due November 1, 1945, and an issue of $250,000 first mortgage 6 1-4 per cent serial coupon bonds, secured by the land and a new four-story apartment and store building to be erected at the southwest corner of West Eighth and Fedora streets, Los Angeles.

Financing of the new Sun Realty Company Building is being arranged by the Union Bank and Trust Company, E. H. Rollins & Sons, Hunter, Dulin & Co., Alvin H. Frank & Co., and Peirce, Fair & Co., and will be offered today at 100 and accrued interest to yield more than 6½ per cent.

The bonds will be the direct obligation of the Sun Realty Company, which has enjoyed success in acquiring and improving numerous leaseholds on strategic corners throughout the business district. Security behind the first mortgage is represented by a valuable leasehold interest in the real property situated on the northeast corner of Seventh and Flower streets, together with the limit-height Class "A" steel frame office and store building which the company proposes to erect thereon. The cost of the building, exclusive of carrying charges, will amount to $1,736,775.

BUILDING PLANS

The building proposed will be of approved design, with twelve stories and two basements. There will be 11,500 square feet of rentable store space on the ground floor with 93,700 square feet of rentable office space above. The basements, with a wide entrance on Flower street will contain a garage capable of accommodating not less than 100 cars. Five high-speed elevators with the latest automatic signal controls will serve both building and garage from the lobby entrance to the building on Seventh street.

According to an appraisal the annual net earnings from the building are estimated to be $184,292, or more than 2.75 times the largest annual interest payment and approximately two times the average annual interest and sinking fund payments. In addition to the above the Sun Realty Company earned $360,924.55 net for the twelve months ending December 31, 1924. The consolidated earnings of the Sun Realty Company and Sun Finance and Investment Company for the twelve months ending December 31, 1925, will be $669,794 before deduction for Federal taxes (two months estimated.)

APARTMENT LIENS

The four-story apartment and store building securities will be offered today by S. W. Straus & Co. The property fronts 270 feet by 99 feet extending from Fedora street to Kenmore avenue directly across West Eighth street from the grounds of the Ambassador Hotel. The building to be known as "Haddon Hall" is especially designed to meet a demand in the Wilshire district for exclusive apartments of small units. The completed property is appraised at $453,000.

New financing announced and offered yesterday included an issue of 10,000 shares of Pacific Finance Corporation 6½ per cent cumulative preferred stock, an issue of 100,000 shares no par value common stock of the Jaeger Machine Company of Columbus, O. The Pacific Finance preferred stock was offered by a syndicate headed by Hunter, Dulin & Co., and George H. Burr, Conrad & Broom, Inc., at $100 a share yielding 6.50 per cent. The issue of Jaeger common stock was offered by a syndicate headed by Otis & Co., at $25 a share.

CURTIS COMPANY TO CUT STOCK MELON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16.—The stockholders of the Curtis Publishing Company today approved an increase in the preferred stock from 200,000 shares to 900,000 shares of no par value and the proportionate distribution of 700,000 shares of the new preferred to common stockholders.

MERGER OF UTILITIES IN EAST IS PLAN

Investment Bankers Buy Minority Stock Interest in Copley Firm

Minority stock interest in Copley Utilities, Inc., has been purchased by E. H. Rollins & Sons and A. E. Fitkin & Co., and plans are being perfected for the consolidation of the company with the Western United Corporation. Special meeting of Western United Corporation stockholders has been called for the 25th inst., to vote on the proposed merger.

The plan of merger calls for the exchange of one share of 6½ per cent preferred of the consolidated company for each share of 6 per cent preferred of the Western United Corporation, one and one-thirteenth shares of new 6½ per cent preferred for each share of old 6½ per cent preferred, one and two-thirteenths shares of new 6½ per cent preferred for each share of old 7 per cent preferred, and one and four-thirteenths shares of new 6½ per cent preferred for each share of old 8 per cent preferred.

Holders of the common stock will be given the option of receiving $200 a share in cash for each share or two shares of 6½ preferred and one-half share of no par value class A common, bearing a small dividend. Holders of the preferred also have the option of selling their holdings for cash at the price originally paid the company, plus accrued dividends and an extra half year's dividend.

The Western United Corporation holds control of Western United Gas and Electric Company, Aurora, Elgin and Fox River Electric Company and Southern Illinois Gas Company.

Copley Utilities, Inc., is a recently formed Illinois corporation, and holds some of the capital stock of Western United Corporation. President Copley will retain controlling interest and also be president of the new corporation.

Common Stock of Laundries Firm Offered

An issue of 125,000 shares of Consolidated Laundries Corporation, no par value common stock, is being offered by Bonner Brooks & Co., and Stevens, Page & Sterling, at $22 a share. This is a part of an authorized issue of 1,000,000 shares, of which 335,000 shares will be presently outstanding.

The Consolidated Laundries Corporation will be one of the largest laundry and linen supply systems in the United States. The principal business of the constituent company is carried on in Greater New York, and in addition the companies serve many of the most important cities and towns in Long Island and the State of New Jersey.

The laundry industry has shown steady development, statistics showing it has doubled every five years. It is today one of the most important in the country, at present ranking twelfth among the industries of the United States in volume of income.

AMERICAN GROUP IN DUTCH DEAL

Joint Ownership of East Indian Plantations Announced

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Driving an opening wedge into the rubber-producing industry of the Dutch East Indies, American banking interests, have closed arrangements to participate with The Netherlands on a partnership basis in developing rubber plantations.

The transaction involves the public offering here of securities of the Dutch-American Rubber Plantation Company, through Harvey Fisk & Sons, investment bankers, who will have representation in the management of the company. The initial offering in this market, which has already been fully subscribed, consists of 500,000 guilders in the form of Guaranty Trust Company depositary receipts at a price of 40 a share of 100 guilders. Albert Atwood to Address Life Underwriters

Albert W. Atwood, magazine writer on financial subjects, will address a dinner meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association of Los Angeles this evening at the Pacific Mutual Auditorium on the subject, "Financial Protection as Viewed by an Outsider." Charles E. Bent, president of the association, will preside at the meeting.

The program of the evening will include twenty minutes of music given through the courtesy of the Southern California Music Company. Following the musical program, a humorous address on "Foreign Exchange" will be given by Richard E. Smith, advertising manager of the Southern California Edison Company.

A capacity attendance is expected, according to a statement made yesterday by Spencer S. Cole, secretary of the association.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Financial markets showed a tendency to improve at the outset today, although rubber shares remained dull. Foreign stocks improved in response to the rally in French francs, which traced their improvement to the resignation of Louis Loucheur, Finance Minister.

Oils also were in good demand, while the German-Polish loan sold to a premium of almost 4 points.

Keen interest is shown in the meeting of shareholders of Vickers, Ltd., tomorrow to consider the reorganization scheme.

The monetary outlook remains unchanged, and in view of the end-of-the-year stringency, further capital flotations and the unsettled trend of foreign exchanges, stocks are likely to continue disturbed for a while, although any further decline in rubber shares would probably bring in fresh buying.

Armstrong has obtained a concession from the Federated Malay States to develop a hydroelectric power scheme on the Perak River. It will involve the purchase here of a large amount of machinery.

Industry Showing Slow But Sure Recovery

Tanner Sees Definite Trend to Better Days

End of Crash Following War Believed Near

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Very striking evidence that the leather industry is slowly but surely getting back on its feet may be found in the interesting charts and elaborate statistical compilations in the office of Fraser M. Moffat, president of the Tanners' Council of America and official spokesman for an industry likely to command attention in the coming year.

Three or four years have been spent in working away from a condition born during the war and nourished in the inflationary period that followed. Enormous inventories were left on the hands of the industry from war-time, but, unwisely we now know, the industry was not willing to stop producing even then. It allowed itself to be drawn into the camp of the inflationists and to swell an already big supply of leather by continued heavy production. When the bubble broke in 1920 the leather industry was one of those hardest hit.

Reason for optimism may be found in the facts briefly stated that the leather industry finally has brought production within bounds and that consumption has been increased. For the current year output was held down approximately to the 1924 level, whereas consumption demand grew.

On this topic Mr. Moffat said to the writer today:

"Production of leather this year about equalled that of last year, but consumption has been somewhat greater, enabling us to draw down certain additional supplies from inventories that had existed earlier in the year. The close of the year finds us in very much more comfortable shape than twelve months ago and burdensome inventories have been reduced to normal proportions. Of course, the leather industry has cleaned house, and it has not been altogether a comfortable process. But the change that has been in progress during 1925 has brought satisfactory returns to a substantial proportion of the industry and we have put a year of progress behind us."

That the tanner must follow agricultural conditions closely, reckoning what the cattle herds may be in a given season, for example, will be apparent to anyone that knows how much raw material is needed in a year. During 1925 the leather industry consumed 25,000,000 cattle hides, 17,000,000 calf skins and 40,000,000 goat skins, not to mention a like number of sheep and lamb skins.

Roughly, 80 per cent of this raw material goes into the manufacture of shoes so that, to offset the effects of competition from leather substitutes, the tanners have endeavored to diversify the uses for their product. It is in the sole-leather field that trouble has come since 1920, but, the statistics show recovery is being made in that branch of the business.

FULL SWAY FOR GRAIN ACT

Chicago Board of Trade to Set Up Clearinghouse as Last Step in Plan to Regulate Trading in Futures

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—The reorganization program of the Chicago Board of Trade is now ready to be rounded out with the establishment of a clearing-house early in January. This is the last of the changes in official supervision of grain trading which came with passage of the Grain Futures Act, the board's own internal house-cleaning, and the suggestions of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The clearinghouse, advocated by many of the members of the board, especially those out of town, was adopted upon the suggestion of the Secretary of Agriculture and the board's committee has been working out plans for several months. The machinery is now ready to function starting early in January, beginning with one of the lesser commodities on the board and gradually working up to the corn and wheat transactions. Experience with the smaller volume of less active grains is expected to perfect the system for handling trades in wheat, which, in periods of great activity, sometimes run as high as 150,000,000 bushels a day on the books of all the members of the board. Joseph Simons is president of the clearinghouse.

The chief of the three reorganization measures adopted by the board this fall to stabilize the market and check frenzied speculation, such as set the market pit wild last winter, was the appointment of a business conduct committee, which has been at work for two months.

The business conduct committee has unlimited powers to investigate, control or discipline members of the board and is backed by the new rule vesting in the board of directors the power to declare an emergency during which price ranges shall be restricted to a specified price above or below the last sale of the previous day.

The three members of this committee, who are pledged not to speculate for themselves, work in close co-operation with the grain futures administration officials in endeavoring to keep the market really representative of supply and demand.

The privilege of voting by mail, given out-of-town members of the board, is the third of the trio of measures adopted by the board in the hope of widening the circle of sound business judgment on which the grain trade's policies might be founded.

"In so far as by human means it is possible to stabilize the grain market these measures will do it," said L. F. Gates, former president of the board, and chairman of the committee which developed the three measures adopted by the Legislature.

"The business conduct committee is now quietly active in co-operation with the grain futures administration to prevent abuses whether by members or nonmembers of the board.

"The power to declare an emergency when trading must cease for that day after prices pass a certain fixed range is the second line of defense, vested in the board of directors. The right to declare such an emergency, it is thought, will not be needed frequently. It is not an effort to fix a limit beyond which prices shall not go, but to curb wild fluctuations and steady the market.

"The mail votes privilege brings in the advice of some of the most experienced men in the grain trade, millers, elevator men, export dealers and so on, who seldom had a chance to vote in person."

Liverpool Drop, Hedges and Resales Send Prices Down Sharply

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Most of the sharp rally of 35 to 40 points in cotton prices established in the late trading yesterday on a movement against the shorts was lost today on considerable reselling, more Southern hedge selling and Liverpool's failure to respond to the advance.

Trading was only moderately active, as incentives continued absent for the development of any important new outside investment or speculative buying, and there was no disposition among the local bull interests who were active in helping the advance of late yesterday to support the market.

Prices started 5 to 10 points lower and declined gradually 2 to 35 points throughout the list by midday, January receding to near 18 5-8, March to 18.90, May to 18.68, July near 18 3-8 and October of the new crop again going below the 18-cent level.

Resting buying orders of a scale-down character in the hands of local trade commission houses and some moderate buying from some spot houses, furnished the principal support to the market. Also Liverpool, New Orleans and local trades continued good sellers at intervals well into the early afternoon, with Liverpool cotton futures having closed easy near the lowest at 5 to 10 of their points net decline, against the rise of 6 to 10 due.

The weekly government weather and crop bulletin was favorable. It referred to picking being about completed in the cotton-growing sections.

Today's exports were again heavy, totaling 56,000 bales. It brings the total from August 1 to date up to 4,191,000 bales, against 3,978,000 in the same time last year. Port receipts were 66,000 bales, against 57,000 last week and 92,000 last year.

Industry List Shifted to Background as Rails Take Leadership

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Fires, which had been kindled under the railroad market today produced enough pressure to steam another long list into new high-price territory. The industrials, broadly speaking, were in the background and prices suffered, as much shifting was done from this group into the transportation shares. Not only were the lower and medium-priced carriers forced higher, but the standard rails as well were put into new territory, some of it of record caliber, and much of it to the best levels seen in years. New York Central, the admitted leader of the carriers, took its rightful place and Atchison, Illinois Central, Norfolk and Western and other investment issues followed. New Haven mounted to a new top and Southwestern lines were in great demand. Although when reasons were sought they quickly were furnished the main stimulus was found in the belief that this class of securities finally was coming into its own and a following worthy the name was being created. Motors were again under pressure and the same could be said of other portions of the main industrial body. Call money reversed its recent action by dropping from its renewal rate of 5 per cent.

Among the carriers to get into new high ground for the year was Illinois Central, and upon this stock the street proceeded to hang a tale. This in effect was that a substantial block of shares had been privately acquired from an estate by leading railroad bankers. Its purpose was generally believed to be for investment, but with merger possibilities looming up as another inducement.

Keeping Pot Boiling

As it burst into higher territory, Norfolk and Western again was made the subject of considerable discussion. That Pennsylvania ultimately would take over the property, had been a pet theme in financial circles and offers of three shares of this stock for one Norfolk had been suggested as a likely development. No such step apparently had been taken, at least not to the extent of thoroughly canvassing the stockholders of the desired road. And if made thire was strong opinion that efforts along this line would be unavailing. Either a guarantee from Pennsylvania or an exchange of bonds for Norfolk's shares would, it was thought, prove more attractive.

In Rightful Stride

Nearer to its 1919 top, soared New York Central, but even at its new high in more than a decade, the shares still had more than a dozen points to climb before entirely eliminating the margin between the two levels. Wall street long had regarded this as the natural leader of the railroad group and whenever it failed to exert itself to maintain this position, disappointment was widespread through speculative circles. With the dividend rate decided for at least another three-month period, this subject could not find a hearing at this time, but there loomed ahead the day when revenues from the various affiliated lines might be dumped into one till, through broad consolidation under one corporate banner. Then, it was conceded, greater efficiency and savings should make possible a much better showing for net.

Stepping Up

The elevation of George W. Hill to the presidency of the American Tobacco Company assured to the street a continuance of the policies which had been successfully pursued by his father, the late Percival S. Hill, who died in harness. That he would rank among the younger executives in corporation work was conceded, as was the climb to the top a representation of training in practically all branches of the business. Creation of chairmanship to be filled by Junius Parker, the company's attorney, at once brought into the corporate picture a legal mind thoroughly familiar with its affairs in every phase. The market position of American Tobacco shares still was curiously regarded, owing to the fact that they yet had to fully respond to the newly established dividend rate.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

The wise man who travels the highways carries a guide-book or map that he may move forward to his destination with maximum speed. He observes the guide posts at the forks and cross roads to avoid wandering from his course.

There are guide-books, maps and sign posts for the "highways of life." The biography of every man who was a success is a guide-book for the young man who is seeking to make something out of his own life.

Sign posts at every corner guide the traveler on life's highways. Some of these signs are Honesty, Initiative, Enthusiasm, Perseverance, Industry. If they are followed the bad roads will be avoided. The dead-end roads are labeled Laziness, Do-It-Tomorrow, Late Hours, Dissipation.

First Mortgage Leasehold 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds
(Seventh and Flower Streets Issue)

Dated November 1, 1925. Due November 1, 1945.

Principal and semi-annual interest payable May 1st and November 1st at the Union Bank & Trust Co. of Los Angeles. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500. Registerable as to principal. Callable as a whole or in part on any interest payment date on thirty days' notice at 102 and accrued interest. The Company agrees to pay the Normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%.

UNION BANK & TRUST CO. OF LOS ANGELES, TRUSTEE

The following information is taken from official sources:

These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed first mortgage on the leasehold interest in the real property represented by the Northeast Corner of Seventh and Flower Streets, Los Angeles, together with the limit height Class "A" steel frame office and store building which the company proposes to erect thereon at a cost, including carrying charges, of $1,736,775. According to this estimate, these bonds will constitute an indebtedness of approximately 58% of the cost of the building, without giving consideration to the value of the leasehold interest.

It is estimated that the net revenue from the building will amount to $184,292 annually, or more than 2.75 times the maximum annual interest charges and approximately 2 times the average annual sinking fund and interest payments.

A sinking fund will be established which will retire the entire issue at or before maturity.

SECURITY: This issue of bonds will be the direct obligation of the Sun Realty Co., and will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed first mortgage on a valuable leasehold interest, having an unexpired term of 98½ years in the real property situated at the northeast corner of Seventh and Flower Streets, Los Angeles, with a frontage of approximately 117.2 feet on Seventh Street by approximately 137.6 feet on Flower Street, together with a limit height steel frame Class "A" office and store building which the Company proposes to erect thereon. It is estimated that the building will be completed and ready for occupancy not later than January 1, 1927.

BUILDING: The building will be of steel frame Class "A" construction of the most approved design, consisting of twelve stories and two basements. There will be 11,500 square feet of rentable store space on the ground floor with 98,700 square feet of rentable office space above. The basements, with a wide entrance on Flower Street, will contain a garage capable of accommodating not less than 100 cars. Five high-speed elevators with the latest automatic signal control will serve both buildings and garage.

In point of convenience, design and finish, this building will rank with the finest in the city, with office space being designed to give maximum light and a wide selection in size and arrangement. Some of the special features that are embodied in its construction include compressed air, circulating ice water and a plant for the filtration and softening of all water used in the building.

VALUATION: Messrs. Curlett & Beelman, Architects, have estimated the total cost of the building, including carrying charges, at not less than $1,736,775. According to this estimate, this issue of bonds will constitute an indebtedness of approximately 58% of the cost of the building, without giving consideration to the value of the leasehold interest, which has been appraised by Messrs. Metcalf & Ryan of Los Angeles, at $250,000.

EARNINGS: Based upon the Company's experience in the leasing and operation of other office buildings which they own, and concurred in by Messrs. Metcalf & Ryan of Los Angeles, the annual earnings available from the building when completed are conservatively estimated to be as follows:

Gross rental from ground floor, garage and office	$404,505
Expense, including ground rent, operating charges and taxes and allowing a deduction of 15% for office vacancies	220,213
Net income available for interest and sinking fund	$184,292

The largest annual interest payment will be $65,000, and the average annual interest and sinking fund payment will be $93,566.25. Thus the estimated net income available from the building will be more than 2.75 times the largest annual interest payment and approximately 2 times the average annual interest and sinking fund payment.

In addition to the above, the Sun Realty Co. earned net for the twelve months ending December 31, 1924, $360,924.55. The Sun Finance and Investment Co., an allied corporation, is shortly to be consolidated with the Sun Realty Co. For the twelve months ending December 31, 1925, the combined earnings (two months estimated and before deducting Federal taxes) will be $669,794. It is estimated that the net earnings of the combined companies for the calendar year, 1926, will not be less than $900,000.

LOCATION: The location is in the direct line of growth of the city's best retail shopping district. While from a rental standpoint this location is at the present time extremely desirable, it is reasonable to suppose that its value should increase to a materially greater extent in the future.
In the immediate vicinity are the new Barker Bros. Building (another holding of the Sun Realty Co.), the Union Oil Building, the Brack Shops, Brockman Building, the Harold L. Arnold Building and other units of modern Class "A" construction.

SINKING FUND: The Trust Indenture will provide a sinking fund which will retire the entire bond issue at or before maturity.

MORTGAGE AND PROTECTIVE PROVISIONS: The Trust Indenture will provide that the entire proceeds of this bond issue must be deposited with the Trustee to be devoted entirely to the construction of the building. The funds will be disbursed by the Trustee only upon proper demand of the Company certified by the architects. Furthermore, the difference between the estimated cost of the building, not including carrying charges, and the proceeds of the bond issue must be supplied by the Company and expended on the building prior to the release by the Trustee of any of the proceeds of the bond issue.
The completion of the building (free of all liens other than that of this bond issue) has been guaranteed to the owner of the real property by the personal guarantee of Messrs. Ben R. Meyer and I. Eisner, of Los Angeles.

INSURANCE: The Trust Indenture will provide that at all times insurance to the extent of 80% of the full insurable value of the building will be carried against loss by fire or earthquake. Other customary insurance, including insurance against loss of rentals to the extent of $100,000 will be carried during the life of this issue of bonds.

LEGALITY & TITLE: All proceedings leading up to and including the issuance of these bonds have been conducted and supervised by Messrs. Lissner, Roth & Gunter for the Company and approved by Messrs. O'Melveny, Millikin, Tuller & Macneil for the underwriter.
A Policy of Title Insurance in the amount of $1,000,000 evidencing title to the leasehold estate will be issued by the Title Insurance Trust Company of Los Angeles for the benefit of the bondholders.

PERSONNEL OF THE SUN REALTY CO.: Among the stockholders substantially interested in the Sun Realty Co. are: I. Eisner, V. H. Rossetti, Ben R. Meyer, F. Q. Story, Marco Hellman, Irving Hellman, John Milner, Milton Getz, Thomas Mayer, M. J. Eshman and H. D. Vandeveer. They are all well-known business men of Los Angeles.

RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Liquidation at London, brought on by the fact that today is the last settlement day of the year, sent prices crashing downwards, and with London sales counting over of 24 at 45d, local prices sagged to below a dollar in practically every position. Ribbed smoked sheets were off 3c at 99c a pound, and other leading grades gave in from 1 to 4c. Little business was transacted in the local market, trading being confined to some small lots for dealers' accounts.

FLAXSEED MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DULUTH (Minn.) Dec. 16.—A weak tone featured the quiet trading in flaxseed here today. Demand was lacking and holders reduced prices 1 to 2½c without attracting buyers. NEW YORK CURB

Price Rule Lower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Selling orders predominated in today's curb market and prices moved irregularly lower. Motors were conspicuously weak, Chrysler (new stock) dropping 3 1-4 points to 48 3-4.

Oils developed several independent points of strength, with buying apparently influenced by reports of a sharp decrease in crude output, stiffening gasoline prices in the Middle West and reports of important development work in South America. Humble crossed 90 to a new high record for a net gain of more than 3 points on persistent reports that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey would shortly make an offer for the minority holdings. Both Lago issues also moved into new high territory on heavily increased trading. Mexican Panuco passed with a point of its high on confirmation of reports that the company had acquired large acreage in the Maracaibo Basin. Vacuum and Gulf were heavy.

Electrical refrigeration issues were firm, Kelvinator advancing over a point on the announcement of additional details in the new $10,000,000 merger. Gillette Safety Razor was bid up over 2 points to 107, and "Nickel Plate" (new stock) touched a new record high at 114 5-8.

Victor Talking Machine was in supply, dropping over 3 points to 95, and Glen Alden Coal lost a point.

An advance of 1 1-4 points in American Power and Light and a drop of 2 3-8 in Electrical Investors were the contrasting features of the public-utility group.

THE INVESTOR

Foreign Financing Through American Investors Expected to Surpass Previous Records in 1926—Loan on German Railway Reparation Bonds Biggest Single Issue Under Consideration

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The year 1925 is destined to go down in the annals of American financial history as the most successful period of foreign financing in the domestic market since the war. That is true both from the standpoint of volume and the varying character of the securities floated. But, while the current year witnessed an immense volume of foreign flotations, the outlook, as we approach the new year is such that 1926 is expected to shatter past records in that direction.

Of the foreign business now under consideration, there is none, says Baker, Kellogg & Co., Inc., which is likely to receive as much interest and attention of the investing public as the project for financing in this market the German railway bonds issued under the Dawes Plan and held by the trustee for the Reparations Commission. Such negotiations are, of course, still in the preliminary stages, and while it is too early to attempt a forecast of what form the financing will take, it is interesting nevertheless to consider the origin and purposes of such financing.

With the acceptance of the Dawes Plan a corporation was created to acquire the entirely state-owned German railway system. That corporation created a first mortgage on its properties, and delivered to the trustee of the Reparations Commission 11,000,000,000 gold marks ($2,600,000,000.) par value of first mortgage bonds, bearing a 5 per cent interest coupon and a 1 per cent cumulative sinking fund, maturing in thirty-six and one-half years.

Interest on the bonds, until they are marketed, is payable, along with the sinking fund, to the Reparations Commission and by that body to the allied nations entitled to reparations. As France is entitled to 52 per cent of such payments, she is therefore interested directly in that proportion of these bonds. It has been suggested that France's ability to realise on this asset, instead of floating fresh loans abroad on her own credit, may yet prove the solution of her present financial difficulties.

When the immense value of Germany's national railway system, capitalized at over $6,000,000,000, is considered, the 52 per cent interest of France in these first mortgage bonds looms up as a prime asset. While the bonds probably could not be sold in New York or London markets at this time, because they are payable in gold marks, they would nevertheless constitute excellent collateral for an indirect issue of some kind. In view of the readiness with which American investors have taken dollar issues of German industrial and utility corporations, junior in security to these reparations bonds, it is not hard to conceive that an issue of the senior first mortgage securities, if payable in dollars and otherwise made attractive, would be received favorably.

LOAN THE WEDGE

The recent successful flotation of German securities here is perhaps one of the most outstanding episodes in our financial history since the war. Little more than a year ago investors would not buy and bankers would not consider handling German loans. But the situation has changed. The $110,000,000 German government loan of October last year was the opening wedge which paved the way for the flotation since of an aggregate of $235,000,000 in additional loans. These were widely diversified, including, State, municipal and corporate loan.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

Cattle—Today's receipts totaled around 2000, about 600 being counted in the fresh arrivals. The proportionate supply of steers was small; however, the demand was narrow, mainly for the plain kinds which comprised the bulk of the supply. A slow trade resulted with only a few lots being sold at a late hour. The stock fared better and trade was moderately active at generally steady prices. A few lots of medium steers sold from 7.00@7.75, with common kinds lower.

The bulk of northern she stock, mostly cows, sold from 5.25@6.00; while the short load of 870-pound heifers topped at 6.25. Common kinds and light southwestern turned largely from 4.00 @4.50. Canners and cutters ruled steady, the bulk clearing from 2.25@3.75. Bulls held about steady, beef types selling from 5.00@5.35, with the general run of bolognas down to 4.00, while range kinds cleared from 3.00@3.85. A load of 1094-pound Arizona oxen topped the lower figure.

Calves—Calves were in rather liberal supply, about 200 being held over from yesterday and 200 arriving today. Demand was rather narrow and only a few loads sold, these at steady to weak prices. The quality as a whole was plain, and the bulk of 230 to 300-pound weights went over from 6.75@7.00. Odd head sold higher, while common kinds and unsavorights dusted downward to 5.00. Milk veal in a small way turned from 8.50@10.00.

Hogs—Active demand developed for today's supply, estimated at 1000, and an early clearance was made. Prices generally were strong to 10 cents higher, with today's top at 12.25, while the bulk of 200 to 250-pound weights cleared from 12.15@12.25. A few mixed offerings and medium weight butchers cashed from 11.50@ 12.00. Packing sows in a small way went over from 10.50@11.00.

Sheep—None. Good and choice lambs are quoted from 14.00@15.00, with common to choice ewes from 6.50@8.00.

BRITISH AID PLEDGED IN FILM FIGHT

Support to Playwrights in Battle With Picture Interests Extended

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—British dramatists are taking to their pens and typewriters in support of the American playwrights in their fight against the motion-picture interests, which the writers accuse of attempting to gain control of the legitimate stage.

The Britons already have agreed to join the proposed International Dramatists' Association, which is well on its way toward launching. The cables between New York and London are being kept busy arranging for the new association and fixing the points for protecting the author's rights.

The American dramatists, meeting in New York yesterday, announced that a cablegram had been received from the British Society of Authors, Playwrights and Composers, assuring support in any action taken for "the protection of their interests."

The council of the British society includes such writers as George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, Henry A. Jones, Sir James Barrie and Thomas Hardy.

Chile Transmits Appeal on Arica to Washington

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ARICA (Chile) Dec. 16.—An official communique issued after the meeting of the Tacna-Arica Plebiscitary Commission this afternoon says:

"Appeals of the Chilean member of the commission were certified and transmitted to the arbitrator" (President Coolidge.)

The strictest reserve has been maintained concerning the nature of the Chilean appeals, but eventually, after smoothing out early difficulties, the vote was recorded for certification unanimously. It is understood that the appeals will be transmitted to the arbitrator by cable, with the request that the arbitrator reply in the same way regarding the manner and time of taking up the appeal.

Byram Defends Coast Extension of St. Paul Line

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Construction of the Puget Sound extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, regarded as an important factor in causing the receivership, was described as being justified both commercially and financially by H. E. Byram, president of the company, who took the stand this afternoon at the inquiry into reasons for receivership.

Mr. Byram was called by Herman L. Ekern, Attorney-General of the State of Wisconsin, representing a large number of stockholders from that State.

"No one could anticipate the competition in the movement of midwestern traffic that was effected with the building of the Panama Canal," Mr. Byram said. "The commercial promise of development in the Northwest justified the building of the Puget Sound extension in 1903.

"Moreover the finances of the company justified its construction. In my opinion it is justified even now by the present condition of the territory; it serves and the future promise of that territory. Every stockholder's paid 100 cents on every dollar invested."

"Are you sure?" questioned Commissioner Eastman, "I am of the opinion that your company issued a purely bonus stock."

"I do not think that is true," Mr. Byram answered.

"Then I have read the records of the commission wrongly," Mr. Eastman said. "I was also of the opinion that the first year's operations were credited in such a manner as to be misleading."

"I am not aware of that," Mr. Byram replied.

TEXAS CONVICT GETS CONDITIONAL PARDON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Dec. 16. Gov. Ferguson has added to her long list of convict freeing by issuing a conditional pardon to Porter Meeks, who was convicted in Dallas county of robbery with firearms. Meeks has served five of a twenty-five-year sentence. One of the conditions of the pardon is that Meeks leave the State.

DIABETES and I-ON-A-CO

I am so sure I-on-a-co will bring about the same reduction of sugar in diabetic patients attributed to Dr. Banting's Insulin that I offer FREE demonstration treatments to anyone now taking Insulin. Above all, I want diabetic patients who accept my offer of FREE treatments to use I-on-a-co under the direction of physicians so that I shall have real evidence as to the comparative merits of I-on-a-co and Insulin in the treatment of Diabetes.

I-on-a-co is better than Insulin

Everyone knows that Insulin is not a cure for Diabetes—its use necessitates hypodermic injections every day for the rest of one's life. I-on-a-co appears to be far superior to Insulin in that it not only reduces sugar elimination but it also builds up the weight and strength of the patient. Consequently, I-on-a-co is a much more pleasant, convenient, and effective treatment than Insulin.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST THRILLS

Ten Thousand Children Participate

DO YOU know the composer of "Elegie" or "Amaryllis" or "To Spring" or any number of other famous compositions which have stood the test of the ages? Could you, if you heard these compositions played upon a phonograph or piano, name them and give the author?

That is exactly what 1000 school children from the fifth and sixth grades were called upon to do yesterday at the sixth annual music memory contest conducted at the Philharmonic Auditorium under the

EIGHTEEN THOUSAND WILL HEAR EDUCATORS TODAY

Only Laughing Animal Said to to be Man

Declaring man to be the only laughing animal, Edmund Vance Cook, poet and lecturer, made good his assertion by keeping an audience of 6000 educators in a happy mood at the opening session of the California Teachers' Institute last night at the Bible Institute auditorium, at which he appeared as the chief speaker.

Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools of Los Angeles, appeared on the platform only to greet and to dismiss the audience.

The program began with several musical numbers played by the Sherman Indian Institute Band from Riverside, made up of forty-six pieces. The young men's ages ranged from 16 to 20 years and they represented twelve different Indian tribes. Their performance was enthusiastically encored and the boys played with a smoothness and finish that reflected credit on their director, D. Ray Campbell.

During one of the intervals an announcement was read from the platform that Chief Standing Bear of Culver City, formerly a director of the Carlisle Indian School band, was listening-in on the program, which was being broadcast from the Bible Institute.

Byron P. Adams, an American Indian, also made a brief address, expressing his appreciation of the work the government was doing in educating Indian boys and girls, and of the newer understanding of the Indian and his problems.

PROGRAM CHANGES

Claude W. Sandifur, president of the California Teachers' Association, presided at the meeting and announced several changes in today's program. One of these was the business meeting of the California Teachers' Association to be held at 1:30 p.m. at the Bible Institute. The social science session scheduled for Polytechnic High School auditorium at 1:30 p.m., will meet at 2 p.m. at Angelus Temple. The general session scheduled for Philharmonic Auditorium has been changed to the Hillstreet Theater, Eighth and

Clashing Views Mark Close of Session

A sharp clash of opinion on modern educational procedure marked the closing session yesterday of the City Teachers' Institute, which has been in progress for three days.

The opposing viewpoints were presented to several thousand teachers by two nationally known educators. Dr. Ernest Carroll Moore, director of the Southern Branch, University of California, in an address before the secondary school-teachers at the Trinity Auditorium, urged the continuance of the policy of mass education and "teaching by wholesale."

"College is an opportunity not a nursery home," he declared," and the colleges therefore must be operated to give the greatest good to the greatest number."

But Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, speaking hours later before more than 1500 members of the Conference on Educational Research at the Morosco Theater, declared that the day of mass education has passed and that more and more the colleges of the nation are concentrating on individual and small group instruction so that the problems of the individual student can be studied and met.

"A greater part is being played by psychologists, physicians, social workers and experts generally in the application of the educational system than ever before," he declared. "They have made it possible to study individual students, to determine their capacities, to make adjustments, to save talent and salvage ability. Far more important than saving rules and red tape of the colleges," he concluded, "is saving and salvaging the latent ability and genius of individual students, which otherwise would be lost."

Dr. Moore, in his address in the morning, traced the history of the Southern Branch and told of its accomplishments. The establish-

DEMAND UNION STATION ACTION

Landowners in Improvement Groups Voice Appeal

City's Progress Contingent on Project, Resolution Says

Sixty-two Organizations of Southland Unite Pleas

Representing sixty-two Los Angeles public-improvement organizations, with a membership of 250,000 property-owners, the Affiliated Improvement Association of Los Angeles City and County last night, through its board of directors, strongly went on record urging the railroads to reach an early decision and agreement as to the long-pending union-railroad-passenger-station project in Los Angeles.

In adopted resolutions it declared that the uncertainty regarding the much-needed union station is delaying the opening and widening of streets and other public improvement and retarding the growth of the city.

TEXT OF RESOLUTIONS

The resolutions, copies of which will be forwarded at once to officials of the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, follow:

"Whereas, the voters of Los Angeles in 1923 approved the development and construction of an Administrative Civic Center, part of which construction is already under way by the city and county, and,

"Whereas, in November, 1924, the voters of Los Angeles approved a program for the opening and widening of many streets, known as the Major Traffic Street Plan, and at the same time voted a bond issue of $5,000,000 to provide the cost of part of its construction, and,

"Whereas, the development of these two projects, which are of so much importance to the proper growth of this city, has been greatly delayed by the absence of a decision as to where the union passenger railroad depot is to be located:

"Therefore be it resolved, that the Affiliated Improvement Associations, City and County of Los Angeles—which organization consists of sixty-two civic organizations banded together to bring about the systematic development of public improvements—urges that the railroads make every effort to assist the proper public officials in reaching an agreement at an early date, definitely locating the union passenger terminal.

"Such action as this will do more to stimulate the proper growth of Los Angeles than any other measure now before the authorities."

IMPORTANT ACTION

The importance of last night's action is shown by the fact that this is the first time this organization has taken part in the union railroad passenger depot controversy and it was impelled to this, not as a partisan for the railroads or city, county and State officials, but solely as representing thousands of property owners, who believe that the general prosperity, growth and development of Los Angeles are being hampered seriously by the failure to reach an agreement, President Joseph H. Stace of the association said.

The action of the Affiliated Improvement Association was in line with resolutions adopted this week by the Downtown Business Men's Association, which called attention to the fact that the progress of Los Angeles is being blocked by uncertainty as to the union-station project as well as by the inadequate depot facilities now existing.

Officers and directors of the association, which has offices at 219 O. T. Johnson Building are Joseph H. Stace, president; Stephen I. Smoot, first vice-president; H. R. Collins, second vice-president; Frank B. Shearer, treasurer; Frank E. Van Tress, secretary; Charles W. Farrell, sergeant-at-arms, and these additional directors: John A. Burgan, Walter N. Danburg, C. S. Gibson, C. W. Hamilton, J. C. Henry, Clarence W. Horn, L. A. Latermer, Clarence R. Snethen and Fred J. Spring.

MANY REPRESENTED

The association is composed of delegates of the following sixty-two public improvement organizations: Atwater Community Improvement Association, Belle-Mead and West-

WINS ANCIENT SEALING SUIT

Capt. Webster Awarded $53,608 from Government for Being Outlawed in Early 90s

A Christmas gift of $53,608, thirty-two years late, was contained in a letter received yesterday by Capt. George G. Wester, master of the full-rigged ship Llewellyn J. Morse, now at Los Angeles Harbor.

Thirty-two years ago the United States government branded Capt. Wester as an Alaskan sealing pirate. Yesterday he was informed that by court decree he is no longer an outlaw and that in addition the government will pay in full $53,608 for 4100 fur seals he would have caught in 1892 with the schooner Emma and Louisa and in 1893 with the schooner Algar, had he been permitted to hunt them.

Back in the early '90s the government claimed full jurisdiction over all Alaskan waters and declared all seal hunters outlaws. In 1892 and 1893 the Bering Sea was patrolled so effectively by Coast Guard cutters that the sealing fleet was kept in harbor, after a number of vessels and their crews had been captured.

The Canadian government protested the action on the ground that all waters outside the three-mile limit were the high seas. Following the Pribilof controversy in Paris, lost by the United States, the Canadian seal hunters were paid in full for all seizures and for all seals they might have caught had they been permitted to hunt. Masters of American sealing schooners accordingly started action, just closed in San Francisco when United States Judge V. E. St. Sure granted the claims of Capt. Webster and sixty-seven other skippers.

Capt. Webster is to be paid as follows for the seals that he might have caught; 1892, schooner Emma and Louisa, 2000 skins at $14.963 each; 300 skins for each of the six regular boats and 200 skins for the stern boat; 1893, schooner Algar, 2100 skins at $11.38 each; 300 skins for each of the six regular boats and 300 skins for the stern boat.

Capt. Webster is one of the best known of the old-time Pacific sailing masters, having commanded windjammers on the Pacific for thirty-two years, of which eleven years were spent in the fur seal industry in Alaska.

RAT CATCHER CONDEMNED TO DIE

Old Age Requires Edict at City Jail

The Old and the New

V. C. Miller, assistant jailer, with Buster and successor as jail cat.

BUSTER, who is anywhere between 16 and 20 years of age, reached the end of his ninth life yesterday. He was sentenced to death.

It was not because Buster had committed any crime that the sentence was passed upon him but because the salt of old age had crept into his weary bones and left him incapable of living. He had no teeth. His claws, which were once the terror of the underworld of the City Jail, had become dull and useless. He did not complain, but merely blinked his bleary old eyes in silent resignation as Capt. John Shand, wiping a stray tear from his eye, turned his head away and said solemnly, "He must die."

It was the oft-repeated story of old age and youth. Buster, with eyes that could see barely more than three feet away, dozed indifferently as he heard preparations being made for a member of the younger generation to take his place. He had had his day, lived his full quota of nine lives, and now he was ready for those other hunting grounds beyond the purple curtain of death.

Like Alexander, Napoleon and other great heroes, Buster had made history. It was on a cold, rainy, Christmas eve, fourteen years ago, that he became the official rat catcher at the City Jail. Some old drunk, whose name has been lost in the musty files of the police blotter, found him in a gutter shivering from the cold. When the sot was arrested Buster went along under the grimy coat. A dish full of milk and a little warmth soon showed Capt. Shand, head jailer, that Buster was a cat of unusual size. He weighed in at fifteen pounds. His bones were massive, his teeth and claws as sharp as needles.

For years Buster performed glorious deeds, faithful to his duty regardless of political plots and changes of administration. Hitherto every cat taken in had been run out by the ferocious rats. Not so Buster. He came, he saw, and he conquered.

Santa's Reindeer Tells of Another Day's Pleasure on Visits to Towns of Southland

BY PRANCER

Let there be no misunderstanding about this: We reindeer simply cannot get over the almost unbelievable number of people, old and young, who turn out daily to see us.

No fooling! They keep coming in crowds, throngs, droves, herds, mobs swarms and what not wherever we go. I have said this before, but I must repeat that just when we are convinced that we have seen all the children and grown-ups within a radius of 100 miles, we are taken to a new district and up pops another great throng of open-mouthed, wide-eyed, cheering, laughing people. When we got to Alhambra yesterday morning, there must have been more than 3000 people who welcomed us to the city. The Snowland float was pulled up into a large vacant lot on Garfield near Main street. The truck had barely a chance to stop before the crowd overran the place like a breaker spreading itself out on the beach. They were packed in like sardines. If we had not been up on the float we would have been crushed to death and there wouldn't be any more Santa Claus.

Brig.-Gen. J. E. Macklin, Resident Here for Years, Dies After Short Illness

Death claimed peaceful toll of a veteran fighting man yesterday when Brig.-Gen. James E. Macklin, U.S.A., retired, 79 years of age died at the California Hospital after an illness of ten days. Cause of death is said to be senile gangrene of the right leg.

Gen. Macklin, who claimed the distinction of being one of the youngest officers ever commissioned in the American Army, won his lieutenant's bars while serving in the Civil War in 1862. He was but slightly more than 15 years of age at the time, having enlisted as a private with the Sixteenth Indiana Infantry in '61.

Promotion followed promotion until young Macklin was discharged from the service at the end of the war with the rank of captain.

Re-entering the service in 1867 as a second-lieutenant, Macklin served in the Indian wars in Dakota and along the Missouri River. In May, 1906, he was commissioned a colonel and early in December of the same year was retired at his own request with the rank of brigadier-general.

After spending a year in Washington, Gen. Macklin and his wife moved to Los Angeles and for eighteen years resided at the Burlington Apartments, 1723 West Ninth street. Shortly before Gen. Macklin's death, the couple celebrated their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary.

Gen. Macklin headed a family

RIVER REPLY TO BE READ TODAY

Arizona Answers Offer to Supplement Pact

Delegates from California and Nevada to Meet

Next Move Hinges on Tone of Hunt's Message

California and Nevada representatives are scheduled to meet at 10 a.m. today in the rooms of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners, 207 South Broadway, to receive the answer of Gov. Hunt of Arizona and his Colorado River committee to the offer made in Phoenix the 1st inst., of a California-Nevada-Arizona agreement to supplement the Colorado River compact of 1922, and by this method obtain Arizona's long-awaited approval to the compact. No inkling of the nature of Arizona's answer has been given out at Phoenix or by Senator Ralph J. Swing of San Bernardino, chairman of the California Colorado River legislative committee, who presided at the conference at Phoenix.

Senator Swing has received Arizona's answer and will this morning lay it before the California and Nevada representatives at the meeting in this city. Whether or not further negotiations will be continued with Arizona will be determined at today's meeting.

MOVE HINGES ON ANSWER

If the California and Nevada representatives decide that Gov. Hunt and his committee are simply "bluffing" and are willing to "horse trade" in an effort to reach an agreement that will restore their dwindling political fortune, then the California and Nevada delegates will return to Phoenix.

If the answer from Arizona is deemed final, then the facts will be telegraphed to Washington and laid before the Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation to show that the prospect of getting Arizona's consent to the compact is hopeless as long as G. W. P. Hunt is Governor of Arizona.

Efforts will be then renewed in Washington to obtain favorable action by this Congress on Colorado River development on the basis of a six-State agreement between California, Utah, New Mexico, Nevada, Wyoming and Colorado. As the Swing-Johnson bill supporters have attached the Finney resolution "rider" to California's approval of a six-State compact and this rider has been denounced this week in Washington by the representatives of the four upper basin States, opposition can be expected from this source unless the Swing-Johnson bill advocates in Washington repudiate the Finney resolution.

Those expected to attend today's meeting in Los Angeles to receive Gov. Hunt's answer to the California-Nevada offer for a tri-State agreement include Senator Swing, Assemblyman Walter J. Little of Los Angeles and Assemblyman A. C. Finney, members of the California Colorado River legislative committee; Gov. Scrugham Charles P. Squires and Edward W. Clark of Nevada's Colorado River committee; Dr. S. S. M. Jennings and Thomas C. Yager of the Coachella Valley Water Users' Association, Shirley Ward of the Los Angeles Citizens Colorado River Committee of Fifteen, Earl Pound of the Imperial Irrigation District; Mayor S. C. Evans of Riverside, executive director of the Boulder Dam Association and Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood of the Los Angeles municipal power bureau.

POLITICIANS BLAMED

Under the provisions of the Colorado River compact of 1922, which has been ratified without reservations on a seven-State basis by all of these States except Arizona, the rights to the waters of the river were allocated into two divisions—the upper basin and the lower basin. By the compact the lower basin was established in its right to 7,500,000 acre feet of water a year to pass Lee's Ferry, and the proposed tri-State agreement offers to allocate this flow so that 1,850,000 acre feet a year would be Arizona's property, and in addition all of the water of tributaries of the Colorado River originating in Arizona, and would give to Arizona and to Nevada each $1 a horse-power per annum on all electricity developed at Boulder Canyon, giving each of these States an estimated annual revenue of $500,000 from the Boulder dam project alone.

In the absence of any information of any kind as to the nature of Gov. Hunt's reply, it is expected by those familiar with his past opposition to Colorado River development that in this reply to be read today he will again simply wave the flag for political purposes and declare in effect, that Arizona demands everything developed on the Colorado River regardless of whether or not Arizona can ever put through any great engineering projects for controlling and harnessing the river for the benefit of the entire Southwest including Arizona.

If no further negotiations with Arizona are deemed possible, and Congress takes no action this session on Colorado River development it will be due in a great part to the Finney resolution "rider" attached to California's assent to a six-State compact as insisted upon by Johnson, Swing and the other politicians. They are determined to postpone indefinitely Colorado River development unless their program is indorsed by Congress.

NEBRASKANS TO RALLY

Charles H. Randall has promised to speak at the Nebraska State Society meeting Friday evening, the 18th inst. in the Music Art Hall at 233 South Broadway. President E. H. Hinshaw will preside and pupils of Mme. Mashon will supply musical and dance number. All Nebraskans, whether members or not, will be welcome.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

FAR be it from me to match my ignorance against the bulging brows of the archeologists.

But this lost Roman empire they have found on an Arizona ranch sounds decidedly fishy.

It seems too pat, and too complete, with the records of all the unknown and unremembered kings and emperors, and all their battles and all their diaries and phone numbers.

I have a dreadful suspicion that some movie press agent is about to bob up and announce that these interesting relics are the settings for Priscilla Dean in "Drusilla, the Centurion's Bride."

MRS. RHINELANDER

Mrs. Alice Rhinelander was not so incredibly foolish as to take a journey to the South.

But the mere announcement that she had gone to Florida, and that the K.K.K. was prowling around the hotels in search of her will do unmeasured harm.

DANGEROUS QUESTION

The "color question" is plenty bad enough now without throwing any more coal on the fire.

Once it was only a heated prejudice south of the Mason-Dixon line. Now it is becoming world-wide.

That is the real danger and menace that lie rumbling back of all these wars with the Druses and the Riffs—in spite of the fact that the Riffs (as I will probably be reminded in about twenty frenzied letters) are a Nordic race.

FRANCE BLUNDERED

It is ironic that it should be France which has brought this boil to a head.

France, whose great pride it was that she alone of the nations had no race or color prejudices.

Her boasted "broad-mindedness" led her to tinker with many fundamental conditions best let severely alone.

THE GERMAN PROFESSOR

Some ten years ago a learned professor in the University of Berlin made a prophecy in an interview with me.

He said that the wars of the past had progressed in this manner:

First, individual fights for food.

Then wars between the retainers of the barons—the landholders, supported by serfs.

Then wars between nations over political and economic questions.

"The wars of the future will be race wars," he said. "Wars of extinction between peoples of different colors."

TERROR!

Of course, these—if they happen—will be the most terrible of all wars.

Because there is no way to compromise or settle them. You can arbitrate a boundary line. You can't arbitrate an Arab or an African Zulu into a white man.

THE REVOLUTION

To those in close touch with European affairs there is nothing new in the demand of a certain portion of the French nation for a military dictatorship.

That is the polite way to say it. But to call a spade a spade, it is the stirring of another French revolution.

According to the well-formulated plan, news of which has been trickling across for some time, these budding revolutionists have it in mind to ask Gen. Foch to become the dictator.

A GRIM JOKE

Incidentally, there is grim humor in the report.

France, which is trying to rule the world, cannot rule her own people to the point where more than 10 per cent of the peasants will pay taxes—or even submit a report of their earnings.

VENICE LIFE GUARD WORRIES ABOUT PAY

The life guard of Venice, George R. Wolf, has begun to worry about his job, which apparently vanished along with the beach city's consolidation with Los Angeles, and yesterday filed with the City Council a communication asking to be placed upon the pay roll. His petition, with a request that an appropriation be made in payment for work he has done since the consolidation, was referred to the Finance and Efficiency and Personnel committees.

BUNKO MEETING SET FOR TODAY

Governor to Talk Privately With Grand Jurors

Expected to Air Charges on Stand Tomorrow

Convicts Reported Coming to Give Testimony

Gov. Richardson will have a private conference with a committee of the county grand jury early this afternoon as the first step toward his anticipated appearance before the inquisitorial body in its investigation of charges that bunko men were given protection by Los Angeles officials, and that vice and crime conditions in Los Angeles continued undetected and unpunished.

The conference will be held at a place known only to the Governor and members of the grand jury committee. Tomorrow the Governor is expected to take the witness stand in the grand jury room and tell what he knows of the bunko situation and why he publicly declared his lack of confidence in Dist.-Atty. Keyes.

These were some of the reports circulated at the Hall of Records and in the District Attorney's office yesterday, although no one in position to speak would make a statement for publication.

TO READ STATEMENT

The Governor's testimony before the grand jury in its formal session is expected to be in the form of a statement, which he will read from the witness stand. This statement, according to dispatches from Sacramento yesterday, was prepared by the Governor and his advisors after a thorough study of all the evidence at hand and of the known facts. That the Governor has had the assistance of Fletcher Bowron, his secretary, and George Squires, State Railroad Commissioner, in the preparation of the material to be placed at the command of the grand jury was rumored in Sacramento yesterday. Bowron is an attorney, and will accompany the Governor on his trip here.

No confirmation could be obtained in Sacramento yesterday that the Governor will leave there in time for a conference with the grand jury this afternoon.

Reports that seven convicts from San Quentin will be brought to Los Angeles to testify were branded "absurd" by Warden Frank J. Smith of the penitentiary last night. "The Governor has no authority to order the release of prisoners for such purposes. It would take a court order to have prisoners taken from San Quentin, and I have received no such order and have heard of none being issued. I believe, however, that the Governor himself is on his way to Los Angeles, but I do not know his mission." Smith said.

PLAN PROCEDURE

A number of convicts, now serving time in the State penitentiaries, are reported to be on their way here, presumably to appear as witnesses in the investigation. One report had it that there were seven in the convict party.

Atty.-Gen. Webb will arrive in Los Angeles and will go into conference with Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Gov. Richardson and members of the grand jury to determine on a method of procedure in the investigation suggested to the grand jury by the Governor. This announcement was made here last night by John W. Maltman, deputy Attorney General, attached to the Los Angeles office.

The fact that Gov. Richardson probably will confer with the grand jury committee before appearing in the formal inquiry was guarded with much secrecy. Clayton R. Taylor, foreman of the inquisitorial body, refused to make any statement on this point, except to say that the grand jury is scheduled to convene tomorrow.

"You can say that the grand jury is ready to function and that it has made all arrangements to proceed with the investigation as outlined by Gov. Richardson in his first conference with us," he said.

Taylor added that all technical matters connected with the investigation and the methods to be used will be left to Atty.-Gen. Webb, in whose hands the investigation was placed by the grand jury.

"We are ready for the case, and there will be no disposition to hinder the investigation in the least. You may be assured that we will do all in our power," Taylor declared.

Dist.-Atty. Keyes, sitting in his private office, received the newspaper men only to repeat his statements of the last few days.

"I have nothing to say, gentlemen," was his reply to all inquiries.

Keyes refused to comment on the reports from the north that August Vollmer, formerly Chief of Police here, would be a witness before the grand jury or on Vollmer's admission that he had given the Governor a report and that he would be glad to answer any formal request by the proper authorities.

be found in combining the utility district and assessment district plans so that the cost could be divided between the large utility district, which would be bonded, and the assessment district and then leasing the lines to operating companies at a rental which would provide for paying off the cost of the investment with the street-car riders paying a share of the expense. He said that in the Kelker-De Leuw plan these engineers divided the expense thus: city at large, 17 per cent; railway companies, 32 per cent, and districts benefited, 51 per cent.

The speakers, generally, declared that Los Angeles must start now to provide rapid-transit facilities, that first a plan must be adopted and that ways and means must be found for financing the subways and other lines needed. These speakers included Supervisors Cogswell and Wright, F. C. Finkle of the Southwest Chamber of Commerce, W. H. Pierce and Miller McClintock of the Traffic Commission, D. W. Pontius of the Pacific Electric Railway, County Planning Director Hugh Pomeroy, James R. Martin, City Planning Director G. Gordon Whitnall, Carroll Daly of the Venice Planning Commission, and President Workman of the City Council.

Music Concern Takes Lease at $190,000 Rental

A seven-year lease on space in the W. Q. Dickinson Building at 333 South Broadway, yesterday was acquired at a total rental for the period of $190,00 by the Barnes Music Company, it was announced by George H. Barnes, president of the concern.

The firm in turn deeded the lease on their present quarters at 331 South Broadway to J. Meyer for a consideration of $65,000, Barnes said. This lease expires in four years and a half.

Meyer will utilize the quarters relinquished by the music company for an enlarged produce market. Under the terms of the transaction the property must be vacated before January 15, 1926.

Extensive alterations, it was said, will be made at the Dickinson Building, where the music concern will establish its new home.

CONTRACTORS DINE TONIGHT

Engineering contractors, especially those devoting their efforts to road and street work, will be given charge of the program of the semimonthly dinner meeting of the Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America, which will be held at the Alexandria at 6:15 p.m. today.

ment of the branch, he declared, was a unique experiment in education. It was the first time in the nation's history that long-distance administration of a college had ever been attempted. But the experiment, he declared, has proved successful.

Whereas when the branch was established it had but a small faculty and a few students, it now numbers 5740 enrolled students and 300 members of the faculty, many of them leaders in their various lines.

Dr. Moore also pointed out that in 1890 there were but 65,000 college students in the entire nation, but that in 1920 this number had grown to 556,000. This fact, he declared, demonstrated that this was an educational age and that education was the only antidote for war which man has yet found.

"There are no small colleges left in the country," he said. "They have all become large or relatively large. This makes mass education and wholesale learning almost compulsory. The colleges cannot become nursery homes for the students. The latter must take their chances."

TEXT BOOKS CHANGE

Dr. Coffman dealt with the subject of psychological service in the schools. He pointed out that between 1870 and 1900 text books had undergone a tremendous change. The essentials remain, but the details have changed. But the technique of learning has made little or no progress.

"If the psychologists can help us in mastering the learning process they will have done the nation and the world an inestimable benefit. If they can only show us a better way of teaching the multiplication table, so that the knowledge will be absorbed more quickly, they will render an enormous service."

Educators, he declared, should devote more of their time to the study of the problems peculiar to their own profession. Only in this way will the mastery of learning be advanced.

Dean R. M. Woods of the University of California also spoke at the morning session at the Trinity Auditorium.

Dean Woods declared that the university has assumed a vital part in the life of the State. In previous years, he pointed out, a professor was not supposed to go out of the campus with his ideas. But now his duties have extended not only to the college itself, but to research, government and politics, public service, economics and industry.

The colleges of the nation, he said, have come to be looked upon as great testing grounds. A greater attention is now paid to the students exceptionally gifted. They receive group instruction. The mediocre students receive mass instruction as in the past.

RESEARCH WORK DESCRIBED

"Accuracy of prediction in the economic, political, governmental and other fields has been made possible by the constant research and experimentation at the colleges of the nation. This has been the greatest contribution in the last twenty-five years."

Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College, also spoke on the "Contribution of a Woman's College in Western Education." She declared that the small residence college still has a vital function in education since it gives the students the home environment and the friendship and personal contact which they otherwise might be unable to find.

Dr. V. A. C. Henmon, director of the school of education at the University of Wisconsin and the possessor of a distinguished war record, was the final speaker at the educational research conference at the Maryco. Dr. Henmon warned against the tendency toward standardized tests of all kinds for students.

The first general session of the California Teachers' Association will open this morning at the Bible Institute, with Claude W. Sandifur, president of the association in the chair. The chief address will be made by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

GENERAL SESSION

At the Hillstreet Theater a second general session will convene at 9 a.m., with E. L. R. Moore, presiding. Dr. L. D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, will make the address.

A third general session will be held at Trinity Auditorium at 9:30 a.m., Walter B. Crane, principal of Part-Time High School, will occupy the chair, and Dr. G. W. Steiner will discuss industrialism and ethics.

Polytechnic High School Auditorium will house the fourth general session, where Dr. Robert J. Aley will be the chief speaker.

It is estimated that 18,000 educators will attend the four opening sessions this morning, as all of the southern counties are being called in for the final meetings today and tomorrow.

Instruction in life saving will be given under the direction of the American Red Cross at the Part Time High School swimming pool at 9 a.m. This is for the high school women's division at 10 a.m. the same demonstration will be made for the high school men's division.

At 12:15 p.m. a luncheon will be held in the Ambassador ballroom, at which C. L. Glenn, director of physical education and athletics for the Los Angeles district, will preside.

CHILDREN TEST MUSIC MEMORY

direction of the music department of the Los Angeles city schools.

Twenty-five selections were played during the contest and the children indicated, by raising their hands, whether they had remembered. Hands filled the air all during the contest.

It will not be until January 1, or after, that the winning school is known, according to Miss Kathryn Stone, supervisor of the music department, who presided. The Sousa trophy will be presented to the school which receives the highest average. A silver trophy donated by the music department will go to the school having the second highest average. The papers will be graded on a percentage basis.

THOUSANDS PARTICIPATED

More than 10,000 school children of Los Angeles, representing sixty different elementary schools, have participated in the contest, yesterday's competitors being the children who received the highest averages at preliminary contests conducted at their respective schools.

During the contest the big auditorium was packed to overflowing. Music teachers from the schools which sent representatives were present. The contestants occupied the orchestra seats and wrote down their answers as the selections were played. Their papers were turned over to Miss Stone for grading by the judges.

"The contest was one of the most enthusiastic we have conducted," Miss Stone commented. "The children participated voluntarily and the interest at the different schools was very keen during the elimination contests."

John Philip Sousa, famous bandmaster, who donated the silver trophy, became interested in the contest through L. E. Behymer and was so impressed by it that he gave the prize, the first granted by him in any city. He has offered to direct the combined elementary school orchestras formed by Jennie Jones, supervisor, on the morning of January 8.

SELECTIONS PLAYED

The first selection of the contest was the Grand March from Aida. The other selections follow in the order in which they were played: Souvenir de Moscow (Wienniawski); Nocturne, Midsummer Night's Dream, (Mendelssohn); Funiculi-Funicula (Neapolitan Favorites); Elegie, (Massenet); The Storm, Overture to William Tell, (Rossini); Serenade, (Schubert); From an Indian Lodge, (MacDowell); Pomp and Circumstance, (Elgar); Barcarolle from Love Tales of Hoffman, (Offenbach); Amaryllis, (Ghys); To a Wild Rose, (MacDowell); La Paloma, (The Dove), (Spanish Ballade); To Spring, (Grieg); Scarf Dance, (Chaminade); Serenade, (Pierne); Traumerei, (Schumann); La Marseillaise, (French National Hymn); Serenata, (Moszkowski); Dawn, Overture to William Tell (Rossini); Salut d'Amour, (Elgar); Spinning Song, (Mendelssohn); Minuet, (Boccherini); Rule Britannia, (British National Hymn) and Finale, Overture to William Tell, (Rossini).

His oldest son was killed in 1911, while serving in the Army as captain, and the latter's son James E. Macklin, II, the youngest of the family, was graduated from West Point in 1924 and is now a lieutenant with the Tank Corps.

Gen. Macklin leaves a widow, residing at the family home; a son, Charles E. Macklin, a captain in the naval reserve on active duty in Washington during the World War, who arrived here from Baltimore when informed of his father's illness. A grandson, Lieut. W. A. S. Macklin, executive office on the Dorsan at San Diego, will arrive with his wife today, while a second grandson, Lieut. Charles E. Macklin, Jr., is with the Navy in Honolulu.

The body of Gen. Macklin will be removed for burial in the Arlington National Cemetery as soon as the widow is able to travel. Funeral services will be conducted here at the funeral parlors of Bresee Brothers at a date to be set later.

PRANCER TELLS OF JOYOUS DAY

does our hearts good it is to see a motherly looking woman at the wheel of an automobile loaded with her own children and some of the neighbors' out to say hello to us. Dunder, the philosopher of the team, remarked last night, as we were munching on the reindeer moss, that he has noticed that the mother of today seems to have found a way to keep her good looks, dress tastefully, maintain interests outside the household and still rear a family of children.

"Twenty years ago you would have looked long before you would have found a mother driving an automobile load of children chasing Santa Claus and his reindeer down the street, wouldn't you?" Dunder pointed out.

Vixen, the wisecracker of the team, popped up:

"Yes, because twenty years ago you seldom saw a woman who could drive an automobile."

Nevertheless, we have seen hundreds of them, as Dunder described, showing the children a good time and keeping young themselves, since coming to Los Angeles.

ANOTHER CROWD

At Arcadia we stopped in front of the City Hall, where another large crowd hailed us. That's a pretty town, Arcadia. Great place for children—and chickens.

Monrovia was billed for a look at us pulling Santa's sleigh down the street. The show was widely advertised and the place was packed with people from all over. I heard one man remark that the automobiles loaded with children had come into town as far east as San Bernardino during the morning. Invitations to 10,000 children in surrounding cities and towns had been sent out by the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce. It looked as though few of them passed up the chance.

When we started down Myrtle avenue with the sleigh—and, by the way, we stopped in front of the new building of the Monrovia Daily News—we just walked down a lane lined with children and their parents. There were a couple of orchestras on the job, but we made no effort to keep step to the music. After we left there was a program of entertainment at the city park, we understand. We should like to have stayed, but we had to get over to Pasadena.

The Pasadena turnout was keen! (That's one I picked up from a red-headed boy who parked himself alongside our float and tickled me in the ribs.) I asked Vixen again how many people he thought were along our line of march and, as usual, he said: "I bet there was a milyun." Of course, one always has to discount Vixen's stuff about 10 per cent.

TRAFFIC STOPS

At any rate, I heard it said by one of the motorcycle officers who escorted us that he didn't think there were many crowds in Pasadena, outside the Tournament of Roses crowd, that beat yesterday's turnout. Colorado street was literally jammed with people from Madison street to Marengo, where we pulled the sleigh. Traffic came to a standstill, autos, busses and street cars alike. The street-car boys have been very good about not crowding us when we are on the street.

You never saw the beat of the way the grown people sort of get beside themselves when they see us. Those who have children with them go wild for fear the little ones won't get a good look at us. Those, who have no children with them, do their own child stuff. Why, Dancer called my attention to a woman with gray hair, bobbed, with one of these flat hats, racing alongside the float in Pasadena yesterday. Any time children came within reach she brushed them out of the way. Now, can any one figure that out except on the basis of plain excitement!

After we got loaded up on the big float again—and the people just swarmed around us watching us get loaded—a man with a flannel shirt came running down the street after us.

SHE'S MADE HAPPY

He had a pretty, chubby little child on his shoulders. She wore a little yellow dress and a brown bonnet. And she was crying. Big tears were on her fat little cheeks. But the man kept on running and finally as we slowed down for a corner he caught up and Santa leaned over to listen to what the little girl wanted for Christmas. What made her cry was the fact that she had not had even a look at Santa on Colorado street because the crowd was so large. You know we stopped in front of a Pasadena newspaper office, too, the Star-News, and even picked up a little boy and took him for a ride. Just fro mthe looks of his face, I know where I could find the happiest boy in Pasadena.

We concluded the day by dropping in on South Pasadena for a brief visit. There was a good crowd there, mostly children, who were pleased to hear Ook Wat give his interesting talk on what we eat, how we grow and shed our horns. He's a good talker, is Ook.

Well, this will be another great day—down to Redondo, and the harbor district. While I take another helping of reindeer moss, you can read the program for today elsewhere in this issue of The Times.

COUNCIL TO SEE SLIDES

Magic Lantern Will be Used Today in Consideration of North Figueroa Street Plan

The City Council, sitting this afternoon as a committee of the whole on the North Figueroa-street plan, will be treated to a magic lantern show. The Engineering Department has a projecting machine and has constructed slides to take the place of the customary maps, and the slides will be thrown upon a screen hung over the chair of President Workman. Hitherto maps have been used, but it is impossible for all the interested persons to see them suitably.

The North Figueroa extension, one of the most important measures of the Major Traffic Plan, contemplates the prolongation of North Figueroa street from College street through Elysian Park by means of tunnels, then across the Los Angeles River to San Fernando Road, to Dayton avenue and thence to South Pasadena.

The Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance for opening and widening South Figueroa street from One Hundred Twentieth street to One Hundred Ninetieth street, following out the intention of constructing Figueroa to the harbor as a 100-foot boulevard. Action already has been taken to open and pave Figueroa from One Hundredth street to One Hundred Twentieth street. This section runs through the Shoestring Strip. The county will pave Figueroa street from One Hundred Ninetieth street south to Wilmington, where the city will connect it with Gaffey street, thus leading to the harbor.

front of a Temple-street bakery in which he worked, last September. He and Alpine had disputed over a watch, the prosecution contended.

WOULD HONOR PIONEER

In an address at the Masonic Club yesterday, Laurence L. Hill alluded to Jedediah Smith, "first American to cross the continent," as the "great unsung hero of Southern California" an suggested that the Southland conduct a great celebration in Smith's honor some time during 1926.

HALF-PINT ORDINANCE IS ARGUED

Supreme Court Hears Pro and Con of Los Angeles' Liquor Prescription Law

The validity of the Los Angeles Gandier ordinance, which limits the sale of alcoholic liquor on prescription to one-half pint, was argued at length yesterday before the Supreme Court by Attorney Harrison, who appeared for Albert Iverson, a drug clerk, and City Prosecutor Friedlander.

The attorney for Iverson attacked the ordinance as being in conflict with the Wright Act, which, he said, covers completely the sale of alcohol for medicinal purposes, providing limits not only for the quantity that may be prescribed at one time, but also the frequency of prescriptions and requires good faith on the part of the prescribing physician.

The City Prosecutor declared the Wright Act gives power to municipalities to impose further restrictions on the sale of liquor and that the ordinance accordingly is valid.

SIX INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Former Bank Manager Held in $10,000 Bail as Asserted Embezzler

Six indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury yesterday.

An indictment was returned against Maurice A. Marks, who, according to the United States District Attorney's office, had admitted embezzling about $5000 over a period of two years as manager of the Highland Branch of the Commercial Trust and Savings Bank. Bond was set at $10,000.

Voltaire Allegro, a seaman, was indicted on a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon on a ship. Allegro, it is said, shot and wounded Domingo Guerra, another seaman, at sea.

Joseph Francis McGowan was charged with impersonating a Department of Justice agent, and Charles H. Graham with violation of the tariff act. Manuel Arciniega and Lawrence Stewart were indicted on drug charges.

GEMS AND CASH TAKEN FROM SAFE

New York Woman Asserts She Left Valuables in Hotel Vault

Negotiable instruments totaling $1506 and a diamond and platinum bracelet valued at $600 were stolen from the safe of a hotel at 744 South Beacon street some time yesterday afternoon, according to the police.

The valuables belonged to Mrs. Frances G. Packard of 171 East Sixty-fourth street, New York City, said to be a society woman, a guest at the hostelry.

Mrs. Packard told Detectives Bartley and Shammo she left checks and the piece of jewelry with the management of the hotel before retiring. When she went to the office yesterday afternoon to get them they could not be found, she said.

According to the police and J. W. Weitzeman, manager of the hotel, the robbery occurred while the safe was open during business hours.

Youth Struck by Policeman's Car Succumbs

Warner Strawfinger, 12 years of age, delivering newspapers, yesterday pedaled his bicycle out of Robinson street into First street and was struck by a police car driven by Officer H. R. Reimer of the Van Nuys division. He died a few minutes later at Receiving Hospital.

The boy lived at 622 North Commonwealth avenue. The officer reported he did not see the boy in time to avoid the collision, and declared he was making only twenty miles an hour.

HUSBAND OF RIDE VICTIM AT BEDSIDE

Mrs. Hardesty, Recovering From Injury, Recognizes Mate on His Arrival

Rushing to the bedside of Mrs. Doris Hardesty, pretty young matron who was seriously injured on the 8th inst., under mysterious circumstances while on an automobile ride with a family friend, Robert F. Hardesty, the husband, arrived in Los Angeles late Tuesday night.

Hardesty, who has been in Florida on business, was rewarded by immediate recognition by the injured woman, who for several days had been unconscious and in a critical condition, with a basal fracture of the skull and bruises about the face.

At the Osteopathic Hospital, it was learned, the woman regained consciousness last Sunday for the first time and has since been improving steadily. Tuesday she was able to recognize her mother, Mrs. Nelson Hayes, 210 West Laurel street, Glendale.

Dr. Norman F. Sprague, who has had charge of the case since Mrs. Hardesty's entrance into the hospital, stated yesterday she is rallying splendidly.

From hospital authorities it was learned last night that the first official statement of the girl in regard to her accident will be made to representatives from the offices of Dist.-Atty. Keyes. Hardesty last night refused to comment on the case.

According to the story told by Kenneth Fether, Mrs. Hardesty was injured when she was hit by the door of his car when she attempted to jump from the moving machine. Fether was not held.

Mrs. Hardesty was found in a dazed condition and with severe injuries about the head, on Whittier Boulevard near Montebello, by S. Goya, a Japanese truck driver, who rushed her to the Receiving Hospital.

NEW HOME OF CADETS DEDICATED

Culver City Ceremonies Open $250,000 Academy Structure

The new $250,000 home of the Pacific Military Academy on National Boulevard, about one-fourth of a mile east of the California Country Club, was dedicated yesterday in the presence of many hundred guests, cadets and institution officials.

Headed by the cadets' band, seventy-five of the cadets paraded from the school to Culver City and back, opening the exercises, which continued throughout the afternoon and evening. This was followed by a military drill on the campus drill grounds, general inspection of the new home and the formal dedication exercise, opened by Maj. Baker, commandant of the academy, and at which Benjamin F. Bledsoe was principal speaker and Cadet Goodwin made the welcoming address.

On the dedication committee were Harry H. Culver, Charles E. Lindblade and Benjamin F. Bledsoe.

DISCHARGED AIDE SEEKS PAYMENTS

Ex-Auditorium Manager Asks $1095 Assertedly Due Him for Services

Mrs. Elsie Lincoln Benedict, lecturer on practical psychology, was a defendant yesterday in Judge Collier's court in a suit for $1095 brought against her and her manager, Miss Sarah Young, by William G. Cummins, formerly her auditorium manager here, for asserted breach of contract.

Mrs. Benedict, who was in court with her manager to offer a defense to the case, stated in her answer that Cummins had been employed by Miss Young solely on the condition that his services were to prove satisfactory to Mrs. Benedict.

Robinson's Pays Yuletide Bonus to Employees

In keeping with the policy adopted several years ago, the J. W. Robinson Company on the 10th inst., paid Christmas bonuses to more than 1800 employees, the total bonuses amounting to many thousand dollars.

Announcement of the bonuses was made recently in a notice signed by H. W. Robinson, president of the company.

All regular employees of the company, including such extra help as was employed before October 1, last, are eligible to the bonus. The annual Christmas bonus given by the company amounts to 5 per cent of the total yearly earnings of each employee.

Burial Service for Stratford Set Saturday

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m., Saturday in the chapel of Garrett Brothers, 1237 South Flower street, for Hector S. Stratford, who passed away at his residence, 2321 Crenshaw Boulevard, Tuesday after a short illness.

The firm of Stratford & Green, books and stationery, was located for seventeen years at 642-644 South Main street. The present firm is known as H. S. Stratford, Inc., and is located at 323 South Spring street.

He leaves his widow, two sons and a brother, Chester G. Stratford.

NYE IS DENIED

Gerald P. Nye, who was named by Gov. Sorlie of North Dakota to fill the vacancy caused by the death of United States Senator Ladd, may never find a seat. The young man may be said to be sorely put out although Sorlie put in.

TOO MUCH POLITICS

The tragedy is that Colorado River improvement has been kept in the knapsack of the politician rather than on the draughting board of the engineer. Several smug statesmen have been wrangling for personal glory rather than the general good.

AT THE BAR

The American bar in the Peace Palace at The Hague has been closed by the local council. It was argued that the temple of the doves was no place for the peddling of Holland gin to tourists. If the international tribunal is to have a saloon connection with it a lot of the work might be police court business.

STRICT SABBATHS

The Sabbath Day League in New York proposes to not only stop baseball and the movies on Sunday, but will seek a ban upon the sale of fruits and vegetables to motorists along the highways. The members propose to take a little of the joy out of the joy-riders. If Bessie falls into a pit she will have to stay until Monday morning.

EXTENDING LIFE

During the last eighty years the average span of life has been extended from thirty-seven to fifty-three years and it is being regularly advanced. If we continue our successful battles against germs and epidemics Sir Ronald Ross, the British surgeon, says that the age limit will soon be pushed up to 150 years. Thus says the doctor.

LEFT PROVIDENCE BEHIND

The art of walking has not been altogether forgotten by the ladies. Eleonora Sears, who has been famous in tennis and other athletics, walked the fifty miles from Providence to Boston the other day in less than ten hours! Some man had rashly wagered that she could not accomplish the journey in less than fifteen hours and she promptly took him up.

SOMETHING TO TACKLE

Some of these football stars say they are going into the movies, but are they? The calculation is to use them in football pictures, but Harold Lloyd got in first with his "Freshman" film and there is no great yearning for another gridiron picture. It isn't easy to make a good film around a game at that. The sport who stakes a fortune on a gridiron movie may not get a half or quarter back.

THE PARDONING POWER

In one year of Miriam Ferguson nearly 1200 prisoners have been released. They have been turned out of the prisons at the rate of more than 100 a month, which is much faster than they are being put in. On one day 105 were freed—including thirty-two murderers and eight charged with criminal assault. Vast sums of money are spent in the pursuit and conviction of lawbreakers, but if the malefactors are to be freed almost as soon as the gates close upon them what moral lesson is taught?

THE MONKEY-WRENCH

There are many and various adverse elements with which to contend when any great public improvement is to be developed, but of all the exasperating trouble-makers the monkey-wrench is the most pernicious—ever awaiting its chance to be flung. When all obstacles have seemingly been removed, the bearings oiled, and everything ready for a smooth start, slambang goes the monkey wrench into the machinery, with its resultant distracting clamor and wrecking of carefully laid plans. They apparently grow on the monkey-puzzle tree and drop off in the most unexpected places, sometimes throwing the whole works off or pulling the foundations from under the conservation structure.

WHOSE MOTHER?

Ejecting an aged woman from a street car the other night because she did not have a nickel to pay a second fare when the zone changed, causing her to wander all night in the Inglewood oil field, to be rescued by the police in the morning, was an inhuman act. Fortunately she seems to have come through the harrowing experience without suffering serious consequences, though that is yet to be determined. She might have been any man's mother, and each man will imagine for himself just what he would like to do to that conductor, whose lack of horse-sense and common humanity was responsible for her plight. Conductors have many trying things to contend with, but abuse of a motherly old woman will not be condoned by anybody. A friendly word would have shown him that she had accidentally boarded the wrong car and had no idea where she was when ejected.

EUROPE WARNED

Warning Europe that it must not make trade combinations against America, Secretary Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in a strong article in Current History Magazine, points out the retaliatory consequences that may result from this fatal course. The warning is in line with others given by him in recent addresses, but it goes much further and fully illustrates his power for putting in the punch when he gets a good grip on his fountain pen.

From his unique post of observation Secretary Hoover has been fully able to discern what is happening abroad and in America in respect to unfair foreign trade combination and the sentiment it has created in this country. He says that these unholy trade alliances control the production and prices of many commodities. We expend about $800,000,000 annually for imports subject to such control, so that the matter is vital to us. He owns to "infinite sympathy for the difficulties of all governments during these years," but says that the world is rapidly gaining stability and that desperate measures no longer should be resorted to by foreign statesmen.

The obvious reason why he attacks these governments in such a strenuous way is that the combinations complained of have been set up either directly by legislation or indirectly by government patronage. He says that they control, among other things, coffee, silk, nitrates, potash, rubber, quinine, iodine, tin, sisal, quicksilver, certain tanning extracts and some dyestuffs.

Quite clearly the Secretary points out that it is not alone the problem involved in the control of the commodities named, but the more serious one of the spread of these ideas of monopoly, which now faces the world and which must be subverted in the interest of world peace. For he does not hesitate to say that not only do such combinations give strength to the forces of evil in the commercial world, but they might lead to serious international difficulties.

The Secretary recites the various ways in which the United States might retaliate if foreign control of production and prices continues in the way it has been doing to the detriment of our people. One of these is the formation of combinations in this country, fostered by national legislation, with the view of getting back compensating amounts from helpless foreign consuming nations. Another is by authorizing our merchants and manufacturers to buy foreign-controlled commodities through a single agent and thus meet the issue of a single seller with a single buyer. He says we could win out in such a battle, for "the organized consumer has ever proved stronger than the producer."

Manifestly, such courses of procedure would be distasteful to a fair-minded people such as ours, and they are admittedly so to Mr. Hoover, for he does not recommend, but merely suggest them as desperate contingencies. It is to be hoped that they never will have to be resorted to, for they contemplate international trade in an atmosphere of contention and dispute instead of peaceful co-operation. Besides, if we should adopt these ideas we would have to revise our traditional national policy of competition as the basis of production and we should have to legislate in favor of the very thing we so long have discouraged—monopoly.

Mr. Hoover is right when he says that the solution of the whole problem lies in the willingness of foreign statesmen to recognise the consequences that must result from government-controlled production and prices and to meet the issue by abandoning all such ill-advised action.

IS SANTA CLAUS DEAD?

A few years ago a small city in Ohio decided to do away with Santa Claus. In the interests of honesty Santa Claus must go. It was a tremendous forward movement. The uplifters made speeches against the heathen custom, while other cities were reveling in a debauchery of toys and candies and ginger-bread men.

Christmas was not rung in by church bells and carols and laughter of childhood. The schools kept open and the churches were closed. The streets were empty and everybody was grouchy.

However, one beautiful providence occurred. One of the chief conspirators against Santa Claus died that day. It was quite generally regarded as a just retribution.

Before night came almost everybody in that town began to believe in Santa Claus again. No longer did the intellectuals dare say that it was a pagan institution.

The very next year that city gave a glorious welcome to Santa Claus. The scientific mind had to retire to its closet and hide away. It would have been mobbed. The people were openly contrite for having banished the jolly old man the year before. They sent him messages that they were sorry and that they would never betray him again. They humbly apologized for calling him a myth.

Is there a Santa Claus? Ask the people of Bellefontaine, O. Some may be living who had part in that tragedy years ago. If you would know whether there be a Santa Claus or not banish him for a year—and you will know.

The English gave the mistletoe; the Germans contributed the Christmas tree; but the Bohemians furnished Santa Claus. We are the heirs of all countries and ages.

A little girl came home from school not long ago looking as if there had been a funeral in the family. "There is no Santa Claus," she said.

"Who said there is no Santa Claus?" asked the mother. "The teacher," said the child. "Did she say 'There is no Santa Claus'?" asked the mother. "She did," answered the little girl. "That is because she does not know," said the mother. "She has no little girl and she does not know."

Santa Claus is as real as a mother's love, as steadfast as a father's faith. Santa Claus a fake? Not as long as there is unselfishness in the world! Not as long as there are fathers and mothers and little folks and a Father in the skies to welcome him back once a year!

Somebody says, "Santa Claus is a heathen!" Well, so were we all a little while back!

There are people who do not have eggs on Easter and they do not put flowers on a grave on Memorial Day. They believe in giving flowers to the living, they say. And yet it has been the experience of some that those who do not give flowers to the dead fail the living also. It is a subterfuge.

And they do not believe in firecrackers on the Fourth of July. Yet out of the ashes of punk rises the phoenix of patriotism. Nor do they have turkey on Thanksgiving, nor candles on a birthday, nor candy on Christmas.

They would rip the stars from the sky because they twinkle, and tear the silver lining from the clouds because they glisten. Such folks doubtless feel a little hard toward the Wise Men for bringing gifts of gold and perfume and starting something that first Christmas.

There are people who cannot see Deity in the mighty mountains. They break open the rocks and see nothing but stone. They do not see Deity in glorious trees—they see just wood. They cannot see "sermons in stones and books in running brooks." They just see sermons in books and stones in running brooks.

Blessed is the child who knows the wash rag is always accompanied by a kiss. Happy is the golden head who never feels the comb without hearing the story of the mysterious little "Tingle Tangles." Thrice happy the baby who knows the nightgown means a dream of Santa Claus!

We are genuinely sorry for the kiddie whose bumps are never kissed and who is instructed that there is no Santa Claus. Blessed is the man who knows that Deity puts a lump of sugar into every bitter cup. Do not push Santa Claus off the chimney—it might kill him—and that would be murder!

What we call fiction is sometimes truer than what we call fact.

WHY DAWES SMILED

To quote the old vaudeville song, "It isn't what you say, but how you say it" that gives offense, or the reverse of it. This truth was newly evidenced in the manner in which Vice-President Dawes received Senator Harrison's criticism of his objections to the Senate rules. Although the Senator from Mississippi likened the Vice-President to Don Quixote and also to a "misguided mule," he got off his diatribe in such a good-natured manner that Mr. Dawes smiled with the other auditors of "the jester of the Senate," as Harrison has been called, and said when it was all over, "I enjoyed Senator Harrison's speech very much."

To be sure, this was also proof of Dawes's own amiability, but he has been known to come back pretty savagely in debate and might have done so in this case had the manner of the speaker been offensive.

Some cantankerous critics who in jousting with an opponent growl and bark like a mongrel, thinking to make a stronger impression upon their hearers, should take a leaf out of Senator Harrison's mild-mannered book, though it would hardly be advisable to imitate his audacity. To state one's objections in a harsh manner is to miss a big point in putting home an argument. But to frame them in words that amuse rather than anger and to intone them softly is to leave out the sting and and to show there is no petty animus, while invariably it produces a better effect. It is strange that more people do not understand and practice this obvious rule, for nothing is gained by stirring up a deep resentment.

In Owen Wister's "Virginian" a character who used a peculiarly opprobrious epithet was warned, "When you say that—smile." And certainly a smile does go a long way toward making rough language or rough actions the more acceptable. The smooth, smiling Iago always has the better of the frowning, growling Caliban. If one knew that the moron honking behind one's car in the traffic were smiling as he pressed the button it would destroy half of one's irritation, though this, to be sure, is not a very happy illustration, for to reduce the irritation by 50 per cent might still leave enough to cause one to slay the idiot while he smiled.

It is easy to nag. The querulousness which results from defects of amenity seems natural to many people. If husband and wife were to make their criticisms of each other in careful language and mild tones there would be fewer divorces. On any occasion there is hardly a better way to put over a strong point than that which causes the victim to "laugh it off."

It is the same in writing as in speech. No great offense was taken by Kipling's rhythmic roasts of the British army by officers or men, for, as he said, they were

"In jesting guise, and ye are wise,
And ye know what the jest is worth."

And there are countless other illustrations of the fact that one may disarm the object of one's criticism by making him laugh.

NAILING A LIE

It has been declared frequently that prohibition was voted upon the country while the boys were in France fighting for freedom. It was an ugly charge and hard to combat.

Every now and then, however, something happens which drives an additional nail into that lie.

A year ago, when the team from Oxford University, England, was debating with teams in our larger universities on the question, "Resolved That We Favor National Prohibition," and in which the British boys took the negative, the audience was frequently polled on the student sentiment at large.

The University of Michigan voted 1247 to 520 for prohibition. The University of Cincinnati, in a city that had its "Over the Rhine" in preprohibition days, gave a verdict of 1740 to 698 for the dry cause. The University of Minnesota was just as decisive with 1348 for prohibition and 520 against.

A cross-section of the youth in college today is a fair criterion of the sentiment of youth any time within the past decade. That two of these tests were taken in State universities and another in a municipal school of learning is especially significant.

If the vote had been secured in a church school that is largely under denominational patronage there might be some question of it being an expression of the youth of the country in general. No dry prejudice can be claimed in a State school.

Another popular delusion is also exploded. Evidently all the youths of the universities and colleges of the country are not carrying flasks about in their hip pockets.

Wet propaganda has a way of using the fallacy of the universal with careless abandon. However, the world usually gets the truth in the end and then it is more deadly.

GOOD IN EVERYTHING

By James J. Montague

The burglar does not fuss nor grouse
As he proceeds from house to house,
Because the time
He spends in crime
Curtails his recreation.
He pries his trade with all his might
And through the dark inclement night,
With no complaint—
Because his ain't
An easy occupation.

Were he engaged in honest toil,
No watchman he would have to foil,
Nor with his loot
Evade pursuit
By sneaking through the city.
But though his work is always hard,
And he must always be on guard—
From him no word
Is ever heard
Of puerile self-pity.

But we whose trades are soft and safe,
Are wont to sit around and chafe
Because our lot
Sometimes is not
Composed of cream and peaches.
The burglar is a sinful man—
But notwithstanding that, we can Afford indeed
To note and heed

WHAT PRICE RELIGION

BY ALMA WHITAKER

According to our religious statisticians, church membership increased by 690,000 last year and 6000 new Protestant churches were dedicated. Last year $60,000,000 was spent on new churches and this year another $100,000,000 is to be spent. Methodist Episcopalians spent $21,000,000 for new churches last year alone.

It would almost seem to be time that preachers admitted that the world is not as bad as it was, that the American home has not entirely failed, that youth is not all rushing straight to the devil, that women's styles in dress are not sending the nation to damnation, that civilization is not tottering, that we are not a Godless country.

Otherwise investors in these mighty religious financial enterprises will doubt whether they may hope for any moral dividends. On the evidence it would seem that these great religious investments should now be recorded as above par and still soaring. But many of our preachers seem bent upon "bearing" the market. They seem anxious to prove that these investments have been futile.

As against this, the enrollment in our State colleges alone has increased three and fourfold, religious colleges leading—all this during the last five years. Is this evidence of the failure of the American home, of youth rushing straight to perdition? We are more optimistic about religion, the American home and youth than all-too-many of our pastors and preachers, whose pessimism is surely scarcely warranted by the above figures.

PROMPTNESS

BY A. M. ROW

Ever wait an hour at the corner for the fellow who said he would meet you there at 10:15? . . . Ever sit and crane your neck for the expected guest who was always behind time? . . . Late for dinner, late at the theater, late at church. . . . Always dragging at the rear. . . . Promptness in keeping appointments is a duty to one's self and an obligation to others. . . . Don't be a tail-ender. . . . Don't become an alibi artist. . . . It's unpopular and makes people distrustful. . . . Promptness compensates for many little shortcomings and establishes you in the confidence of your friends.

THE CALL FOR A MAN

Wanted: A man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not imperil the lives of others in an attempt to be the first to quit work at night.

A man who is neat in appearance and does not sulk for an hour's overtime in emergencies.

A man who listens carefully when he is spoken to and asks only enough questions to insure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who moves quickly and makes as little noise as possible about it.

A man who looks you straight in the eye and tells the truth every time.

A man who does not pity himself for having to work.

A man who is cheerful, courteous to everyone and determined to "make good."

A man who, when he does not know, says, "I don't know," and when he is asked to do anything says, "I'll try."—[Powell River Digester.

LETTERS TO The Times

Youth Must Be Served

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Here is a story from real life.

The old man walked into the bank and handed the cashier five thousand dollars in securities, saying:

"My boy Jim, who has graduated from a business college wants to buy out a business here, and he will call on you for a loan in a few days. He will put up a good line of talk. Let him have it, and dole it out to him from time to time on his personal notes without my indorsement, after cross-questioning him as to how he expects to meet them. I am putting up these securities without his knowledge to protect the bank." "Yes," replied the cashier, "but Jim will go broke; there is too much competition here in that line." "I know it," said the old man. "But I want him to have a thorough business training by going broke quick. I am tired of listening to his chatter about competition being the life of trade. He says the old guy he is going to buy out knows nothing about the up-to-date ways of doing business. Yes, sir, I want him to run up against some of those old business guys who are not up to date, and have the starch taken out of his white collars, early in life."

ROBERT McCOURT.

The "Little Dame" Speaks

Blessings on thee, little man,
Modern boy whose garb I scan;
Un-upturned thy pantaloons,
Flapping round thee like balloons;
With the hems, their width around,
Gathering microbes from the ground;
With their warmth and weight and hampering;
With the vanity they're pampering;
With thy sacrifice of freedom
Through the notion this is HE-dom;
Pygmy man, I give thee joy,
Sure I'm glad I'm not a boy.

Advises Venice

LONG BEACH, Dec. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Make Venice another Long Beach. Take away the evil things. It may be hard on a few. But better things will take their place. More people will make their home there.

Long Beach had local option before prohibition, when other beaches had the open saloon.

Look where Long Beach has gone.

Better things always grow into good.

Watch Venice grow.

MAY MINER.

Lincoln and Grant

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Dr. Helms' letter on your editorial page today shows to what extremities people will go to accomplish their own ends. In the first place neither Washington nor Lincoln was a prohibitionist, but rather committed to the theory that liquor was a very good servant and also a very poor master. Neither of these men ever claimed that the moderate use of liquor was a crime, as we now have it written into law. There was a great hue and cry about Gen. Grant drinking and President Lincoln was besieged day and night to relieve him of his command. It is said that Lincoln asked the brand of liquor Grant was using, saying he would like to try it on some of his less successful generals. Dr. Helms and his following would have fired Grant even if it destroyed the Union, therefore, we see to what lengths intolerance will go to secure its ends.

If Dr. Helms would revise his memory he would find that public opinion is the only enforcer of our laws and he well knows that public opinion is leaving the intolerable drys and going the other way. This is written by one who does not use liquors in any form, who has used his own brains and common sense. Having traveled much through Canada and this country my impression is the situation is getting worse and people who a year ago were lukewarm about prohibition are now dead against it and some sort of a solution will have to be worked out before the warring factions of this country will be reconciled.

RIPPLING RHYMES

TAXING THE DEAD

While I'm feeling hale and hearty I'm an optimistic party and I'll smile with any smarty as I pay the taxes due; I will sing and smile and chortle at the tax collector's portal, but, alas, I'm only mortal, soon my journey will be through.
I have saved some silver pieces which are stored in large valises, that my loving aunts and nieces may not suffer when I'm dead; it would soothe me when I perish if I knew the ones I cherish would not hear the sound night-marish of the tax collector's tread. When I'm in a churchyard sector, with the blessing of the rector, then will come the tax collector, saying to the mourners pale, "Where's the money you inherit? For the government must share it, from your keeping I must bear it—where's the plunder, where's the kale?" I'll be lying cold and senseless, down and out and all defenseless, while the mourners, sad and penceless, are reduced to scrubbing floors;
they will have to sew and launder while the tax collectors ponder o'er the coin they hoped to squander in the large department stores. It's a crime I long have ranted, taxing people when they're planted, spoiling all the dreams enchanted of our legatees and heirs. "Pay up gaily," is my motto, "in the tax collector's grotto," but no tax collector ought to chase me up the golden stairs. WALT MASON.

TRIO APPLAUDED

Patrons of the station yesterday afternoon were given a real treat when the youthful Di Tullio trio composed of three brothers, made their debut over KHJ in a group of excellent renditions. They were lauded by the attaches, with applause coming immediately over the telephones. Loraine Beard, soprano soloist, was also on the program, as was Mamie Stark, possessor of the unique baritone voice that has created much comment. They were followed by McClellan Reed, widely known lecturer, who gave his weekly talk on "Child Psychology," the subject which is now engrossing the attention of the leading educators of the country.

The noon broadcast was a regular frolic, sponsored through the courtesy of the Motor Transit Company, with Ted and Claude Weingand giving a group of novelty numbers on the xylophone, ukulele and piano, Tom Mitchell in baritone solos, Dave Albert and his piano accordion, and Charles Craver, who is known as "Arkansaw Charlie." This program was immediately followed by Fred C. McNabb, making his weekly garden chat through the courtesy of the Aggeler & Musser Seed Co.

Patrons of The Times station tonight have an opportunity of tuning in KHO to hear one of KHJ's favorites, Edith Knox, who has been given signal recognition by the San Francisco musical colony, appearing at 8 o'clock this evening before the microphone there as concert pianist with the Symphony Players, the leading artists of the northern city. She is the talented daughter of Harry Knox, widely known flutist, who has frequently been heard from KHJ. She is to play several of the most difficult compositions in the library of music, with the symphonic artists assisting.

Radioland tonight will again hear one of the splendid concerts sponsored by the Frank Meline Company through the American Reforestation Association to further the planting of trees and the conservation of our present timber growths, with George H. Barnes, president of the association and nationally recognized as the leading figure in the campaign for preserving our forests to again appear personally before the microphone in addition to an exceptionally fine array of artists.

THIEF RAIDS DRY SQUAD'S RUM CACHE

Liquor Trial Evidence Held by Sheriff's Men Taken After Door is Jimmied

While Col. Frith was still busy yesterday trying to discover who carted off some 600 cases of liquor from a government bonded warehouse last Friday morning, deputy sheriffs were trying to unravel a similar, if smaller, mystery.

Late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, it was revealed yesterday afternoon, someone jimmied the door of Capt. Jim Bond's liquor cache at the Sheriff's office and removed about a dozen bottles of assorted liquor.

Chief Criminal Deputy Harry Wright is investigating the theft. The liquor taken comprised the evidence in a case to be tried in the near future, it was announced last night. The party who broke into the room where the liquor was stored was familiar with the seized goods and did not molest other bottles nearby, according to Wright.

Two months ago about 250 cases of Scotch whisky seized in a raid was in the basement cache, but this was destroyed several weeks ago. Since then the practice of storing large quantities of seizures there has been discontinued.

A week or ten days before the raid on Capt. Bond's liquor cache someone broke into his office and rifled his desk, taking $150 of a fund used by him for paying special operatives, it was also revealed yesterday.

NET NOW DRAWING AROUND FEDERAL RUM THIEVES

Treasury and Department of Justice agents yesterday began to close the net that is expected to ensnare members of the gang responsible for the robbery of the United States government customs warehouse here several days ago of hundreds of cases of choice liquors valued at nearly $100,000, Col. R. E. Frith, prohibition director for this district, stated last night. Arrest of those responsible for the theft is but a matter of hours, the dry chieftain predicted.

One suspect was detained for questioning yesterday but later was released, W. W. Anderson, Frith's chief assistant, stated. He was subjected to a severe grilling by dry agents on suspicion of having knowledge of the robbery but established to the satisfaction of his questioners he was not connected with the deal. Lack of evidence to connect him with the theft resulted in his being released.

At least half a dozen men and two or more trucks were employed in the robbery, Col. Frith believes. Officers thus far have been unable to trace the stolen liquor he stated.

INGLEWOOD VOTES SEWER BOND ISSUE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 16.—A sewer-bond issue, carrying $260,000 was approved at an election today, three other proposed issues, $275,000 streets and highways, $65,000 water-system development, and $50,000 parks, being defeated. The sewer-bond issue is for local mains to connect with the outfall sewer of Sanitation District No. 5. Five draughtsmen in the office of City Engineer Paffer will begin work on the plans tomorrow.

NEW PHONE CENTRAL CUT IN

York Latest Prefix Added to List as Result of Rapid Growth of Southwestern Los Angeles

Due to rapid growth of southwestern Los Angeles telephone demands in this district made it necessary for the Southern California Telephone Company to start connecting subscribers to a new central office yesterday, more than two months before the new equipment was scheduled for service.

H. C. Lauderback, commercial superintendent of the Southern California Telephone Company, announced that "York" is now added to Los Angeles' growing family of central office prefixes. Had not orders come in at an accelerated rate during recent months, the new central office equipment known as York would not have been made a part of the exchange until the next directory in March, he said.

In March, 1924, less than two years ago, the company completed a new telephone-switching plant, known as Thornwall, at Sixty-ninth street and Vermont avenue. Thornwall unit was expanded to its largest size within a year and now York unit in the same building is necessary to keep abreast of the demand for telephones. The average central office unit cares for more than 10,000 telephones.

Speaking of the large number of orders for service that the company has been receiving, Mr. Lauderback said: "Orders for the installation of telephones have been coming in at a record-breaking rate during recent months. In November, 7942 telephones were ordered and Los Angeles exchange grew to the extent of 7261 instruments in two months.

Dodge Company Announces Cut on All Models

Sweeping reductions in the prices of all models were announced yesterday by Dodge Brothers, Inc. motor car manufacturers, through Fred S. Albertson, of the Albertson Motor Company of this city. The new prices, according to the official announcement, will apply on all cars purchased after midnight of the 18th inst., although the exact amount of the drop will not be known until January 7, 1926.

Greatly enlarged production facilities due to the completion of a $10,000,000 expansion program was given as the reason for the price drop.

HIGH-CLASS APARTMENT TO BE BUILT

Structure Costing Half-Million Announced on Site Near Ambassador

Construction is to begin at once on a $500,000 high-class apartment-house, which will be erected on a site at West Eighth and Fedora streets, directly opposite the south entrance of the Ambassador, it was announced yesterday by S. Charles Lee, architect.

The structure will be known as Haddon Hall and is being built by R. G. and J. G. Obendorf of Los Angeles in association with a syndicate of Chicago capitalists. Bonds to the extent of $250,000, underwritten by S. W. Straus & Co., will aid the financing of the project.

The building will front 150 feet on West Eighth street and 100 feet on Fedora street and has been designed in the French Baronial motif. It will be four stories in height and will contain fifteen three-room apartments, twenty-one double apartments, seven single hotel rooms and space for four stores.

The stores will front on the Eighth-street side.

How to Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff, inflamed, pain-tortured joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tortured joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease soaks straight in through skin and flesh right down to the tendons and ligaments of the joint—right where all the trouble starts—and then blessed relief comes quickly.

Remember, Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Clubs Society — Of Interest to Women

What Women are Doing

BY MYRA NYE

The first undertaking of the Woman's City Club to establish a complete course of lectures is the arranging of five addresses with the general theme, "The World Today and Our International Relations," by Paul Harvey, editor and author, who has recently returned from a first-hand study of conditions in six European countries.

To accommodate business men as well as the members of the club and their friends the lectures will be given from 12:45 to 1:30 p. m. on the following dates: The 28th inst.; January 4-11-18-25, which are Mondays, the regular meeting day of the organization.

Mr. Harvey's subjects are: "Europe Today and Before the War," "Economic Restoration," "The Pathway to Peace," "Some Problems of the Pacific" and "American's Foreign Policy," all as related to the theme "The Causes of War."

Mr. Harvey was a delegate throughout the meetings of the third conference of the International Chamber of Commerce at Brussels in June of this year where economic restoration was the subject discussed by experts from many nations. He also participated at the Institute of International Politics in Williamstown in August, and the conference on American relations with China at Baltimore in December.

The lectures in this city will be given in the auditorium of the Friday Morning clubhouse.

The annual club tea will be given the 28th inst., and Mr. Harvey will be guest of honor.

Beverly Hills Woman's Club

Aline Barrett Greenwood was the speaker for the Beverly Hills Woman's Club at the meeting Tuesday. Together with the usual discussion of current events, Miss Greenwood reviewed some of the new books. Among them were: "Portrait of a Man with Red Hair," by Hugh Walpole; "Beyond Kyber Pass," by Thomas; "Amenities of a Book Collector," by Newton; "Christina Roberta's Father," by Wells, and "Possession," by Bromfield.

Yesterday Miss Greenwood spoke before the Shakespeare Club of Pasadena, today she speaks at the Ambassador Theater in Los Angeles and tomorrow at the Ebell Club in Long Beach. Saturday morning she will appear at the Baltimore in the music room.

Newest Federated Club

"The Copyists' Association" is the newest club to federate both with the Los Angeles district and the State. The club has the distinction of being the first group of county employees to affiliate with these federations.

In one of the courtrooms, deserted at noon by august judge and battling jurors, 131 women from the department of the County Recorder's Office, conduct their meeting on the second Tuesday of each month. The membership, comprising women of all ages from 20 to 50 and representing widely divergent views, has effected this organization to promote a spirit of understanding in the Courthouse, especially in so far as affairs there relate to women, efficiency and progress in the department. The members are reaching out for the friendly hand of the federated body of women whose interests and activities have broadened from the local and personal to those of district and State to gain from them a larger sense of co-operation and friendship. Officers are as follows: President, Mrs. J. C. Wright; vice-president, Emily Novak, and secretary-treasurer, Mary Hoey.

Kate Tupper Galpin

Shakespeare's views on co-operation in service or employment will be demonstrated by members of the Kate Tupper Galpin Shakespeare Club at the holiday luncheon and program Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at the Women's University clubhouse. The feature is a little play written by Mrs. Robert Robinson. Music will be given by Miss Madeline Bridges and Mrs. G. Gaddes, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Kinsey.

Business and Professional

A "Pound Party" will be given by the Business and Professional Women's Club this evening for the Los Angeles Business Girls' Club at the latter's clubhouse, 1207 Alessandro street. Each guest will bring a pound of something good to eat or its equivalent, as a Christmas gift to the club. The members of the Girls' Club will be hostesses, serve a Christmas dinner and give a playlet entitled "A Sixteenth Century Christmas." Friends of both clubs are invited.

Bring a Child

Admission to the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club, Monday, is conditional upon the bringing of a child, a borrowed one if necessary, to be the guest of the club on the occasion of the annual children's party. A feature of the entertainment which has been arranged to suit the tastes of the small guests, will be a Christmas tree, and each child will place by it a gift to be given to the children of disabled veterans at Sawtelle.

Smith College

Grace Hazard Conkling will be honored at the annual midwinter luncheon of the Smith College Club of Southern California, to be held at the Midwick Country Club, Alhambra, at 12:30, Saturday the 19th inst.

All persons connected with Smith are invited to the luncheon. Reservations at $2.50 must be made immediately with Mrs. John McWilliams, Jr., 1207 South Pasadena avenue, Pasadena.

Mrs. Conkling is a poet, lecturer and professor at Smith College of which she is a graduate, and her appearance at this luncheon will no doubt be of interest to her many admirers.

Mrs. Wilkinson Entertains Club

Elysian Heights Civic Club members and their friends will be entertained at the lovely home of Mrs. H. E. Wilkinson, 1554 Curran street, Saturday evening, the 19th inst.

The party is given annually by Mrs. Wilkinson to aid the Christmas charity fund of the club.

Mrs. Charles Elphick, Mrs. George Chappell, Mrs. A. B. Wright, Mrs. F. Browne and Mrs. W. H. Richardson will assist with the program and refreshments.

Railway Auxiliary

A Christmas party and food shower will be given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Railway Mail Association the 22nd inst. for the children of the Goodwill Day Nursery, 343 N. Main street. The big tree donated by railway postal clerks and laden with gifts will be left in the nursery for the children. Mrs. John B. Good is in charge of the program and has planned a fitting entertainment of stories, dances and musical numbers.

CORN MUFFINS

Sift one and a half cupfuls of sifted flour with one and a half cupfuls of yellow cornmeal, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and six level teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add two well-beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and beat to a smooth dough with one and a quarter cupfuls of milk. Fill buttered muffin rings three-quarters full with the mixture, brush with melted butter and bake in a hot oven twenty minutes.

CURRIED OYSTERS

Cover two cupfuls of California oysters with two cupfuls of water, bring to a boil and cook two minutes; drain off the liquor and place the oysters in a warm bowl. Melt five tablespoonfuls of butter, add one sliced apple and cook until soft, stir in one teaspoonful of curry powder mixed with two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until smooth; add the oyster liquor, boil four minutes, add one tablespoonful of chutney sauce, one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a seasoning of salt and cayenne pepper; stir and cook three minutes; strain into a clean saucepan, heat and beat in the yolk of one egg beaten with one tablespoonful of cream; stir and cook one minute, do not boil, add the oysters and pour over rounds of toast placed on a hot platter. Place around the edges of the platter mounds of boiled rice and sprinkle over all finely chopped parsley.

CLAM CHOWDER

Place a colander over a saucepan, cover with a double layer of cheese cloth and turn into it two cupfuls of cleaned clams; pick over the clams and wash with enough cold water to make four cupfuls of liquor; chop the tough parts of the clams and keep the tender parts whole. Bring clam liquor to a boil, add two cupfuls of diced potatoes, boil five minutes and drain. Reheat the liquor to a boil. Heat in a soup pot two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one chopped slice of parboiled salt pork, stir and cook three minutes, add four tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, cook five minutes, add the potato dice, cook and stir three minutes, add the clam liquor and the chopped tough parts of the clams; bring to a boil and simmer twenty minutes, skim and season with salt, pepper and a few drops of tabasco sauce; add the soft parts of the clams and simmer two minutes. Serve with toasted crackers.

LEMON POTATO SOUFFLE

Beat four tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream and gradually beat into it half a cupful of sifted flour; beat until smooth and beat in, one at a time, the yolks of five eggs, beating one minute after the addition of each yolk; and the grated rind of half a lemon and one and a quarter cupfuls of finely grated, peeled, raw potatoes; mix well and fold it lightly the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs. Pour into a well-buttered pudding mold and bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. Before serving sprinkle the to with powdered sugar and cinnamon.

Court Awards Support That Wife Waives

A mother may not waive the right of her children to support by their father, Judge Thompson ruled yesterday when he granted Elsie M. Boswell a divorce from Tony C. Boswell.

"She doesn't want any alimony or support for the children," Attorney Hahn, counsel for Mrs. Boswell, declared. "She is willing and able to care for herself and her children."

"That makes no difference," Judge Thompson replied. "This man is bound to support his children and Mrs. Boswell cannot relieve him of that responsibility."

So the court ordered Boswell to pay his wife $40 a month, whether she wants it or not.

LABORER INJURED BY SEWER BANK CAVE-IN

A cave-in of one of the banks of a sewer being dug at Vernon and Fourth avenues yesterday caught Sam Kallayjian, 32 years of age, a laborer employed by Edwards Brothers, contractors. He suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries and his condition is considered critical. He was taken to Receiving Hospital.

HOLDS PACT OF LOCARNO SIGNIFICANT

New York Educator Tells City Club Treaty Begins Era of Good Will

"Locarno means, first of all, an admission on the part of Germany, France and England that the World War was a loss to all nations, but I am tempted also to believe that the conference in that little Swiss village means the beginning of the development of a genuine spirit of good will," declared Dr. Frederick W. Roman of New York University, in an address given yesterday before the Los Angeles City Club.

"If the nations of the world, in their economic and educational programs, do not try to improve conditions to the extent that there will be a minimum of cases brought before the League of Nations, the overburdening of that great organization may prove tragic," said Dr. Roman. "So far, the League has been functioning successfully and without it there would have been no Locarno."

C. A. Dykstra, secretary of the City Club, announced that on next Saturday at noon Nathan Newby and former Federal Judge Bledsoe will discuss "The California Syndicalism Law." At noon tomorrow there will be a community sing and a program of music by artists of Los Angeles.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

Last Minuting

After all—yes although does not, perhaps, mean get the full spirit of Christmas giving, until the last days are almost upon us. It about it too early and no regret that all your gifts seem a bit pale. Possibly you begin all over and either refill your list or if unable to do this, you at least will add thereto. So many interesting novelties are in the stores and shops during the last days! One has the must-have impulse, for oneself and most of all others.

Getting There

And, by the way, it is getting ward that traditional list—for Christmas shopping do it now. There is such as too late last minute.

The Little Shops

It is at this season that the er shops come into their tled out by the crowds, to seek the less-frequented find, often, many interesting of whose existence you dreamed. In these, the taste has been exercised, ransacked for things and the gift purchaser benefit of this discrimination ment to bolster up his own decisions. Nothing so limpen one's certainty as search after gifts.

Two Girls' Shop

"We got started the claimed one of these girls around the charming opened. "All the better patrons," replied the other mistically. "They get the of absolutely fresh stuff our choices among the the season's productions will they find us!" question doubter. "Of course they said the onlooker. "They magnetized to you by of the studio-shop, by the ent atmosphere pervading the admirable objects our prices." "Encouraging," oned the doubter, "if not ing." Again her eye the tastefully posed products of loom, of needle and of potter's that eye kindled with as it rested upon the "Almost we might needle to a battleship our offerings," she smiling lovingly a Chinese tipping a quaint bit of Belgium and then an piece of pottery. After while she glanced at a shawl, hand painted by signature adds inestimable Quaint puzzle blocks, origin, colorful and vied with age-softened embroideries looted from teries; the blazonry of lian pottery, endeavored to elusive charms of antique pewter. Wall rugs and of fascinating weaves of quota of mingled color, ject, like instruments in tra, playing its part in money. "A bit out of the way," mused the doubter, very out-of-the-wayness," argued Optime, "since have not adopted traffic order to pass each other sidewalks."

A Sweet Christmas

Sweet, indeed, is this bound to be! So many burners—so much fuel. Never before has nuity been taxed for new present, in creating ideas ers. Of course, when or before' I refer to the our own day. No tender ture Tut diggers may by the way, how archeological search has influenced designs in jewelry and namentation: Aztec and teries seemingly symbolic the automobile smiles of Nilistic amulets. In Fashion's Gift Bag

Wear your jabot in the Waistlines are still good

The flared skirt must be

Gowns are a bit elaborate back.

Satin still enjoys a good attention.

Metal braid appears on the new hats.

Green is a most becoming to a fair skin.

Skirts, though abbreviated, much decorated.

Sleeves may be puffed below the elbow.

Pajamas are of luxurious and vivid in color.

We will surely see more fullness in the back.

All greys, from silver to are having a great vogue.

Dance frocks are cut to have a fitted waist and flaring

A dinner dress in lace or fon is becoming and fashionable.

BRIDE OF NAVAL LIEUTENANT

Bound for East on U.S.S. Henderson

[Lindstedt-Phalan Studios]

Mrs. Maurice Eugene Van Cleave

ONE of the charmingly-appointed weddings of the season was that of Miss Harriet Townsend Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sterling of Beverly Hills and Lieut. Maurice Eugene Van Cleave, U.S.N., which took place in All Saints' Church, with Dean Evans officiating. Lieut. and Mrs. Van Cleave sailed aboard the U.S.S. Henderson for Philadelphia by way of the Panama Canal, and after a visit there will go on to Lieut. Van Cleave's new detail at Hampton Roads.

She was graduated from Girls' Collegiate and later attended the University of California, Southern Branch. Lieut. Van Cleave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Van Cleave of Texas, and was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Cleave left aboard the U.S.S. Henderson for Philadelphia by way of the Panama Canal, and after an extended visit there will go on to Hampton Roads.

Here for Visit

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Rice of Chicago will sail aboard the Manchuria, which will arrive here by way of the Panama Canal just before Christmas, and they will be the house guests for a month of Mrs. L. M. Fahrney at the Gaylord in Wilshire Boulevard.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

BUTTERICK 6457

Straight, almost tailored lines are used for a French frock that manages to fall out in the front.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Use It at Once

Buy fish the day it is to be used, never beforehand. It may spoil in keeping and even if it does keep fresh the flavor will be impaired.

Use a Spoon

Turn the beets with a spoon instead of a fork. When the beet is pierced with a fork the juice escapes from it and makes the vegetable less tasty.

Stops the Ache

When you get a "kink" in your arm from whipping eggs or cream, move the dish to a different level. This will relieve the strain and you can go on with the job more comfortably.

Soap Dyes

Better results will b efound when using soap dyes if the soap is melted in sufficient water to cover the article to be dyed and let it come to a boil. However, do not put the garment in until the dye mixture has cooled. Then the color will be even.

Boiled Water

Boiled water will lose that flat taste if poured back and forth from one pitcher to another or shaken in a large bottle.

Get Busy

Remove stains as soon as possible after they have occurred, as fresh stains are always easier to remove than old ones.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

CARBONATED DRINKS

J.—The so-called soft drinks, made of carbonated water and fruit syrups and put up by reliable firms, are not harmful. On the contrary, they are fairly good energy food drinks and very refreshing.

The number of calories in a bottle of soda depends upon the size and degree of sweetness. A one-half pint contains from 100 to 150 calories. Three cubes of sugar count 100 calories, and you can judge the number of calories in the drink by estimating approximately how much sugar you think it takes to make it as sweet as it is.

Ice cream sodas are also good harmless food drinks in moderation, but the calories—ot. oil 250 to 650, depending upon the richness.

For those who are reducing it is best to take plain carbonated water, when fountain drinks are taken. It doesn't register in calories.

INFECTED JAWS

Mrs. H. Wrote asking about an infected jaw, but her letter was returned for some reason. (Evidently she did not address it correctly to the newspaper which carries my column.) The returned letter found her in the hospital for that same infected jaw, and it was found to be caused by an infected wisdom tooth which was impacted. (That means it had not erupted through the gums.) If it had not been "for the providence of God working through the very best mouth surgeon in the country, I would have died easily," she writes.

I'm glad you didn't believe that God won't do anything for you unless you ignore his agents and other material help, Mrs. S.

Infected jaws may become very serious and one should seek a skillful dentist or surgeon immediately. Impacted teeth are not uncommon causes of infected jaws. The X-ray will disclose if the teeth are the cause of this trouble.

PERIL IN VEGETARIANISM

Mrs. H.—It sometimes happens that vegetarians (those who eat no flesh food of any kind) have a diet that is deficient in protein. Protein is one of the very essential foods, because the tissues of the body are largely made of protein, and if you don't supply enough they are going to suffer, naturally. You should have 250 to 350 calories of protein each day, so if you are a vegetarian you will have to take more milk, cheese, eggs or nuts than usual.

I'll give you a list of foods with the protein calories:

Calories of protein in 100-calory portions of foods:

CALORIES OF PROTEIN IN 100-CALORY PORTIONS OF FOODS	Cs Protein
Bread, 1 slice (W. W. the highest)..	15 to 16
Cooked cereals, small cup (oatmeal highest)	10 to 13
Rice, 1 small cup	10
Macaroni, 1 small cup	15
Whole milk, 3 ounces	25
Skim and buttermilk, 10 ounces	25
Cheese (cottage cheese), 3 tablespoonfuls	75
Eggs, 1 1-2	20
Very lean meat and fish (3/4 fat bacon	50 to 75
Peanuts, 12 to 13 double	15
Almonds, 12	15
Walnuts, 4 to 6	15
Beans, 1-2 cupful	20
Green Peas, 1/2 cup	10
Corn, 1-2 cup	10
Onions, 2 to 4 medium	10
Potato, 1 medium	10
Spinach, 1/2 lb.	10

FRESH FRUITS

With the exception of berries currants and rhubarb, which have 10 calories of protein, fresh fruits have only 3-5 C. of protein per 100 C.

Coroner's Jury Frees Youth in Child's Death

Following the verdict of a Coroner's jury that the shooting of J. E. Davis, 11 years of age, at El Monte was accidental, Woodrow Nixon, 12 years of age, was released yesterday from Juvenile Hall. The jury found that Davis was killed "by his playmate."

The boys were playing at the Nixon home with a revolver which contained only one cartridge. The cartridge went off when the weapon was pointed at the head of young Davis, and he died on his way to the Alhambra Hospital. The inquest was conducted at the undertaking rooms of J. M. Schnal at El Monte.

ORDER ARRESTS IN LICENSE CASE

False Advertising Laid to Two Men of Company

Fee Charged for Getting Plates, Says Charge

Defendants Assert Business of Legitimate Nature

A criminal complaint against R. C. Brewer and S. Hodson for asserted false advertising over the name "California Auto License Service" was issued by City Prosecuter Friedlander yesterday at the instance of F. T. Zimmerman, an inspector for the California State Motor Vehicle Department. Police Judge Chambers issued the warrants for the arrest of Brewer and Hodson.

The complaint says the two men issued newspaper advertisements, described as "deceptive and misleading," which, as set out in the complaint, informed readers that 1926 license plates could be applied for at 1620 and 1630 South Flower street; that such business would be "cared for as usual in connection with the new office on Grand avenue," and that "it has been decided to keep open our old office."

The State office was located at 1630 South Flower street until a few days before the advertisement appeared, the complaint says. It then was moved to 2419 South Grand avenue.

Because of the similarity of addresses and names and trend of the advertisement, the complaint says, statements in the advertisement are "false, untrue and misleading," and, according to a statement in the complaint, the California Auto License Service is "a private concern for profit," and has no connection with the State office recently vacating the premises. Intention to mislead by the advertisement is charged by the complaint against Brewer and Hodson.

Deputy Prosecutor Krowl prepared the complaint.

At the time the complaints against the asserted practices by the defendants were made to Dist.-Atty. Keyes' office by Mr. Marsh, Mr. Brewer and Mr. Hudson, through their attorney, W. E. Lady, denied that they were guilty of any fraudulent practices and stated that they were conducting what they believed was a legitimate service to the public, for pay.

HELD TO ANSWER ON KNIFING ACCUSATION

Manuel Morales challenged Roy Higuera, a prizefighter, to personal combat on the 7th inst., it was testified in Justice Scott's court yesterday. After a while, the story continued, Morales asked for time out, and returned to the fray with a pocketknife to make up for his lack of pugilistic training. Higuera, it was said, was considerably carved. Morales was held to answer on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kennedy prosecuted.

FOUR DEALS CLOSED FOR STORE CHAIN

Ten Pharmacy Shops to be Established Here by United Drug Company

Deals for leases on four of ten proposed sites for new drug stores to be established in Los Angeles by the United Drug Company, with head offices in New York City, as part of its new chain of Pacific Coast stores, have been closed, it was announced yesterday by W. C. Watt, vice-president, prior to his departure for his home office. The leases are said to involve more than $2,000,000 in rentals over a period of years.

According to Mr. Watt negotiations are now under way for leases upon the six remaining proposed locations through the William May Garland Company, agents for the Louis K. Liggett Company, which is the selling concern for the United Drug Company.

Mr. Watt has been in Los Angeles for almost a week to carry on the negotiations for the leases. All will be new stores, he said. He came here from San Francisco where five or more stores will be opened. The company purchased seven stores in Oakland and will establish as part of its Pacific Coast chain, stores in Portland, Seattle and Spokane.

The company is at present operating four stores in Hollywood and one in Glendale. A store is also to be opened at Pasadena in the near future, Mr. Watt stated.

Mr. Watt declined to announce for the present the locations which have been obained and the locations which are being sought. He announced several days ago, however, that one location had been obtained at Seventh street and Grand avenue. He has been on the Coast for about four months.

The drug company operates 325 stores in the East, North and South under the name of Liggett Drug Stores, whose annual turnover from the operation of its stores is said to be approximately $30,000,000.

PHYSICIAN DISMISSES SUIT AGAINST SUNDAY

DETAILS IN SETTLEMENT OF MEDICAL BILL NOT DISCLOSED

Details of the services Dr. James Johnston declared he performed in "saving the life" of George M. Sunday, real estate operator and son of "Billy" Sunday, evangelist, will not be revealed to the public, it was disclosed yesterday in Judge McLucas's court, where Dr. Johnston's suit for $1000 against Sunday was dismissed on the day it was to have gone to trial. Terms of a reported settlement between the physician and Sunday were not revealed.

In his complaint, Dr. Johnston said he was called to Sunday's home November 18, 1923, and found the real estate dealer in a "critical physical condition and about to die." Dr. Johnston said he administered treatment to Sunday with the result that the latter's life was saved. He declared his services were worth $1000, but that Sunday had refused to pay him this amount.

In his answer to the suit, Sunday admitted Dr. Johnston called on him, but he denied he was seriously ill or that he was about to die. He also denied Dr. Johnston saved his life and asserted the services of the physician were worth not to exceed $25 and asked that any judgment against him be limited to this amount.

The case was dismissed by Dr. Johnston's attorney shortly before it was to have been called for trial.

BLAST LAID TO GAS LEAK

Justice Department Completes Investigation of Explosion at Veterans' Hospital

Gas escaping from a faulty valve inside an air-tight chamber caused the explosion Monday which wrecked Unit No. 6 of the United States Veterans' Hospital near San Fernando, L. C. Wheeler, agent in charge of the Department of Justice, reported yesterday with the announcement that the department had concluded its inquiry.

After three days' constant investigation of the mishap that seriously injured two workers and slightly hurt several others, the Department of Justice chief announced that his conclusions were based upon the statements of five dynamite and gas experts, and upon the finding of a box of matches, one of which had been burned, within a few feet of the leaky valve.

Dynamite experts who passed upon the case since the first have scouted the theory of powder. They declared that more than 600 pounds of the explosives would have been required to create the devastation caused by the blast.

Those who co-operated with the Department of Justice in the finding are Battalion Chief Eugene H. Enos, Bureau of Fire Protection; Capt. G. D. Davidson, Third Coast Artillery, Fort MacArthur; W. R. Ellis and A. McQ. Williams, both dynamite authorities of the Hercules Powder Company; S. C. Singer, manager of the San Fernando Valley Division of the Southern California Gas Company, Glendale and George Bowers, sales engineer of the Southern California Gas Company.

Rich Man Faces Double Suit in Alimony Action

Two suits, one for back alimony, of $16,200 plus interest, and one for separate maintenance, were filed yesterday by Mrs. Georgianna Davida Power against Edward Harrison Power, declared in the actions to be a California resident worth more than $1,000,000.

She asks an order for permanent alimony of $1000 a month, and a counsel fee of $10,000.

PLAN TO AID STUDENTS

The university activities and scholarship committee of the University of California, Southern Branch, is holding an extensive investigation in an effort to ascertain the qualifications necessary for intelligent service in student administration. The purpose of the committee at the present time is to see that every eligible student, genuinely interested in campus activities, be given a chance to prove his worth in some line of work. It is felt that many students would like to participate in activities, but do not know how to get started. The intention of the committee is to bring students and activities together.

Espee Appoints District Agent for Valley Area

The appointment of Harry E. Pierson as district passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at 106 North Brand Boulevard, Glendale, was announced here yesterday by C. L. McFaul, assistant passenger traffic manager of the company.

District Agent Pierson's territory will embrace the San Fernando Valley, the appointment marking the creation of a new traffic solicitation district for the railroad.

Arthur J. Rehwald, who has been traveling passenger agent for the San Fernando Valley district, is appointed to the position of district passenger agent in the Santa Monica Bay district, with headquarters at Ocean Park. Rehwald takes the place of Carl J. Sundberg, recently transferred to Fresno.

The creation of the new district office at Glendale for the San Fernando Valley is the natural result of the great growth of this section," Mr. McFaul said.

ASHES OF DR. SMITH TO BE CAST ON OCEAN

The ashes of Dr. C. Edgar Smith will be cast on the waters of the Pacific Ocean from the pier at Redondo Beach at 2 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Smith died the 5th inst. at his home, 923 West One Hundred and First street, after a residence here of more than thirty years. He was widely known as a physician and business man and had banking and other interests at the seashore. The ceremony will be carried out by Redondo Lodge of Elks, which conducted his funeral services Sunday, and is in accord with many requests made during his lifetime.

SIGNS WITH LASKY

CHARACTER STAR WILL PLAY FEATURE PARTS

By Grace Kingsley

The forty-fourth name was placed on Paramount's list of contract stars and featured players with the announcement by Jesse L. Lasky of the signing of William Powell.

WILLIAM POWELL

It was all because of the noted young character actor's excellent work in an almost unbroken series of Paramount productions, declare Lasky officials, that Messrs. Hector Turnbull, B. P. Schulberg and William LeBaron decided to obtain for the organization the exclusive rights to Mr. Powell's services, and yesterday the long-term contract was signed.

Powell is now playing a featured role in "Sea Horses," an elaborate sea spectacle which Allan Dwan is directing. The actor left Porto Rico less than two weeks ago, following the completion of Gilda Gray's starring picture, "Aloma of the South Seas," and shortly before that appeared in "Dangerous Money," starring Bebe Daniels, and in "Too Many Kisses," a Richard Dix starring production.

"I consider Mr. Powell one of the foremost artists in motion pictures," said Mr. Lasky, in making the announcement, "and he is a most welcome addition to the ranks of our character players, who already number Ernest Torrence, Noah and Wallace Beery, Raymond Hatton, Theodore Roberts, George Bancroft and others. He will be featured in a number of our most ambitious productions, plans for which are now under way."

Strange as it may seem, Powell refuses to play leading-man roles, preferring featured character parts. He started life, after leaving school, as a member of a theatrical company in New York presenting "The Ne'er-Do-Well." He played five parts in that interesting drama until the play went broke. Later he gained considerable fame on the stage, playing in support of Leo Dietrichstein and other stars. His first screen role was with John Barrymore in "Sherlock Holmes."

IMPORTANT CAST IN FRANK BORZAGE FILM

Many familiar faces will be missing from Hollywood picture circles during the coming holidays, for Frank Borzage is taking an all-star cast of players and a large technical staff north to Santa Cruz, where they will be located for several weeks during the filming of "The Dixie Merchant," which will be Borzage's fourth special production for William Fox.

FRANK BORZAGE

Madge Bellamy, Jack Mulhall and J. Farrell McDonald head the cast, which also includes Harvey Clark, Claire McDowell and Edward Martindale. As is customary in Frank Borzage's productions, Bunny Dull is the assistant director. Frank Good is the cameraman.

"The Dixie Merchant" is a screen adaptation by Kenneth Clarke of the novel, "The Chicken Wagon Family," by Barry Benfield.

With the exception of Jack Mulhall, the entire company of some forty people left last night for Santa Cruz, where they will enjoy a novel Christmas in the quaint atmosphere of a small Mississippi town, which has been constructed near by. Jack is not to be left behind, however, as today he completes his leading role opposite Blanche Sweet in "The Far Cry," a First National Picture, and follows on tonight.

Mrs. Borzage and Mrs. Mulhall plan to join their husbands on location for Christmas week, immediately after completing their holiday shopping. All in all, the Borzage company are accepting their exile from home during Christmas with blithe spirits, although they threaten to cut down one of those famous big trees near by and make the director don a white beard to play Santa Claus for the whole crowd.

The signing of Jack Mulhall comes as quite a surprise, as it has been many moons since the genial Irishman has been wooed away from First National, with which organization he has made no less than four consecutive special productions, opposite such stars as Colleen Moore, Corinne Griffith, Dorothy Mackaill and Blanche Sweet.

However, it appears that Frank Borzage has been trying to cast Jack ever since the latter scored a hit in one of the director's pictures, six long years ago, but they have been unable to make connections until today. As this is the first time Madge and Jack have played opposite each other, there was this additional incentive for the Irish screen swain to add the delectable Madge to his constellation.

It is rumored that Mrs. Mulhall may play a small role in the picture.

Tom O'Brien Signs

If you remember Tom O'Brien in "The Big Parade," and of course you do, you will be glad to know that he has signed a nice contract with Universal. He is to appear in three productions under said banner.

TOM O'BRIEN

The first of these will be "Poker Faces," a story adapted to the screen by Mel Brown, who also wrote the continuity. The story was originally by Edgar Franklin. Harry Pollock is directing. O'Brien is given the featured role in this picture, playing with the costars, Laura La Plante and Edward Everett Horton.

Long Terms With Universal

Completely vindicating the judgment of Director Edward Sloman, who selected them for leading roles in "His People," two young players were yesterday placed on long-term contracts by Paul Kohner, casting executive at Universal City.

GEORGE LEWIS

George Lewis, a handsome young juvenile, was picked from practical obscurity by the director and given the leading sympathetic part in the picture. Playing beside such veterans as Rudolph Schildkraut, Rose Rosanova and others, the boy gave a performance acclaimed by critics as an outstanding piece of artistry. His reward will be a handsome salary for a term of years and featured billing in the Universal pictures in which he appears.

BLANCHE MEHAFFEY

Blanche Mehaffey, until recently a coquette blonde with the Hal Roach organization, had never appeared in a dramatic picture until signed by Mr. Sloman. Under the director's supervision she gave a creditable performance, which contributed in no small way to the success of "His People." Today Miss Mehaffey's name was also placed on the roster of Universal's featured players, to remain for several years.

Although the young players' next picture has not as yet been announced, it is probable that they will appear in a big production to be made under Sloman's direction in the near future.

Refuses Low-Brow Role

If Arthur Lubin gains the fame he hopes and expects on stage and screen, it does look as though he is that earnest that he deserves it. So devoted is this young actor to his art that he just utterly refused to appear in a low-brow part in that field of the vineyard of art known as "Kosher Kitty Kelly," a farce now being put on in San Francisco by Thomas Wilkes. The star of "Lilliom" and "Hell Bent fer Heaven" went up and gave the farce the once-over, and came back home.

Mr. Lubin is scheduled to play the leading role in "Desire Under the Elms," the O'Neill play which is to be produced at the Orange Grove shortly after the first of the year. In the meantime he is to play the masculine lead in a playlet, written by John Golden, to be produced at the Writers' Club and called "The Fairy Princess."

Vera Steadman Home

Vera Steadman, the well-known Christie comedy leading lady, came back to the studio yesterday from her two months' vacation trip to Paris. She has the distinction of being the first of the comedy contingent to step out so far from home.

The actress will go to work before the camera at once in a new Christie comedy opposite Jack Duffy, who incidentally is being elevated to feature position in one of the new comedies of the Christie series.

Miss Steadman's new activities will also include tuning up the good ship, "Baby Mine," in which she drove a winning motorboat race on Labor Day just before leaving Los Angeles on her European jaunt, the boat being entered in the harbor events to occur at San Pedro.

Jack Holt Departs

It will be a white Christmas in Maine with plenty of zero weather for Jack Holt. The Paramount star leaves today to join Mrs. Holt and the two youngsters, Tim and Betty, who are spending the holidays with Mrs. Holt's father at Wolf Neck Farms near Portland, Me.

It will be the children's first glimpse of snow, and Jack's first encounter with the white drifts since he made scenes for "The Thundering Herd."

Holt has just completed work in the stellar role of "Sea Horses," an Allan Dwan production for Paramount. The Holt family will return to Holywood after the holidays. Jack is scheduled to start work in January on a new Paramount picture.

Grape Under Other Name

Lovers of "Omar Khayyam" and the sentiments contained in that ancient classic — and their name is legion—will be interested to learn that "The Lovers' Oath," the picture feature showing at Pantages this week, is none other than their old friend dressed up in a new title suit.

Ferdinand Pinney Earle, noted artist, produced the beautiful picture about five years ago, when the names of Ramon Novarro and Kathleen Key were unknown. Now these two young people are famous, and add luster to the already notable beauty of the film.

Hal Cooley Comes Home

Hallam Cooley following a fortnight's vacation and the completion of an O' Henry story in which he was featured, has returned to his work in Fox's "Married Life of Helen and Warren," and "shooting" started yesterday under Albert Ray's direction on the sixth of the series, as yet untitled.

Kathryn Perry is cofeatured as Helen and the supporting cast includes Arthur Housman, Belva McKay, Jimsie Boudwin and the dog Pal so far selected.

These little "featurettes," which are based on the well-known syndicated stories of Mabel Herbert Urner, have been very popular in first-run houses throughout the country.

Christmas Oratorio Heard Here

The Church Choral Union, directed by J. B. Trowbridge gave a good amateur performance of "The Messiah" Tuesday evening before a capacity audience at the Bible Institute.

The Christmas season would feel a real lack without these presentations of Handel's well-loved oratorio by just such enthusiastic groups of singers as gathered under the baton of Director Trowbridge. The chorus was large and well trained. The voices were sweet and very true and the singers gave the responses to the soloists with understanding of the traditional phrasing and nice sense of rhythm. They lacked volume, however.

Ernest P. Burley sang the tenor recitatives bravely. They are a big undertaking for a seasoned singer. Henry J. Schlegel gave the bass arias admirably, except for an uncontrolled tremolo. Tilda Rohr, singing the contralto roles, showed a fine idealism. Lillian Bowles, soprano, had the best voice for so large an auditorium and soared through the high parts with interesting abandon. She was the bright particular star in the performance.

The organ playing of A. A. Butler gave a splendid unity to the whole. Assisted by Miss Wilma Krag at the piano, he took the difficult parts usually given to a string orchestra and by his superior musicianship gave breadth and tonal background to the production.

It is a significant fact that the Bible Institute was so crowded and there was such a large number turned away that a repetition is being considered. Undoubtedly there is a growing interest in oratorio in this city. I. M. J.

Drama of Stage Life Closing Here Saturday

"The Song and Dance Man," George M. Cohan's great Broadway success, is still packing them in at the Morosco. Those who still wish to see this splendid comedy drama will have to hurry as it will have to give way to "Kiki," which opens next Sunday.

George M. Cohan has taken moments from his own life and around these incidents has built a story that is true to the life that he knows so well.

It is the story of a song and dance man who will never be anything more than a small-timer, knows it and yet the lure of the footlights is so strong that he would rather be a poor actor than a successful business man. Gavin Gordon plays the part of the song and dance man and Charlotte Treadway that of the successful actress.

The other members of the cast are, J. Morris Foster, Richard La Salle, Joseph Eggenton, Will H. Gregory, Jane Morgan, Ann MacKay, Glenda Farrell, Thomas Miller and Harry Hoyt.

DOGS IN VOGUE

Dogs are in vogue in First National films, it seems. Colleen Moore uses a little Chow pup in "Irene" and Blanche Sweet carries a brown-haired Pom during many scenes of "The Far Cry." Joan Crawford has a little bull pup in Harry Langdon's picture and reports have it that Anna Q. Nilsson is going to sport a coach dog when she starts work in "The Second Chance" next week. Every dog has his day!

Life's Dramatic Panorama

The students of the Major School of Acting will present for their annual Christmas Jubilee, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at the Major Theater, 1925 Wilshire Boulevard, "Life's Dramatic Panorama," written by Robert W. Major. This series of playlets put over telling messages from life introduced by a weird character who opens the book of knowledge and lays bare in twelve vivid flashes human conduct when intrigued into various situations. The showing of these plays, featuring forty players, will be attended by a party of representatives from the theatrical and moving-picture industries.

SEEK GIRL FOR FILM FEATURE

Tests for Leading Role in "Winning of Barbara Worth" Are Viewed

One hundred and ninety-seven screen tests, taken in the quest conducted by West Coast Theaters, Inc., and Principal Pictures Corporation with the desire to locate a suitable girl to play the featured role in "The Winning of Barbara Worth," were viewed by the judges at the United Studios recently.

The tests were given most careful examination, many of them being run several times, and out of the entire lot twelve girls were selected for final consideration.

Eight of the girls who qualified for the finals were selected from the tests made at the following local West Coast Theaters: Boulevard Theater, two; Sunbeam one; Tivoli two; Highland, two and Strand Theater, one. The balance were screened at the West Coast Theater in San Pedro, Monterey Park and Riverside.

These twelve tests will be viewed by William Sistrom, general manager, Metropolitan Productions and the officials of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and F.B.O. productions for the purpose of awarding the contracts to be given by these companies to three winners in the Barbara Worth Quest.

"White Cargo" is Closing on Wednesday

"White Cargo," Leon Gordon's sensational tale of love in the tropics will have its farewell performance at the Wilkes' Orange Grove next Wednesday night, the 24th inst., it was announced yesterday.

And opening Christmas afternoon, Mr. Lee Freeman's laugh provoking farce-comedy, "The Duchess of Pittsburgh" will formally make its bow to Los Angeles audiences as the outstanding play closing Thomas Wilkes's 1925 play program.

Mr. Wilkes has had designs on "The Duchess of Pittsburgh" for a long time, it became known yesterday, and has kept its opening date a secret with the idea of springing a pleasant surprise on blase Los Angeles.

The Freeman comedy is said to be one of the most humorous plays presented in a decade having to do with a middle-class American woman who suddenly finds millions at her command and set out to add to her position by capturing a titled foreigner to be her daughter's husband, much against the offspring's wishes.

Next week, prior to the closing of "White Cargo," Musical Director V. D. Pometti and his Orange Grove orchestra will play for the first time, Nacio Herb Brown's new song "Tondeleyo" which he dedicated to the role in the tropic love tale.

"We Moderns" is Showing at Boulevard

Pitched against gorgeous, glowing canvases, such as would do credit to any salon, "We Moderns," new First National offering proves one of the most colorful and intriguing yarns ever told on the screen at the West Coast Boulevard Theater where it opened a four-day engagement yesterday.

As a further contribution to this bill the Boulevard is presenting Rube Wolf and his band in their interpretations of symphony and syncopation, West Coast Presentations which consist of the offerings of noted vaudeville talent, and Herbert Kern at the organ.

"STUDENT PRINCE" IS COMING HERE

Arthur Prior

The Messrs. Shubert announce a limited engagement of "The Student Prince" at the Biltmore Theater, beginning Monday the 28th inst.

"The Student Prince" has already played a year in New York, nearly that length of time in Chicago, while other companies are established in Boston, Detroit and St. Louis for extended runs.

The operetta is an adaptation of "Old Heidelberg," Richard Mansfield's starring vehicle for years. It was made by Dorothy Donnelly, also responsible for the book of "Blossom Time."

Arthur Prior appears in the title role.

Seat Sale for "Silence" is Opening Today

The seats for the engagement of Bert Lytell in the speaking play "Silence" go on sale today at the Mason Theater box office.

The opening performance will be on Christmas night and all indications point toward a brilliant first night. Mr. Lytell's long career as a picture star will undoubtedly attract all the Hollywood celebrities. This will be his first appearance on the legitimate stage since he went into the movies.

The play is by Max Marcin and was one of the outstanding hits of last season in New York where it ran for months at the National Theater.

Thomas Wilkes has surrounded his star with a splendid supporting cast, including Helene Millard, John Elliott, Douglas Montgomery, Joseph W. Gerard, Fred Cummings, Leigh Willard, Grace Goodall, Harold Nelson, Louis Morrison and Clarence Geldert. Max Marcin, the author, personally staged "Silence."

TOM WHITE CONVALESCENT

Tom White, former casting director at Paramount's Hollywood studio, paid his first visit to the Lasky plant yesterday after an absence of four months on account of illness. Although fully recovered, White will not resume work for sometime yet, claiming that being in a hospital is no vacation and he needs one.

Valentino is Vamped in New Film, "Cobra"

Rudolph Valentino, instead of doing the sheiking, has been soundly vamped!

The famous star has reversed the usual order of things in his latest picture, "Cobra," which opens at the Metropolitan next Saturday.

Instead of breaking tender hearts with his manly wiles, he falls a victim to the charms of a certain alluring lady who vamps him to a fare-the-well! The lady is Nita Naldi who is said to be in very wonderful screen form and more alluring than ever. Casson Ferguson, Gertrude Olmstead, Eileen Percy and other notables are in the cast.

The title "Cobra" refers to the cobra-like charm which the vamp holds over the hero. The picture is from the Broadway stage hit of the same name.

WARNER OLAND BUSY

Villiany is a trade at which Warner Oland works exceedingly hard. He had just completed enacting that wily old Italian evildoer, Caesar Borgia, in support of John Barrymore, in "Don Juan" and had no more than given up his tights and long leather boots, when Universal decided that they would have some of his "dirty work" in their forthcoming picturization of Arthur Somers Roche's story "The Crimes of the Rocking Chair Club." So Warner has moved his beetling brows, clutching fingers and malignant expression over to Universal City and started in to play an important role in this Universal thriller.

Higher Court Rules Against Anti-Saloon League

Case Dates Back to Raids in Orange County

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Dec. 16.—Reversing the Orange county Superior Court, a decision of the District Court of Appeals announced here today denies a new trial to Mrs. Beverly Ward and three other operatives of the Anti-Saloon League, who were convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, while gathering evidence for the county-wide liquor raids a year ago.

Under the higher court order, the defendants must appear in Superior Court here for sentence. The Appellate Court sustained an appeal by Dist.-Atty. A. P. Nelson, from an order by former Judge Frank C. Drumm, who granted Mrs. Ward and her associates a new trial following their conviction. The appeal is unique in Orange county court annals. So far as county officials are aware, it is the first time that the prosecution ever appealed from a court ruling granting a new trial in a criminal case.

Mrs. Ward, who was the wife of Edward S. Ward, chief of investigators, employed to get evidence prior to the Orange county liquor raids of November, 1924, was accused with three other operatives of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Ivory Shields, 20 years of age, of Santa Ana. It was claimed that they induced the youth to purchase liquor for them and then gave him some of the liquor. He was arrested in the subsequent raids and charged with possession of liquor.

Mrs. Ward, with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wall and Frank Martin, were found guilty of the charge against them. Their attorney, William P. Kendrick, Jr., moved for a new trial which Judge Drumm granted, when it was shown that two members of the jury had heard portions of testimony at the preliminary hearing and at the Shields trial in City Recorder's Court.

The jurors admitted their presence at the previous proceedings, but said they had formed no opinion. One of them even declared that his sympathies were with the defendants. Dep. Dist.-Atty. D. G. Wettlin opposed the granting of a new trial. When it was granted, the District Attorney appealed on the ground that the qualifications of the jurors should have been challenged at the time they were examined for service, and could not be questioned afterward. This contention was upheld by the Appellate Court, which reversed Judge Drumm's order. Argument had been presented before the court both on question of law and on the evidence.

Immediate steps will be taken by the District Attorney's office to bring the defendants into court for sentence, Nelson stated today. Ward, husband of one of the defendants, is reported to have recently shot himself accidentally with a pistol. The wound was not serious, it was said.

FLORIDA MOSQUITOES RUN MAN BACK HOME

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

RESEDA, Dec. 16.—Eugene White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton White, has just returned from an extended trip to Florida. Some time ago White received a lot of literature from Florida telling what a fine place the State was to locate in as a permanent home. The more he studied the pamphlets the more he decided to go and see for himself. On his return here he reports that there is a "whole lot of the bubble" in most of the boom that is going on, and that San Fernando Valley and Southern California is much the better section to reside in. White states that the Florida mosquito is as big as a June bug, and that the presence of this pestiferous insect in droves in most of the Florida towns is sufficient to chase back to their old homes many newcomers who arrive in Florida intending to live there permanently.

CHAMBER EXECUTIVES MEET IN VAN NUYS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Dec. 16.—The executive board of the Associated Chambers of Commerce met last night in the club rooms of the Kelly Market Building and went over business matters now engaging the attention of the chamber association. Leading men from various parts of San Fernando Valley were present at the session. It was announced that great preparations are being made for the annual hi-jinx party of the association that is to be enjoyed at Reseda next Tuesday night, with the Reseda Chamber of Commerce as host. The affair will be held in the Reseda grammar school, and according to reservations being made for the dinner and long program of entertainment, probably two or three hundred members and guests will be on hand.

DIAMONDS AND HAM IN BURGLARS' LOOT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Dec. 16.—Articles ranging from diamond scarf pins and gold watches to ham and eggs made up the loot of burglars who entered the ranch home of Charles P. Humphries, Bonview avenue and State street, during the absence of members of the family, according to the owner's report to the Ontario police this afternoon. Entrance was gained by tearing the screen from a window and the loot, which included jewelry, wearing apparel and provisions, was valued at several hundred dollars.

SEES BRIGHTEST FUTURE

Banker and Hotel Man Tells Impressions Gathered in Extensive Eastern Tour

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 16.—The future of California has never looked brighter, Henry Newby, former banker and representative of the Linnard hotel system, declared emphatically today, on his return from a five months' survey of conditions in Eastern States, covering 75 per cent of the population of the United States.

This optimistic view is the outstanding impression gained by the hotel man on his comprehensive tour. Trave lto Southern California will be far in excess of that of last year, and will come from practically every State in the country, he asserted, adding the further prediction that next year will witness the greatest influx of population that California has ever enjoyed.

Mr. Newby's trip embraced practically every city east of the Rocky Mountains and north of the Mason-Dixon line. Everywhere, he reports, the most cordial and admiring feeling toward California greeted him, and were reflected in the great number of hotel reservations that he made in Southern California for prospective visitors.

Like many other Californians of foresight and judgment, Mr. Newby has reached the conclusion that the Florida real estate boom cannot possibly injure California, and that it will, on the contrary, help this region, because of the fact that California has not become elated over the boom or attempted to disparage Florida's attractions. This attitude, he says, has increased the attractiveness of California a hundredfold in the East, and has, in addition, served to clear the atmosphere as to the type of winter guests and future citizens desired here.

Plan to Extend Public Service for San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 16.—The San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company has ordered the immediate expenditure of $1,500,000 for new construction work in San Diego, according to an announcement by local managers of the corporation. Part of the work already has been started here, and with the beginning of the new year greater activity is planned in increasing the power capacity of the San Diego plant.

The new construction projects will include a 20,000-horsepower turbine and additional boiler of 1100 horsepower and tunnels extending 1200 feet into San Diego Bay to furnish water for the big condenser plant. Work on the tunnels is under way and machinery for the other new parts are expected to arrive here shortly after January 1.

Steady increase in the population of the San Diego territory served by the company calls for more lights and power and to keep pace with the demands the company finds it is necessary to increase its electric generating capacity, according to Lawrence Klauber, chief engineer in charge of the local construction.

VALUABLE RIVER

Speaker Tells Wonder Story of Irrigation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 16.—Addressing the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon today A. P. Kaupke, State water master of Kings River, stated that Kings River which irrigates Fresno and Kings counties, is in one respect the most important in the United States in that approximately one million acres of land which it irrigates, an area larger than the State of Delaware and nearly as large as Belgium, is more productive than the land irrigated by any other river in the whole country.

There are forty-one canal companies drawing water out of the river along a water course ninety miles in length and in the last seven years there never has been any dispute over the division of water from the canals, a record which the speaker said he would commend to all canal companies in the State.

Underground waters of the San Joaquin Valley have been under investigation by the State for several years and tests of 5000 wells in all parts of the valley have been recorded.

END IS SUDDEN

Prominent Oil Man Is Victim of Apoplexy

SANTA PAULA, Dec. 16.—On the morning of his eighty-third birthday, after eating his regular breakfast and appearing in good spirits, C. A. Burrows, pioneer oil man and resident of this city, suffered a stroke of apoplexy and was dead before a physician could arrive.

He was found in his home by his grandson, Clark Burrows, and his housekeeper. Mr. Burrows was one of the oldest oil men in the State and was the first man to lay a pipe-line to the Pacific Ocean. This was from Santa Paula to Ventura. He was connected with the late Lyman Stewart, former Los Angeles philanthropist, for many years in the oil business. Funeral arrangements will be made at a later date.

GIVEN DAMAGES FOR ORANGE CROP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Dec. 16.—Mrs. Mary Harlan, of Anaheim, who says that C. J. Haueter of that city, wrongly kept possession of her ranch, east of Anaheim, after an agreement for its exchange to Haueter had been canceled, was awarded judgment for $1038 against Haueter by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday. The judgment represents the value of an orange crop Haueter was said to have taken from the Harlan grove. Haueter denied Mrs. Harlan's contention that he was trespassing on the property and opposed a suit for $25,150, which she filed, against him. He brought a cross suit to compel her to perform an asserted agreement to make the exchange of property, her orange grove for his apartment house in Anaheim.

CATTLE INDUSTRY THRIVES IN KERN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 16.—More than one-tenth of California's cattle industry is centered in Kern county, with 100,000 to 125,000 head of stock distributed about the rim of the valley in the foothill country of the county, according to P. F. Klipstein, president of the Kern County Cattlemen's Association, who returned last week from an extended visit in Arizona.

Feed conditions on the east side of the county are excellent, with a greater stock of feed for the winter months than ever before, Mr. Klipstein said. On the west side and in the Cuyama Valley cattle feed has been poor throughout the year, but grass has started to grow on the hillsides and if the rains continue throughout this month, there will be plenty of grass to carry the cattle through the winter season.

SAMPLE IS JUST A TASTE

Pasadena Judge Rules Full Bottle Is a Little Too Much

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

PASADENA, Dec. 16.—When J. Lucka appeared in Police Court this morning on an intoxication charge, he told a convincing story—for a while, but weakened badly at the finish, and ended by paying a fine of $100.

"Judge, would you believe it," he started bravely, "a man came up to me and insisted that I sample some wine. Judge, I'm an obliging man—I sampled it. When he insisted again, I obliged him by taking another sample, but then I began to get sick. The next thing I knew, he was trying to get my pocketbook, and when I fought him off, they arrested me."

Judge Dunham asked him if he ordinarily drank much. Apparently misunderstanding the court, Lucka replied:

"Yes, Judge, I drank the whole bottle."

"One hundred dollars," His Honor announced promptly. "A sample is one thing, and a whole bottle is another."

FEDERAL AGENT AS WITNESS

Prohibition Officer Starts Long Story in Graft Trial in Fresno Court

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Dec. 16.—Refuting defense claims that the Europa Bar, focal point of assorted rum conspiracy charges against twelve former Fresno police, was raided by the police, Thomas J. Nicely, Federal prohibition agent on the stand in the police trial in the Federal District Court here today said that he personally conducted four raids in which the police were impressed into service to assist.

Nicely said the raids were conducted by him on search warrants based upon affidavits made by a Hindu informer who had purchased liquor in the place.

In detailing incidents in connection with his investigation of the alleged payment of protection money to police by proprietors of the Europa Bar, Nicely corroborated to an extent some portions of the testimony of Emilio Giometti, one of the three bootleggers with whom the police are supposed to have conspired to violate the Volstead Act.

He said that during his conversations with Eugene A. Fornes, former acting Chief of Police, and R. G. Retallick, Fresno attorney, both of these men had told him that they wanted to get evidence against five police so that these officers might be removed from the department and that in the event his investigation revealed that others were involved that the entire probe be dropped. Nicely testified that he believed the attorney meant Melo Jovovich, former investigator for Mayor Sunderland, and Giometti in his use of the word "they" while he thought Fornes meant Mayor Sunderland by his use of the same word.

He declined to enter into any agreement with either on that basis, he testified.

While Nicely was on the stand during most of the day's session of the trial, the prosecution barely skimmed the surface of the testimony he is expected to give and it is believed that he will be on the stand for approximately a week in giving extensive details of the investigation which led to the arrest of the twelve officers.

FOOTBALL TICKETS GO LIKE HOT CAKES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 16.—With reservations coming in at the rate of 1000 a day, Edward Leader, Pacific Coast Conference representative in charge of the sale of tickets for the New Year's Day East-West football game in the Rose Bowl here, declared tonight that daily sales are so far more than twice those of last year. Almost 10,000 reservations for the game had been made by tonight. Tickets will be mailed this week to permanent seat holders, but all others must make application at the office in the Pacific-Southwest Bank Building here.

HIGH PRICE FOR MILK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 16.—About $255,000 in checks from Kings county creameries were dispensed to local dairymen through the mails yesterday, payment for cream delivered to the large creameries of this county during the month of November. The average high price for the month of sixty-four cents per pound for butterfat from cream broke a record of several years and evidenced a continued good demand for California butter with continued upward trend to the market.

BOY IS CHAMPION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 16.—Percy Abbott, 12-year-old resident of Riverview, is claimant of the Kern county trappers' championship, with seventy-five fur-bearing mammals caught during one month. The animals were caught during the thirty-day period from November 10 to the 10th inst.

Included in the youthful trapper's catch were fifteen coyotes, twenty swift foxes, twenty-three skunks, two 'possums, five lynx cats, two raccoons, one badger, five civet cats and two gray foxes.

PAY MILLION FOR RAISINS

Association Gives Cash and Stock for 130,000 Tons of Grapes Produced This Season

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Dec. 16.—Distribution of $1,060,000 in stock and cash as a progress payment on raisins was announced by the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers today at a meeting of the growers' advisory council.

The cash payment will amount to $760,000 on 1924 pools and will be on a basis of one-quarter cent per pound of Thompson seedless raisins and half a cent per pound of Muscat raisins delivered to the association by grower members. Checks for this payment of $300,000 will be made in stock of the Delaware corporation, the Sun-Maid manufacturing organization, on a basis of an eighth of a cent per pound on both Thompson and Muscat raisins. The cash payment will bring the average total paid on 1924 crop to 3 cents per pound, including the original advance payment of 2 cents per pound. The stock payment to growers will be made on a date to be announced later.

Sun-Maid will handle in excess of 130,000 tons of 1924 raisins, it was announced. With virtually all of this year's crop delivered, the association has already received more raisins than were handled from the 1924 crop which totaled 130,000 tons delivered to the association. It was stated in the announcement to the growers.

The 1925 crop is of considerably higher quality on the whole than was that of 1924 and the raisins show a much greater percentage of extra standard quality, while the proportion of sub-standard and inferior fruit is practically negligible, it was stated.

In the same connection the California Fruit Exchange announced distribution of approximately $140,000 to grape growers of the Fresno district. The money is the remaining 2 per cent of the gross sales from the crop of 1920 which has been held by the association for five years as a revolving fund with which to conduct business.

The total refund to grower members of the exchange throughout the State amounts to $280,000, it was stated.

Pacoima Plans Huge Christmas Tree Festivity

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

PACOIMA, Dec. 16.—A committee representing three Pacoima civic organizations, the Chamber of Commerce, the Woman's Club and the Community Church, are in the midst of plans for a huge Christmas tree celebration and general community entertainment to be held on the church lawn on the night of the 21st inst. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boyll, who reside on San Fernando Road, also are sponsoring the affair.

The tree has been obtained by the Chamber of Commerce, and the decorations of it will be handled by members of the Woman's Club. Each of the organizations will furnish a part of the entertainment stunts, which will be under the direction of Mrs. M. W. Brown, who announces there will be a long program of various features.

By the union of the three civic bodies it is stated today that the celebration promises to be one of the best ever given here. Not only will residents of Pacoima be expected to come, but invitations by word of mouth have been sent to almost everybody in this section. The idea of the celebration is to express the general Christmas spirit and good feeling, and to make the whole occasion one big community enjoyment.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL

Pomona College Given Tract in Big Bear Region

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CLAREMONT, Dec. 16.—The gift of 120 acres of virgin pine forest located at Bluff Lake, four miles southwest of Big Bear Lake, to be used for the purpose of a mountain summer session for Pomona College, was announced today by Dean Ernest J. Jaqua, acting president.

The Bluff Lake tract is valued at $100,000 and is the gift of J. S. Edwards of Redlands, a trustee of Pomona College and a pioneer orange grower of East Highlands and three other associates on the board of trustees. The proposed gift was made known to the Pomona College trustees last week at their regular meeting. Immediate legal steps were taken and the deed recorded last week.

Simultaneous with the gift announcement was the statement of plans for the first summer session at Pomona's new mountain division. Three special courses will be offered there next summer, field surveying under Prof. Edward Taylor; botany under Dr. Philip A. Munz; and geology under Dr. Alfred O. Woodford. A summer colony social director and manager will be secured. The mountain session will be held from June 21 to July 30. Nature study walks will be instituted next summer and will be opened to visitors and residents of Big Bear Valley as well as for the students.

NEGRO SUES FOR SHOT IN THE HEEL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA (Cal.) Dec. 16.—Dep. Dist.-Atty. Walter Fourt, who is said to have shot Orange R. Hinkle, negro, 405 Rose avenue, in the heel, following the latter's escape from a dice game on East Haley street Saturday night, had no legal right to carry the weapon at the time he is alleged to have inflicted the wound, according to police. Mr. Fourt on November 1 secured a permit from the police to carry a concealed weapon for the one purpose of "target practice." The records reveal and lawyers state under this privilege one can only carry the weapon to and from target practice.

Fourt will be made defendant in a civil suit to recover damages, it was announced last night by Atty. Emile V. Vanbever, who has been retained as attorney for Hinkle. Although Vanbever would name no special sum that will be asked, he intimated that $5000 punitive damages would be sought, in addition to the usual doctor bills, loss of wages for probably a month, and attorney's fees.

ONTARIO PROVIDES CHRISTMAS CANDY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Dec. 16.—More than 3000 sacks of candy are to be distributed to Ontario children at the annual community Christmas tree celebration to be staged in City Hall Park next Tuesday evening. E. J. Ritter, chairman of the committee in charge, today announced plans complete for the event, which is sponsored by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce. The program to precede the gift distribution by Santa Claus will include the singing of Christmas carols by the girls' glee club of Chaffey High School, under the direction of S. Earle Blakeslee, who will also lead in community singing. The handsome cedar tree which is used each year for the event is to be decorated and lighted Monday by the Ontario volunteer fire department and the candy sacks are to be filled by the Hallhill Girls Club.

ON TRAFFIC COMMITTEE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 16.—City Attorney Clyde Woodworth, Walter E. Stern and W. G. Brown have been named to represent the municipality of Inglewood on the city and county rapid transit committee. These appointees have the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce, the Inglewood Realty Board and retail trade committee of the Chamber.

TWO DIE IN CROSSING ACCIDENT

Locomotive Hits Automobile as Machine Was Crossing Track Near Oxnard

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Dec. 16.—Martin Bonilla, 28 years of age, foreman on the A. L. Hebson ranch between Ventura and Oxnard, was instantly killed and his mother-in-law, a woman about 70 years of age, was crushed to death when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Southern Pacific switch engine at Ocean View Road, leading to Pierpont Bay, this side of Ventura. The accident occurred shortly before noon. Both persons were dead when the engine crew reached them.

The automobile was pushed along the track for about 400 feet by the lone locomotive, which was backing up. The woman was hurled out of the car and the automobile and engine passed over her body, mangling it. A pipe on the tender of the locomotive struck Bonilla in the head, killing him outright. His crumpled body was found in the front seat when the engine came to a stop.

A hedge on the east side of Ocean View Road is believed to have obstructed the view of Bonilla. Persons living near by said they heard the engine whistle as it approached the crossing. The locomotive was traveling at a speed of about twenty-five miles an hour, it was said, but it did not stop until twelve or thirteen rail-lengths had been passed. Bonilla, who was well known in this section, leaves a wife and six children.

HOTEL MAN DIES

Former Citizen of Bakersfield Answers Call

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 16.—Fred W. Tegeler, 59 years of age, prominent hotel man and formerly of this city, where, for several years, he operated the Southern and Tegeler hotels, died in San Jose today after an illness of several months. Mr. Tegeler came to Bakersfield from Fresno about twenty years ago, when he took over the Southern Hotel and managed it for a number of years. Later he purchased the Oil Exchange Building at 1630 Nineteenth street, remodeled it and converted it into the present Tegeler Hotel.

About six years ago, Mr. Tegeler moved to San Jose, where he leased the Vendome Hotel and successfully operated it for a number of years. The hotel man also was proprietor of Tahoe Inn at Lake Tahoe for a number of years, and operated a hotel in Fresno.

Mr. Tegeler was born in Germany in 1866 and came to the United States when he was 12 years of age. During the World War he was Federal food administrator for Kern county. He will be buried at Fresno beside the grave of his wife.

ANAHEIM SCHOOL BUYS PLAYGORUND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Dec. 16.—A new and permanent site for the Mexican grammar school, which has stood for some years upon land leased from the city of Fullerton, has been purchased by the Anaheim grammar school board, Melbourne A. Gauer, superintendent of schools, announced this morning.

The new location for the school comprises two and a half acres of land in a block 300 feet square, located on La Palma street. It was purchased from Mrs. Julius Schaefer for a consideration of $8500 it was learned.

The school long has been handicapped by lack of adequate playground facilities, Gauer said. The move, he said, has been made to solve that problem. It is not planned to move the building or make any other changes before the coming vacation period, Gauer declared.

CITY TO CONDEMN BEACH PROPERTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 16.—Condemnation proceedings against the beach front lands proposed for use as the site for the $100,000 David Gray beach pavilion have been ordered by the City Council following word from the Frederick Forrest Peabody syndicate that negotiations for purchase have failed.

Acting City Attorney John William Heaney was instructed to confer at once with the syndicate to determine the times and descriptions of the parcels which must be acquired by the city before the bathhouse can be built, a move preparatory to filing the condemnation suits.

COLLEGE HOSPITAL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CLAREMONT, Dec. 16.—Made possible by a recent gift of several thousand dollars by Miss Ellen B. Scripps of La Jolla, the new Pomona College infirmary for the care of its students will open January 4, 1926, according to an announcement made by Dr. James H. Fairchild, Pomona College physician and director of the student-health department.

The infirmary will be located in the large home formerly owned by C. N. Hand at 1122 College avenue. The building was purchased by Miss Scripps, who also provided the funds for the purchase of equipment which includes ten hospital beds.

BOLD HIGHWAYMEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 16.—Two armed, but unmasked highwaymen held up and robbed D. J. Shale, employee of U. S. experimental farms at Shafter, on the State Highway, seven miles northwest of Bakersfield late last night, according to police reports.

One of the bandits is said to have covered Shale with a pistol while his companion took from him a $50 gold watch, his overcoat, a fountain pen and $4 in money.

PUBLIC INTERESTED IN TEACHER'S WORK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 16.—The three-day program of the Alhambra Teachers' Institute closed this afternoon with an address by Frank D. Doynten, Superintendent of Schools of Ithaca, N. Y. The morning address was given by Dr. George W. Frazier, president of the Colarado State Teachers' College. This year's institute has been the most successful and largest attended ever held in the district, according to Superintendent of Schools Forrest V. Routt. The general public has been well represented at the various meetings. Among the speakers have been Mr. John Adams of Glasgow and Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California.

Last night the Teachers' Club had a dinner-dance at the Alhambra Athletic Club, the event being in the nature of a Christmas party.

...homicide question ...Hester Norman Selby, ...guilty as Kid McCoy, was ...conviction of manslaughter on of various kinds of assault, or whether he is entitled to a new trial on the manslaughter charge was argued yesterday before the Supreme Court here by H. L. Geisler, for McCoy, and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Becker and Dep. Atty.-Gen. Widney for the State. McCoy is serving the assault sentences now. The Court of Appeal has reversed the manslaughter conviction and the appeal was taken by the State from this decision.

Geisler contended in his argument that evidence was admitted regarding McCoy's possible motives in slaying Mrs. Teresa W. Mors, before the corpus delicti was established, and that the court did not take into proper consideration evidence that showed she might have committed suicide.

Becker made the more extensive argument for the other side, declaring the corpus delicti had been established by the physical facts. He showed a diagram of the room in which Mrs. Mors died, with the body indicated in one corner, the revolver in another with no blood-stains, and a bloody knife in a third place. This diagram and many photographs of the room and surroundings, together with the revolver, were submitted to the court. Included in the exhibits was the blood-stained picture of Kid McCoy, discovered clasped to Mrs. Mors's breast.

Four cases in which five men are sentenced to hang were continued by the court to its next Los Angeles term. The defendants are Joseph Watts, convicted in San Bernardino of slaying Wilfred Hey, his traveling companion, in the Mojave Desert; Sidney Adams, a negro, convicted of slaying his wife, Annie Adams; Earl J. Clark, convicted slayer of Charles Silva, Filipino sailor, in the Harbor City "rose girl" murder, and Willie Adams and Alphonse Rincon, convicted of killing T. K. Ullman for $6 at Elizabeth Lake.

REALTY SUIT IS FACED BY MISS HAVER

Omaha Man Asks $80,000; Mother of Actress Asserts Mistake Has Been Made

Phyllis Haver, motion-picture actress, was made defendant in a suit for $80,000 damages filed yesterday at Omaha, Neb., for Nels H. Nelson, Omaha fruit broker. The action charges Miss Haver with misrepresenting the income of property she is asserted to have sold Nelson through an agent. The suit lists the property as an apartment-house in Glendale and charges that only $600 a month has been forthcoming in income from it since it was acquired by Nelson, when, it is charged, the income was represented at $1130 monthly.

PHYLLIS HAVER

Mrs. Mollie Malone, mother of the actress, was the first to receive word of the action here from The Times. She said that she has been a partner with her daughter, Miss Haver, in their real estate transactions. According to Mrs. Malone, Nelson has filed suit against the wrong person. She said she cannot fathom how Miss Haver possibly could be made defendant in the suit.

"We never even had possession of the property," she said, "our only connection with it being while it passed through escrow.

"The property referred to is a building on a side street just off Broadway in Glendale which has space for about five stores and several apartments.

"A Hollywood real estate broker, knowing that we wished to dispose of our Hollywood court, asked us if we'd like to obtain a Glendale apartment for income purposes and we said that we were not interested. Then he asked us if we would be interested in lots for building purposes and we said we would, so he told us he could arrange to get it for us by a trade in which the Glendale property would figure as a trading basis.

"That's about all I know about it, except that we did get the lots we desired, so the deal apparently went through on the three-way basis. I don't possibly see how either myself or my daughter could be liable in such a case."

TAKES AGENCY FOR FRENCH AIR MOTORS

The Kinner Airplane and Motor Corporation of Glendale announced yesterday acquisition of the California agency for the Anzani aeroplane motors of France after placing one of the largest single orders for aero motors in the United States with Wallace Kellet of Philadelphia, the American representative of the French concern. The imported motors, a six-cylinder radial type, will displace the ones now in use in the Kinner planes, it was announced yesterday by officials of the Glendale concern. The French engines are well known in flying circles both in this country and in Europe.

FORMER ARMY MAN WAIVES EXTRADITION

An extradition hearing was waived yesterday by M. J. Morrell, formerly finance officer at an Alabama army camp charged with the forgery of two government checks. Morrell, who is said to have deserted in 1919, surrendered to the United States Marshal several days ago. He is said to have considerable personal funds in the control of the government.

NEILAN BUYS FULL RIGHTS OF POWERS

Film Producer Takes Over Partner's Share in Studio for Quarter of Million

Marshall Neilan, motion-picture producer, yesterday purchased for $250,000 the interest of Pat Powers in the Neilan studio on Glendale Boulevard, heretofore jointly owned by the pair.

The completion of the deal was announced by Neilan, who declared that the production agreement entered by him and Powers at the time the studio corporation was formed will continue. Powers merely relinquishing his studio holdings.

Neilan stated he will immediately take full possession of the studio and will produce all his future pictures there.

In the new corporation, Neilan will retain his position of president, it was announced, while Leeds Baxter also will remain as vice-president and general manager. Pat Powers, treasurer; Emil Offeman, secretary and Glen Behymer, assistant secretary, will be replaced by other officers. Blanche Sweet was appointed to the board of directors.

Neilan has just finished his second production at the Glendale studio, "Wild Oats Lane." The first was "Skyrocket" from a novel by Adele Rogers St. John.

Vast Crowds Hail Santa Claus and Party in Near-by Cities

JUST how many thousands of people in Alhambra, Arcadia, Monrovia, Pasadena and South Pasadena turned out yesterday to greet Santa Claus, his reindeer and his official driver, Ook Wat, will never be known. A conservative estimate places the total well above 50,000. Certain it is that crowds such as have not been gathered in months deserted homes and offices to greet the genial visitor from the North and his party. Not since the Tournament of Roses last New Year's Day, has Pasadena seen such a crowd as hailed the Christmas cortege. Upper of the two photos reproduced below shows the procession on Myrtle avenue, Monrovia. Lower shows part of the crowd on Marengo avenue, Pasadena, as Kriss Kringle prepared to leave after loading his team and sleigh onto the big truck. (Photos by William E.
